Stresemann Tells Delegates From Ruhr of Plan to Capitulate

LITTLE OPPOSITION AGANST PLAN SEEN

Unconditional Surrender Now But Question of Days Is View

(By United Press Leased Wire)

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—Chancellor Stresemann today informed the Ruhr and Rhineland defense organizations of the government's decision to capitulate to France.

Resistance must be given up without condition, the chancellor told the first delegates who visited him.

The fate of German citizens expelled from the occupied areas, or imprisoned for obeying the government's orders for resistance, cannot be taken into consideration, Stresemann said.

However, the chancellor added, there is reason to believe that most of the Germans will be restored to their homes when official and public announcement of the decision to quit resistance is made.

The conferences between Stresemann and the Ruhr-Rhine delegates adjourned shortly after mid-afternoon.

It was reported a majority of the delegates agreed to the government's decision for unconditional abandonment of resistance, although some argued that it should be continued.

The United Press was assured, however, that adoption of the cabinet's decisions by the full committee meeting later this afternoon is practically certain.

The state premiers will be informed of the government's plan tomorrow when they meet here with Stresemann and then the reichstag will hear it officially on Wednesday.

The delegates included all the principal members of the reichstag from the Rhineland and the Ruhr, who arrived at Chancellor Streseman's office promptly at noon.

The grim men from the Ruhr, who last January chorused they would "never yield to the enemy," looked unusually solemn as they filed into the big reception hall to hear the Chancellor admit that Germany has lost her "war after the war."

Stresemann's main reception to 120 delegates from the Ruhr was to occur later in the afternoon. In the second reception will be included delegates of the industrialists and the unionists.

SEPARATIST MOVEMENT SPREADS ALONG RHINE

MAYENCE, Sept. 24.—While rumors of the impending public announcement of Germany's capitulation to France circulated throughout the Rhineland today, the Rhenish separatist movement apepared to be gaining ground.

More than five thousand Upper Rhine separatists attended a great mass meeting here yesterday and heard speeches by three leaders, Dr. Dorten and Herren Mathes and Frauenstein.

The watchword of all the speeches fi was "cut loose from Prussia."

"Germany intends to wage war anew as soon as the Rhineland and the Ruhr are returned to her," Herr Mathes said.

The meeting, after hearing other speakers denounce Prussia, adopted a resolution calling "attention of the world" to the misery caused in the Rhineland by the Berlin authorities and appealing to France and Belgium to support the separatist movement.

Rules Jumping Life Aim of Jumping Beans

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—It's not cruel to make Mexican jumping beans jump.

In fact, jumping is their business — otherwise they would be something else.

That, in effect, is the ruling of Franklin B. Moore, acting secretary of the San Francisco Humane society, who passed on a complaint from Santa Barbara against merchants putting jumping beans in the hot sun of the show windows to make them jump.

He held there was nothing to be done about it.

YOUTH KILLS TWO IN FEUD OF FARMERS

Clash Over Hog Results in Three Deaths; Four Men Now on Trial as Slayers.

HOLDEN, Mo., Sept. 24.—A feud between farmers over an unruly pig which strayed from its pen, claimed its third life today when Lowell McCormick, 17, shot and killed Albert E. Shahan, wealthy farmer. Guy Knight was wounded by the feudist.

The feud started when a hog owned by Benjamine Knight sr., ran on the McCormick property. George McCormick, Lowells father, shot and killed the hog. Knight, accompanied by two sons and two friends, drove to the McCormick home and during a fight the elder McCormick was struck on the head and killed. Lowell then shot and killed the elder Knight. Trial of Guy and Harry Knight and the two friends, Chester Kerr and Frank Carey, on charges of murder was scheduled to start this week.

SEIZE GIRL AS DESERT DEATH TRAP LURE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24. — Charged with having lured wealthy mining man named Knight into the desert near Phoenix in 1921, where he was set upon, robbed and killed, Esther Lee Fulton, 25, was arrested at Whittier today by local authorities, who are holding her on a murder warrant issued in Phoenix.

The girl was trapped through a marriage license issued July 23 to herself and H. R. Fulton, oil worker, police said.

The warrant charges that Knight, whose full name is not given, became interested in the girl, then Miss Tunstall. It is alleged that she conspired with her two brothers to rob him.

Acting as a decoy, she went to a lonely spot in the desert, where she had arranged a rendezvous with Knight, it is charged. There her brothers set upon him with hammers and murdered him, according to the allegation, escaping with $3,500.

The body was mutilated almost beyond recognition in an attempt to destroy marks of identification, and then buried. Later the murderers exhumed the body, attempted to burn it, and finally removed the skeleton to a hiding place in Phoenix, according to the complaint.

GOVERNOR PUTS BAN ON SOLONS

COOLIDGE IN ADDRESS TO RED CROSS

Presdient Opposes Idealism That Seeks to Spurn Burdens

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—In his first public speech since becoming president, Mr. Coolidge today revealed his position upon two important topics—international affairs and farmer relief.

Speaking at the opening session of the American Red Cross, the president said:

That America will remain "unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought."

That the need of civilization is for an idealism that "does not seek to reform merely by an act of legislation, thinking that it can unload its burden on the government and be relieved from further effort."

Mr. Coolidge declared that the world is coming more and more to rely on moral force and less on physical.

But ideals of human brotherhood and service "are idle dreams unless they can be translated to practical action," he said. "It is necessary on the one hand to avoid the illusions of the visionaries, and on the other hand, the indifference of the selfish.

His reference to those who would remedy conditions by an act of legislation and thus escape further personal responsibility was taken as a reference to those who are urging him to turn over to congress the farmers' problems for settlement.

"Each individual and each nation," he declared, "must work out their own destiny."

Dying Woman Used Plane to See Home

BRUSSELS, Sept. 24.—A dying Belgian woman who wished to spend her last hours among her own people went by air from London to Brussels, and her conveyance was one of the Napier D. H. liners of the $nstone air line. These planes have room for 11 people ordinary. The plane was fitted with a bed instead of the usual seats. The ambulance drove alongside the airplane, and the patient was lifted on a stretcher from the ambulance to the bed.

The 450-horse-power engine had been specially silenced and the patient was carried the 200 miles between London and Brussels in one hour forty minutes in absolute comfort.

SILENT FOR 20 YEARS

SPOKANE, Sept. 24.—Henry Hamerly has not spoken a word to his wife, Nettie Hamerly, in 20 years, although she has given him several opportunities, the wife alleged in her suit for divorce. They conversed through the children, until they grew up and left home, and since then the house has been silent, the wife complained.

JAIL 900 IN RAIDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—More than 900 persons packed the jails of Chicago today as a result of extensive dry raids staged over the week end.

Bulgarian Troops Suffer Heavy Losses In Revolt

ATHENS, Sept. 24.—Bulgarian government forces have lost 700 dead and more than 4000 wounded in attacks against the Agrarian insurrectionists, dispatches from Salonika said today.

Messages from Philoppoli said the government forces were losing ground over the whole of southern and northeastern Bulgaria.

The king has signed a decree in Sofia dissolving the chamber of deputies and calling new elections within two months.

The Agrarians and Communists, after bitter fighting have captured Plevna and raised the red flag, an unconfirmed despatch from Sofia said.

Other despatches from Salonika reported a Serbian concentration on the Bulgar frontier and said the troop movement was being hastened for the purpose of invading Bulgaria and occupying her collieries at the first opportunity.

AMERICAN PILOTS PERISH IN STORM IN BALLOON RACE

BRUSSELS, Sept. 24.—American Lieutenants Olmstead and Choptaw, pilot and second pilot of the United States army balloon S.-6, which started with thirteen others in the Gordon-Bennett cup race under extraordinarily bad weather conditions Sunday, were killed when their craft fell at Nilesteroode, Holland, during the night. The S.-6 was struck by lightning and fell in flames.

Two Swiss balloonists were burned to death when their balloon, the Geneva, caught fire over Moll and a Spanish pilot, Peneranda, was killed when lightning struck his balloon, the Polar, at Heyst.

A torrential storm swept over the starting field as the entrants took the air. Conditions under which they competed provided for no postponement.

Captain H. E. Honeywell, American civilian entrant, was unable to start, a gust of wind hitting his balloon, the St. Louis, causing it to burst. The United States navy balloon A-6699, with Lieutenant Lawrence in command, was forced down at Rutten, near the Zuider Zee.

All the American entries thus were eliminated early in the classic.

Lieutenants Olmstead and Choptaw had a narrow escape at the beginning of the race. As the balloon was taking off, the high wind drove it into the Belgian Ville de Bruselles, ripping the netting from the latter's gas bag and damaging it so that it was necessary to empty it of gas.

Beside the two American service craft, both of which now are down, two Belgian, three Swiss, two British, two French and two Spanish started.

The French balloon piloted by Blanchet, landed at Lille, near Antwerp owing to the severe storm.

The British balloon Banshee landed in Holland.

VICTIMS OF DISASTER EXPERIENCED FLYERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The two American army balloonists killed in the destruction of the army balloon S—6 in Holland were experienced flyers, army air service officials said today.

Lieutenant Robert S. Olmstead, a native of Sheldon, Vermont, was 37 years of age and was attached to the army air service depot at Middletown, Pa.

Lieutenant John W. Choptaw, 34, was a native of Worthington, Ind., and was stationed at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. He leaves a widow and two children.

SILENCE MARKS ARRIVAL OF REFUGEES

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Bringing 52 refugees from the Japanese earthquake and fire, the liner President Pierce arrived here today from the Orient.

The ship came into port with flags at half mast and bands silent, and her landing was lacking in the usual gaiety of a liner's arrival.

S. H. Wardell of the consular staff at Tokio, was among the notables aboard.

Mrs. George Niven, daughter of John Leuder, vice-president of the Shell Oil company, was the first person ashore. Her husband had been killed in the disaster.

Mrs. Kin Olsen, husband, and eight-months-old baby, Ralph, followed soon after. The child, its parents told, had slept through much of the earthquake and fire beneath an overturned bureau drawer, where the father, engaged in a frantic search of the remains of their home had found it.

Those arriving today included: Mary McElree, F. Koehler, Mrs. E. Manley and son, Mrs. George Niven, Miss H. E. Stevens, George B. Warren and wife, all of San Francisco.

Miss K. Cassin, Jean Abbott and family of San Jose.

D. E. Smith, Mrs. B. B. Clark, C. B. Woodward, wife and daughter of Los Angeles.

C. R. Lane and wife of Berkeley.

Youth Admits Thefts Amounting to $10,000

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 24.—Paul Burgett, 21, cadet high school student, who admitted he robbed the Quindaro bank here last week, was identified by the treasurer of a local theater today as the bandit who held him up three weeks ago, escaping with $3,500.

Burgett had already admitted a series of bank and theater holdups which netted him more than $10,000.

Electrical Wizard Pays Visit to S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—San Francisco was having great fun today entertaining Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical wizard.

The city found him a "regular" sort of a fellow who did not object to having his picture taken and greeted everyone pleasantly instead of hurling a few lightning bolts at them, as some seemed to expect.

Steinmetz devoted today to "enjoying himself" as he put it.

WILL BLOCK MEETING IN CAPITOL

Assemblage of "More Than Two Persons" In Building to Cause Arrest

(By United Press Leased Wire)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 24.—Warning against assemblage of "more than two persons" at the Oklahoma capitol where the state legislature is scheduled to meet Wednesday to start impeachment proceedings against Governor J. C. Walton, were issued by the executice today.

"It will not be safe for more than two persons to assemble in a group at the capitol—a wrong impression might result in a serious situation," the governor said.

Walton announced he had turned the entire responsibility for preventing the legislature from meeting over to Adjutant General Markham, who is in charge of martial law enforcement in the governor's warfare on the Ku Klux Klan.

The governor was apparently ready today to continue the military rule indefinitely. He announced that any time funds for the maintenance of the troops were exhausted the guard "could go out and get whatever it needed," indicating they would commandeer supplies and provisions.

All Oklahoma waited expectantly for the meeting of the legislature called for Wednesday to start impeachment proceedings against Walton. The governor has announced he will treat the gathering of legislators as "any other meeting of Ku Klux Klansmen," and order the military leaders to disperse and jail members.

W. D. McBee of Duncan, chief agitator for a special impeachment session of the legislature, today made public a decision given him by five leading attorneys of Oklahoma whom he had asked for opinions on whether a meeting would be legal.

All of the attorneys agreed that the legislature had the right to convene without a call from the governor or any outside authority.

The governor has taken up the "story of Tulsa," which his chief advisor, Aldrich Blake, started before leaving the capitol on a vacation. Walton made public the testimony of J. M. Smitherman, a negro, who was whipped by a masked mob because he had "registered negro voters as Democrats". Smitherman testified that members of the mob cut off his right ear and attempted to force him to eat it.

The governor announced that C. W. King, assistant attorney general, has been instructed to file ouster proceedings with the supreme court against Harry S. Kiskadden, police commissioner of Tulsa. Charges will include "inhuman treatment of prisoners and failure to enforce the law."

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma klan, arrested on flogging charges, simultaneously issued a statement that he would file civil stuits for damages as a "result of the false statements now being made. I will insist upon vindication of my character."

Fifty members of the legislature were on hand today for the meeting Wednesday.

Death of Jap Socialist Stirs Up Row

TOKIO, Sept. 24. — General Fukuda has been relieved as chief of the administration of martial law in the earthquake and fire devastated areas, as a result of the killing of Osugi, internationally known Japanese socialist.

Osugi was shot to death a week ago Sunday by an army lieutenant apparently in cold blood.

Osugi had recently returned to Japan from Paris where he had been deported after having made a speech at a French May-day demonstration.

Court martial of the lieutenant said to have done the shooting has been ordered.

RUSH SEARCH FOR MEN IN ARIZ. FLOOD

Fall in Canyon Streams Leads Posses to Speed Quest for U. S. Survey Party.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 24—A noticeable recession in the flood waters in the Colorado River today brought hope that the members of the United States Geological Survey party, who were caught in the raging torrents while exploring the lower gorges of the river, are now out of danger.

Nothing definite has been heard yet of the party or how they fared during the dangerous flood. A searching party was on its way today from Kingman to the point they were last heard from, following a report that the wreck of one of their boats had been seen.

COAL PROBLEM FACES PROBE BY SOLONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Congress probably will be given new recommendations on the coal industry as one result of the recent strike and of a final report submitted to President Coolidge by the retiring United States coal commission.

Whether it will be possible to enact coal legislation at the December session is considered doubtful by administration leaders, but they intend to initiate at that time a committee inquiry that will pave the way for legislation later.

Among the recommendations to be considered is that which the coal commission embodied in its report, made as it passed out of existence by legal limitation.

Supervision of the coal industry by the Interstate Commerce Commission just as the railroads are supervised was the keynote of the commission's plan for insuring a constant supply of fuel at a fair price.

Would Require Aliens To Register Annually

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Senator Shortridge of California will introduce at the next session of congress a bill embodying the salient points of the recent resolution of the state convention of the American Legion, he announced here. If passed, this would require all aliens over 18 years old now in the United States to register each year and to pay a fee. The returns from such fees would be used in the schooling of adults along citizenship.

ADMITS TO CHANGING COURSE

Commander Watson Says Squadron Under Orders to Make Speed Test

TELLS OF GETTING BEARING BY RADIO

Declares Study of Charts Indicated Data From Land Incorrect

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 24.—Captain E. H. Watson, squadron commander of the ill-fated ships that crashed on Point Honda, September 8, last, assumed full responsibility for the change of their course, when he testified today at the naval inquiry board on North Island.

He directed the ships to make the change that sent them steaming into a death trap, after examining charts and after receiving alleged inaccurate radio bearings that apparently placed them in the proximity of the entrance to Santa Barbara channel, he said.

Throughout his testimony Captain Watson spoke in the third person, referring to himself as the squadron commander. He began his story with the departure of the squadron from San Francisco. His account of events leading up to the disaster started with a conversation with Rear Admiral Kittelle who suggested that the squadron visit the scene of the Cuba wreck.

"About 6:30 p. m." said Captain Watson, "the squadron commander was called to the radio telephone by the commander of the squadrons who suggested that the squadron be conducted to the vicinity of the Cuba ashore at San Miguel island."

Captain Watson testified that Admiral Kittelle, who was aboard the Melville and who was in command of all the destroyer squadrons, later decided that the Reno had the Cuba situation well in hand and directed Captain Watson's ships not to proceed to the scene of the wreck.

The Captain testified that he called for a radio bearing at 8:25 p. m. which indicated that his ships were then three miles south of Arguello.

"The squadron commander (Captain Watson) then gave orders," testified Captain Watson, "to take a new course, decided upon by the squadron commander as a conservative course into the Santa Barbara channel."

Another radio bearing was obtained at 9 a. m.

The now famous 9-turn order was then given and the ships went on the rocks at 9:05.

Captain Watson stated that he was under orders to Rear Admiral S. E. Kittelle to hold speed and technical maneuvers while making the voyage south. He added that the speed was to be not less than 20 knots.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO SEA CRASH VICTIMS

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 24.—More than 10,000 San Diegans are today carrying the memory of the most impressive memorial service ever held on the waters of the Pacific here, when the twenty-three dead of the Point Honda disaster were honored. Services were held at North Island, in the air and at sea, where flowers were strewn on the waves. High officials of the Pacific fleet paid impressive tribute to the hero dead.

Prosecutions Loom In Divorce Case As Bribery Charges Aired

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—After examining witnesses until early this morning, Assistant State's Attorney Charles Wharton announced he would recommend the charges of Mrs. Elwood Stokes that her millionaire husband had bribed underworld characters to testify she had lived in the notorious Everleight club, be submitted to the grand jury.

Negroes who had worked in the Everleight and other notorious resorts of twenty years ago and made out affidavits stating Mrs. Stokes had visited the places, confessed after hours of grueliing examination that their affidavits were untrue, Wharton announced.

The witnesses also admitted having received money from a man named Joe Bruner, described by Wharton as Stokes' pay-off man."

Wharton later announced he would recommend the prosecution of Daniel Nugent, described as New York attorney for Stokes.

"I believe a crime has been committed and that prosecutions should follow," Wharton said.

Nugent and Stokes are due here today, Wharton was informed.

Mrs. Stokes stayed at Wharton's office until five o'clock this morning assisting in the examination of the negroes. The negroes said they had been employed in the Everleigh club and the Beaux Arts club, another notorious resort.

May Hyde, a colored stenographer, told Wharton that all the affidavits presented by the various persons named by Mrs. Stokes had been written in a garage in Chicago. Frank Hubert, one of the witnesses, said he received $10, while the others said they had received up to $150.

10,000 HEAR DEBS IN L. A. ADDRESS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Eugene V. Debs addressed an open air meeting of over 10,000 here Sunday after the American Legion had succeeded in keeping him out of the larger public halls of Los Angeles. He was introduced by Upton Sinclair, the writer who was recently arrested for reading the constitution to a group of marine strikers at San Pedro.

Debs entered a plea for the men held in the penitentiary for violation of California's criminal syndicalism laws and urged recognition of Russia.

SELL GORGAS PLANT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Secretary of War Weeks today announced the sale of the Gorgas plant and other government improvements on the land of the Alabama Power company at Muscle Shoals to the Alabama Power company at an agreed upon sales price of $3,472,485.

Federal Government Seeking To Escape Blame For Tax Burdens

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Foreseeing inability to reduce federal taxation at the coming session of congress, the Coolidge administration is fortifying itself with a defense and a reason.

Responsibility for the weight of the tax burder will be laid at the door of the states, county and municipal authorities. The federal government, the country will be told, imposes far less, in proportion to the total taxation and to the services required of it than local governments.

Figures compiled by the census bureau will be used to show how tremendously the tax spending of local governments has increased during a period when the federal government in response to clamor, was doing its utmost to keep expenditures down.

Some high administration officials expect it will be possible to reduce federal taxes. They point to a handsome treasury surplus, increased revenues due in a measure to prosperous conditions and to continuation of the government's economy program.

But with a bonus bill almost certain to be passed and with new needs for next year, many other officials do not see how any appreciable tax cut can come. Even if taxes are reduced, the country will be told the real relief from taxation within the next few years must come, if at all, through reduction of local levies.

The census bureau's figures show startling increases in state, county and municipal expenditures in the last decade. in some places there has been a veritable orgy of tax spending. At the same time, federal taxes were soaring because of the war and they have not and will not come down to peace time levels for many years, if ever.

Cycle Theft Charge Facing Irvine Man

Julio Andrade, 32, of Irvine was added to the calendar of Justice of the Peace J. B. Cox's court today. He was charged with stealing a bicycle from the home of G. C. Murphy, 1047 West Fifth street, Santa Ana.

Woman Hurt In Train Crash; Baby Uninjured

Mrs. Louis Derango of Fullerton received scalp wounds, but her husband, a Mexican laborer, and their infant son were uninjured when a Santa Fe passenger train hit their car at the Northam crossing this forenoon, according to word received here. The woman was taken to the Fullerton hospital for treatment.

NEW CHIEF NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—E. Geoffrey Bangs, San Francisco architect, has recently been appointed director of housing for the state commission of immigration and housing, according to a report given out from the commission offices.

'CUTTING IN' CASE COSTS DRIVER $25

Luther Emmett, Santa Ana youth, was earnestly engaged today in convincing Justice J. B. Cox that when he was arrested for "cutting in" on another motorist yesterday near the county hospital, he was driving at a rate of about twenty-five miles per hour and that the offense charged was only a mild violation.

Then Motorcycle Officer Louis Heffner, who made the arrest, walked into court and told a different story. Emmett, he said, was going at least forty miles per hour, as Heffner was making that pace himself in keeping up, he said. Heffner declared Emmett had cut in three times within a short distance. According to Heffner, Emmett drove down the center of the highway between two lines of traffic and forced other motorists to give way on both sides.

Prisoner Ordered By Court to Take 'Cure'

Facing two felony charges here, to one of which he has pleaded guilty, Jack Duncan, Santa Ana, twice charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, today was ordered sent to Patton, for treatment as an inebriate.

While awaiting the outcome of this treatment, Superior Judg R. Y. Williams, who ordered Duncan's commitment to the institution, suspended judgment on the felony charge for six months.

BUSINESS WOMEN LISTEN TO TALKS

With an attendance of nearly forty members and guests, the Business and Professional Women's club at St. Ann's today listened to interesting talks by D. W. McDannald, publicity man of Orange county, and Mac O. Robbins, who related some of his experiences, amusing and otherwise, at first president of the Rotary club, Santa Ana's first luncheon club.

Varying his chosen topic of "The Trail of the Dollar" with timely reminiscences of early days in California, McDannald, a resident of the state for the past fifty years, kept ripples of laughter flowing around the luncheon table by his humorous sallies.

Miss Doris Robbins, as president, told of a session of the executive board of the Los Angeles organization held yesterday in the offices of Miss Jane Humphries, Los Angeles, which she was asked to attend by Miss Alice Quill, vice-president.

Many interesting aids to the betterment of the local club were gleaned by the president which will be put into effect at future meetings.

The Misses Martha Briggs, Jeanette McFadden, Elizabeth Phillips, Mrs. Jo Marshall and Mrs. Amy Crawford were named as an entertainment committee for October and will arrange a program for the dinner to be given during the month, at which Miss Quill, Miss Humphries and Mill Chilton of Los Angeles will be honor guests.

Carried Gun Inside Game Refuge Claim

H. J. Tooles, of Orange, was today chirged with carrying firearms within a game refuge, in a complaint sworn to by E. W. Searcy, forest ranger in the Trabuco district.

Searcy stated that Tooles was driving his car along a canyon road for the purpose of viewing the scenery. The gun, a rifle, was in the car, unloaded. The road, however, was posted, Searcy said.

The law provides a minimum penalty of $25 fine for such an offense, Searcy said.

SEND DELEGATES TO ROTARY MEET

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Jack M. Whitney, president of the Rotary club, Harry Anderson, secretary of that organization, and the directors, Leonard Obarr, M. G. Jones, Joseph Vavra, H. T. Dunning, and E. A. Suter, were delegates from this town to the convention of the second district of Rotary International, composing the districts of California, Nevada, and the Hawaiian islands, held Friday and Saturday of this week.

Because of the absence of the officers and directors of the club the regular meeting and luncheon were postponed. The local Rotary club is the youngest organization in Orange county and received its charter at a celebration held in Orange county park some time ago. Up to the present time the club has been of much help in civic work of the community.

You won't know how good fried chicken can be—or an egg—or a trout—until you have tried frying with Wesson Oil.

Wesson Oil is not only a delicious frying fat—it is a wholesome frying fat, very wholesome and easy to digest.

It is burned fat that is responsible for most of the objections to fried food.

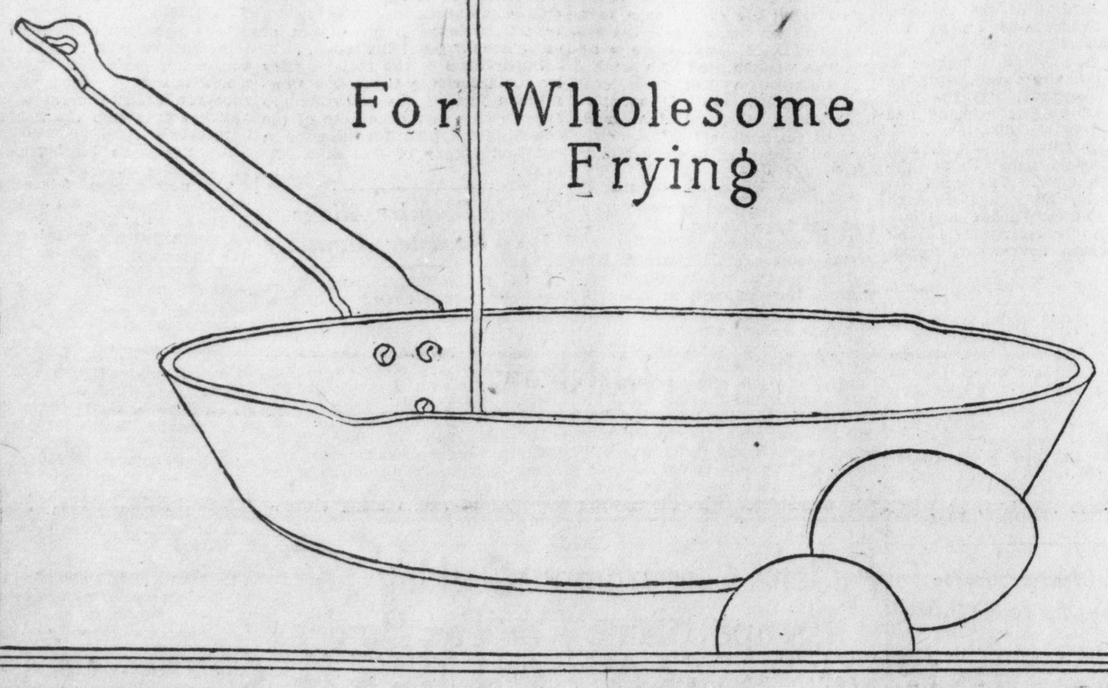

At the right temperature for frying many fats "break down," smoke—that is, burn—and have a tendency to upset digestion.

The wholesomeness of Wesson Oil as a frying fat is due to the goodness of Wesson Oil and to the fact that it can be heated hot enough to fry crisply long before it burns.

A crispy brown crust forms so quickly that the food does not absorb too much fat and, inside this thin crust, cooks to a tempting lightness and daintiness.

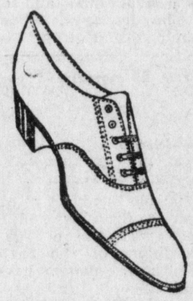

For Wholesome Frying

Have you ever wondered why the Wesson Oil can is soldered on the outside? Solder doesn't improve the flavor of oil. (Really it is the flux—rosin or zinc chloride—used in soldering to make solder stick to tin, that spoils the flavor of an oil.) So the can that is to hold Wesson oil is soldered outside. This isn't handsome—but handsome is as handsome does. After all, the inside is the important side of a can. That rough solder on the outside is evidence that on the smooth inside you will find Wesson Oil a pure light color and more delicate and delicious in flavor than any oil you ever tasted before.

The Shoe You Thought Impossible

THE A.E. LITTLE SHOE

SIZES 2½ TO 9
WIDTH AAA TO E

Price $12.50

ASK YOUR DOCTOR about The A.E. LITTLE SHOE

The new A. E. Little Arch Supporting Suspension Construction, stopping the welt at the ball, then wrapping the upper under the instep, attaching it to the inner sole by hand. This allows, with the new patented machine, fastening the sole at the shank with a flexible lockstitch through and through, making for a flexi-rigid shank without the aid of support and suspension other than the natural leather.

Look inside. Note the arch-supporting inner sole and the patented lock stitch which forms the all-leather suspension.

The through and through stitching is the identifying mark of the "A. E. Little Shoe."

There are no appliances of any kind in The A. E. Little Shoe, no stiff metal shanks to bruise the muscles that bind the arch bones. On the other hand it is constantly supportive. It does not break down as ordinary welt shank flexible arch shoes do.

Customary method of attaching welt to the ordinary welted Shoe. A shoe that is dangerously weak at the shank or arch.

Hi-Y club boys of Santa Ana and Orange county today had shaken off the contented lethargy of summer and settled to a winter of activity, T. P. McKee, community secretary, announced, as a result of the "set-up" conference at Camp Lewis over the week-end. More than twenty-five boys attended the conference. Five leaders were present. Fall programs were formulated by the "laboratory method," McKee said.

S. A. WOMAN IN CRASH SAID TO BE UNINJURED

Mrs. Arthur O'Connor, said to be a resident of Santa Ana, was reported here today to have escaped injury when a car in which she was riding Sunday at Naples, between Seal Beach and Long Beach, was wrecked, killing George C. Hutchinson, 427 Hope street, Los Angeles.

Hutchinson was thrown from the machine, which he was driving, when the car over-turned and then righted itself. With his neck broken, Hutchinson was said to have picked himself up, sat momentarily on the running board of the car, telling his companions that he was "all right", and then to have stood up and suddenly crumpled, dead.

Others in the party were Miss O'Brien of Hollywood, Mrs. Williams, address not given, and Joe O'Hara, who resided with Hutchinson. Hutchinson and O'Hara were connected with a Los Angeles newspaper, it was said.

Three Accused Here Of Excessive Imbibing

"Drunks" listed on the city court calendar here today included a rancher, a laborer and a transfer man.

H. J. Maag, 31, rancher of Orange, put up $25 bail on a charge of drunkenness. W. Forkey, 33, lather of Los Angeles, deposited $50 in order to keep his freedom until the court hearing of a "drunk" charge. W. H. Smith, 47, transfer man of Riverside, was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. He did not get bail, but was held overnight at the county jail.

Asks Police to Inform Brother Here of Death

The brother of J. H. Ferrin recently died at Seligman, Ariz., according to a communication received here today by City Marshal Claude Rogers, which asked the police chief to aid in locating J. H. Ferrin here. According to the letter, Ferrin had been working in or near Santa Ana.

HEAR $200,000 PAVING WORK SUIT HERE

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams was today conducting a hearing on the petition of Henry Schaffert, of Orange, owner of property at Huntington Beach, who seeks a restraining order against the city of Huntington Beach to prevent award of a paving contract there.

According to testimony introduced today at the hearing, the city council awarded a contract for paving on Ocean avenue, one of the beach town's streets, to Contractor G. M. Souter on a bid of $238,000. A bid from Contractor George H. Oswald for $216,000, claimed to have been the lowest bid offered, was said to have been rejected by the council, though $22,000 lower than Souter's bid.

Suing as a taxpayer, Schaffert demanded that Oswald's bid be accepted as a responsible bid. It was understood that at today's hearing, attorneys for the city would attack the responsibility of Oswald as a bidder.

Schaffert was represented at the hearing by Attorney W. F. Menton, with whom was associated Attorney W. M. Brown, of Los Angeles, formerly of Orange.

Attorneys Blodget and Blodget represented the city of Huntington Beach. L. W. Blodget is city attorney of Huntington Beach.

Syndicalism Charge Trial Is Postponed

Trials of four alleged members of the I. W. W., charged here with violating the criminal syndicalism act, today were continued by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to November 13, at 10 a. m.

Failure of Pat McGeehan, one of the defendants, to appear today in court, not only caused postponement of the consolidated cases, but caused the court to declare $3,000 bail posted for McGeehan to be forfeited.

Bondsmen of McGeehan were allowed twenty days to produce McGeehan in court, with a satisfactory excuse, to redeem bail. It was understood that a scouring search is under way for the man.

Ralph Colescott, Dennis Crowley and V. J. Thompson were available for trial, it was said.

Delay Trial of Youth Under Forgery Charge

Postponement of the trial of Louis Swall, Santa Ana youth, charged with forging a check, was granted today by Superior Judge Z. B. West to October 1, at 10 a. m., because of the absence of an important witness for the state.

It was the understanding, as stated by Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley today, that the witness will be on hand within several days.

Swall was in court today, represented by Attorney Charles D. Swanner.

It was Judge West's first appearance on the bench since illness forced him to give up his duties last March.

L. A. Youth Is Held On Speeding Charge

A charge of reckless driving was registered against Leslie Fredeen, 20, of Los Angeles, on police records here today. The arresting officer asserted that Fredeen drove an automobile south on Main street at 30 miles an hour and crossed Fourth street at twenty-five miles an hour.

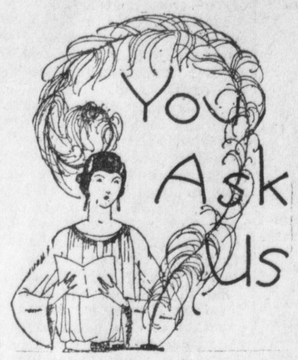

Daughter Reports Her Father Gone; Car Home

Juan Chaires, father of Annie Chaires, 1010½ Lincoln street, was reported missing today by his daughter. She told the police he left the house last night and had not returned today. His automobile, she said, was still in the garage.

Introducing

CHARMEEN

A Paul Poiret Origination

Finer and Lighter Than Poiret Twill

Charmeen—already a sensation! You really must see it, feel it, wear it, while it is the commanding novelty it is today! Charmeen is the finest woven material yet made—a weave that adds to its firm foundation of wool, the bloom, the sheen, the lustre of silk.

A Poiret fabric, but lighter and glossier than Poiret Twill. Crumpled up, its shadows bring out the gleam of broadcloth.

It is the woolen fabric of the hour. Of incomparable charm for the coat-dress, the afternoon dress and the suit, it will be seen everywhere this coming season, where modish women gather.

There is nothing made that is like it.

CRACK CAVALRY NEW FEATURE FOR FAIR

President J. A. Smiley of the board of directors of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, which opens here tomorrow declared today that there will be no need for red ink in figuring the financial outcome of this year's undertaking.

"With the official opening of the fair twenty-four hours away, financial success of the venture is already assured," declared Smiley this morning. "Even if we should not sell a single admission ticket we would not be forced to resort to red ink," he added.

An added attraction to the fair rodeo was announced today by Manager R. D. Flaherty who has secured a troop of crack United States cavalry from Imperial Beach. This outfit is Troop G, 11th Cavalry, which patrols the border between the coast and Tijuana. The troop is under command of Captain J. C. Rogers.

Features Trick Riding.

Each night of the rodeo the cavalrymen will stage a program of trick riding, all the stunts being done either at trot or gallop. One feature of their act is a monkey drill in which a number of acrobatic stunts are used.

In another act the horses are brought three abreast with a pyramid of six men riding each span. With the riders in this position the horses are sent around the track at a gallop, taking three and a half foot hurdles. A bareback tug-o'-war is also a feature of the troop's stunts.

Members of the troop will not compete in the prize contests. Manager Flaherty announced that special prizes would be awarded the cavalrymen.

Johnson Dinner Guest.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, scheduled to deliver the principal address tomorrow at 8 p. m., is due to arrive in Santa Ana in time for 6 oclock dinner at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow evening. He will speak in the entertainment tent and will be introduced by D. Eyman Huff of the Hewes Realty corporation.

Ed C. Stinson, chairman of the livestock committee announced today that it was necessary to build additional stalls in order to accommodate the great number of entries in this department. This department includes 10 pony stalls, 34 double stalls for cows, 15 box stalls, 27 double stalls for horses and other stock. Stinson will utilize more than 80 stalls for the combined stock exhibits in the livestock tent.

Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg will broadcast the fair from KFAW, the Register's radio, tonight at 7 o'clock.

Gates will open tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Chiropractor Opens Offices In This City

Dr. S. J. Francis, chiropractor, formerly of Taber, Alberta, Canada, has opened a suite of offices at 433 W. H. Spurgeon building.

"About three years ago we moved from Canada to Orange for the benefit of my failing health," declared Dr. Francis. "Your wonderful climate in conjunction with chiropractic adjustments restored my former good health, so I went East and took up the study of chiropractic at the Palmer school at Davenport, Iowa. Upon completion of the course we returned to California and toured the state two months seeking the most ideal location for our future home. We selected Santa Ana."

Church Young People Enjoy Social Evening

The ministerial hospitality of the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Otto S. Russell was proffered to a group of young people of the church late last week when the Christian Endeavor and the Baptist Young Peoples' Union combined forces in happy manner at an evening party.

Social chairmen of each society, Miss May Belle Thurston of the Endeavorers and Mrs. Oral Richards of the B. Y. P. U., arranged a busy evening and introduced some new and original games and contests.

At a late hour, Mrs. Russell served hot chocolate and wafers after which the guests, over forty in number, gathered around the piano and all joined in singing favorite songs. Ere departing, one of their number, M. R. Marrs, as spokesman for the group, expressed their appreciation of the pleasant hospitality of the Rev. Mr. Russell and Mrs. Russell.

Pollyanna Girls Are True to Name

A little group of mothers were rendered very happy on a recent evening when their daughters, members of the Pollyanna class of the First Christian church, rendered homage to them at a dinner party, planned, prepared and served by the girls in the basement dining room at the church.

Seated at the flower-decked tables, the mothers were served with roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, creamed peas and carrots, vegetable salad, home made cake and fruit, a dinner fit for a king!

An informal program followed with Miss Veda Mitchell and Miss Lizzetta Phillips offering piano solos and Miss Mary Arnold giving several pleasing readings. Previous to the program had been a series of clever talks with Miss Mildred Reed, class president as toast-mistress.

Then as the mothers gathered in friendly little groups to "visit," their young hostesses made a true "Pollyanna game' of doing the dishes and leaving the church kitchen and dining-room in applepie order against the next social affair.

The event, which will be made an annual affair, was the result of plans made when the girls and their teacher, Mrs. F. T. Porter, were enjoying a house-party at Camp Baldy early in the summer. Many happy plans will be put into effect during the coming winter.

How to Have Better Looking Draperies

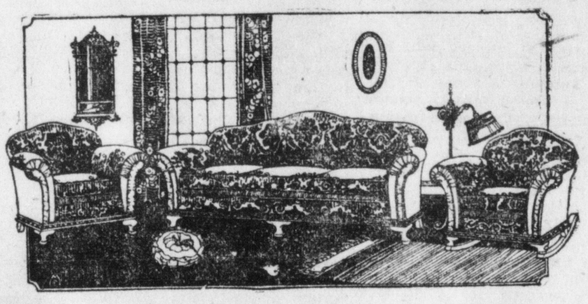

It's Simply a Matter of Using Our Drapery Service Department

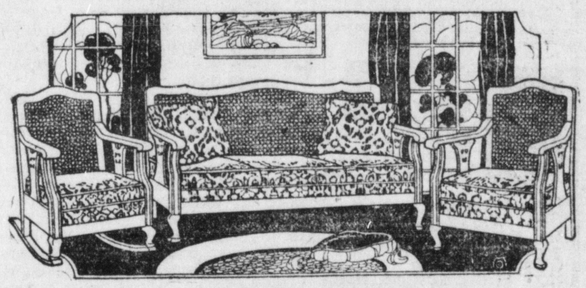

Horton's maintains an arts and decorations department in charge of an expert —Mr. Fox. This department is doing some remarkable work in drapery designing and window decoration.

It sounds expensive, but it is just the opposite. The same service might be expensive in the large cities, but it is used at Horton's for the purpose of making friends, more than anything else.

Just let Mr. Fox give you his ideas and estimates (free of charge) on providing your windows with draperies and shades.

Luxurious Living Room Suites Needn't Cost Fortune

Two-Tone $219

Its construction and materials are the best that manufacturers put into a suite of this kind. The arms, sides and back of each of the three pieces are upholstered in solid blue velour, a beautiful shade, while the rest is upholstered in gold silk tapestry. A special value at $219.

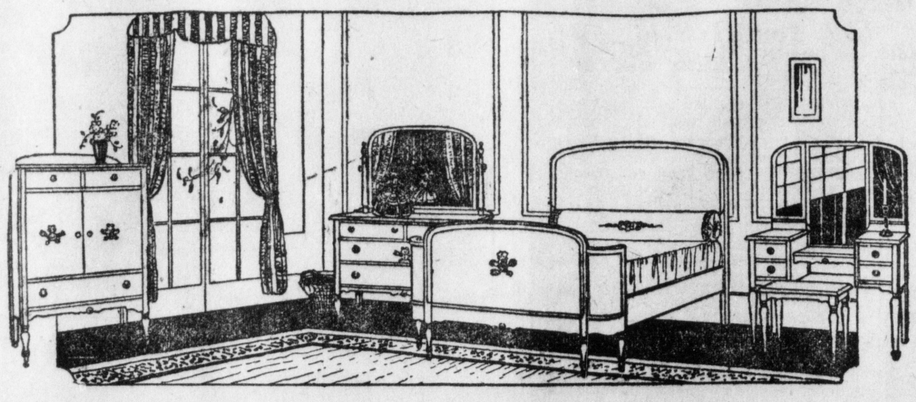

Tapestry $192

Some unsinged treaty between homes as "parties of the first part," and Horton's as "party of the second part," has made September one of the biggest living room furniture months of the year. That is one reason why we went out of our way to obtain these tapestry suites to sell at $192.

Cane $148

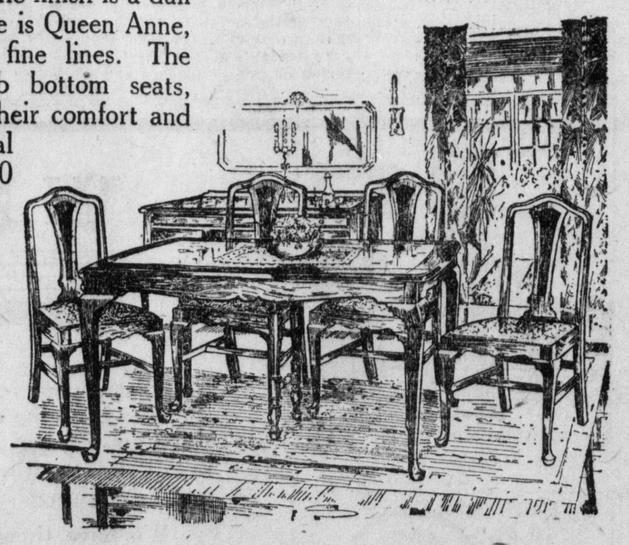

We feel that we are "getting somewhere" in our recent purchases of living room furniture and offer this suite as a good example of knowing where to go, what to ask for, and WHAT TO GET! The frame is of solid mahogany and cane, the covering is of excellent velour. And the price!—$148.

This Dining Suite, $170.50

—two-tone, combination walnut

The picture below is the exact illustration of this suite—a combination walnut in a delicate two-tone. The suite includes the oblong table, one arm chair, and five dining chairs, all having cane paneled backs and genuine leather seats. The finish is a dull antique, the style is Queen Anne, in exceptionally fine lines. The chairs have web bottom seats, which adds to their comfort and durability. A real value for $170.50

Which Sounds the Best to You in These Two Bedroom Suites?

Eight-Piece Silvertone Suite Priced at $253

Three-Piece Ivory Bed-Room Suite for $99.00

As with all bedroom furniture offered by Horton's, you find extra large size mirrors of better quality, this Dresser being an unusually fine model. The other pieces include a Chiffonier which is larger than ordinarily, and a fine Bow-foot Bed. The three pieces for $99.

Better Prices on Reed Chairs and Rockers

If you knew just how comfortable and useful these splendid Reed Chairs and Rockers were, you would soon have at least one or two somewhere about the house. And they are made in shapes that are a bit different from the average.

At $8.75 one can buy a dandy Reed Rocker—not as large as some, but perhaps more convenient to pull around because of that fact.

At $11.75 one can buy larger ones, bigger backs, with more work put into them.

And there are others at $10.75 and at $14.00 that offer quite a selection when people have varying ideas about style.

As far as the chairs are concerned, they are practically the same styles at the same prices quoted on the rockers.

Twilight Hour Chosen For Nuptial Service In Bride's Home

Just at the mystic and beautiful twilight hour yesterday evening two of Santa Ana's popular young people, Miss Geraldine O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. O'Connor, and Jack Leighton Bascom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Bascom, took their wedding vows surrounded by a little group of close friends and relatives.

The O'Connor home on West Camille street was adorned with flowers, great yellow chrysanthemums predominating. The gorgeous 'mums with feathery ferns banked the mantel in the living room where the impressive marriage service was read by the Rev. F. T. Porter of the First Christian church.

Miss O'Conner was lovely in a gown of hand-embroidered French organdy and lace worn over ivory satin. Her flowers were lilies of the valley in shower effect and her sole ornament was a string of milky pearls, gift of the groom. She entered the room on the arm of her father, Mr. G. P. O'Connor, by whom she was given in marriage.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Marian Bruner, talented young cousin of the bride, sweetly sang "At Dawning" (Cadman) to the piano accompaniment of her twin sister, Miss Mary Bruner. The latter then swung into the sonorous strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March as signal for the entry of the minister and Mr. Bascom to await the coming of the bride. As the marriage service progressed it was to the muted accompaniment of Carrie Jacobs Bond's "I Love You Truly" played by Miss Bruner.

During the happy informality of the reception hour, the assembled guests were served delectable refreshments of angel food and gold cake, coffee mousse and grape juice by a bevy of lovely young girl friends of the bride including her sister, Miss Madeline O'Connor and the Misses Marian Gerrard, Kathleen Schowengerdt, Elizabeth Bruner, Julia Bruner and Glenda May Waggoner. Each was gowned in organdy whose mingled hues added to the colorful effect of the scene.

Later in the evening, the bride donned an extremely smart French imported suit of beige, hand embroidered, with blouse in one of the new autumnal shades of red. Hat, gloves and shoes were of beige, the hat trimmed in the same red as the blouse.

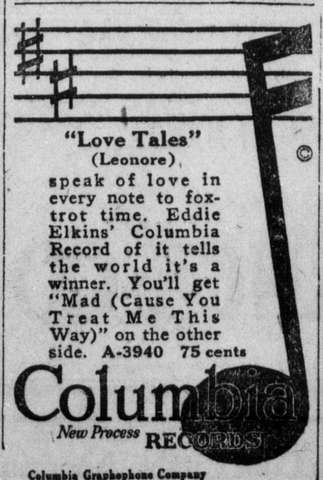

The young couple motored northward, planning to spend the next two weeks in San Francisco and other northern points. Returning they will receive their friends at "Honeymoon Cottage" at 1010 Riverine street and Mr. Bascom will resume his place at the First National bank where he has received rapid promotion since joining the staff at the close of the World War.

At Berkeley at the beginning of the war, Mr. Bascom enlisted in the navy, and received his commission as ensign at Philadelphia. Later connected with the government secret service, he was sent from Washington to Norfolk, Va., where he was stationed for several months. His bride who has been a member of the clerical department at the bank, completed the high school course at her home town in Kansas ere the family chose Santa Ana as its home. Here she took business training in the high school, later studying at Southern Branch in Los Angeles.

Gathered for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. G. P. O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Bascom, the Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Snider, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Bruner, Mrs. Maude Lash, the Misses Madeline O'Connor, Marian Gerrard, Kathleen Schowengerdt, Elizabeth Bruner, Julia Bruner, Glenda May Waggoner, Mary Bruner, Marian Bruner, Margaret Waggoner and Phyllis O'Connor and James Coulson and James Lash.

Happy Little Maiden Bids Friends to Birthday Party

Almost a week ago the Emmerson home at 1046 West Pine street was the scene of a gay little party when little Nola Lucille Emmerson celebrated her sixth birthday.

The first merry event was a peanut hunt on the porch after which Nola Lucille opened her packages while all gathered around to admire. More lively games followed and at 6 o'clock they came in to a gaily decorated table with a pink and white color scheme carried out in festoons, Cecil Brunner roses, place cards and little pink heart shaped candy boxes. The pink and white cake with its six pink candles had the most important place.

Mrs. Emmerson, assisted by Mrs. Glenford Griffin and Mrs. Thomas Duncan, served brick ice cream, cake, punch, wafers and candies.

Those who helped Nola Lucille enjoy her birthday were Maxine Gidcomb, Gwendolyn Griffin, Lois and Ralph Lambert, Margaret Betts, Lucile Griggs, Alice Brown, Dorothy Thorpe, Wesley Duncan, Turner Kemp and Marie Clem.

Flattering Review of Oriental Paintings By Local Artist

Apropos of the paintings of the Orient which Miss Evylena Nunn, 802 North Ross street, is exhibiting in Los Angeles this week, Anthony Anderson, editor of the "Of Art and Artists" department of one of the Los Angeles morning papers, in the Sunday edition commented very flatteringly on the work of the talented young artist under the caption of "A Year in Japan with Evylena Nunn."

Mr. Anderson's article was as follows:

Evylena Nunn, who is exhibiting eighteen canvases at Cannell & Chaffin's to the end of this month, was at one time, I understand, a teacher in Japan, and her record of Japanese landscape, and especially of famous Japanese temples, now that the most of these have been destroyed by earthquake, are of great value as documents, quite aside from their worth as works of art.

Whether or not Miss Nunn places herself among professional painters I do not know, but if she does not, she certainly has a high position among the competent amateurs. In technique her work would indicate that she paints because she loves nature and art, and that, though her mode of expression may not always be of the most vigorous, her love is beautifully sincere.

She has a feeling for atmospheric subtleties and for the poetry of a scene, and apparently she found all Japan teeming with atmosphere and poetry—or perhaps she looked into her heart and painted. At any rate, she brings us, in these eighteen pictures, through a Nippon year that is all tender blue-gray mists and suffused sunshine, all cherry- blossoms and lacquered bridges and golden temple entrances.

It is all very restful and charming. We follow Miss Nunn with sympathy through every one of her pleasant adventures with Nippon's mist and sun and blossoms, in such pictures as "Kacukum Shrine in Tokio," "Misty Morn in Cherry Time," "Alps of Japan," and so on.

Wedding Plans Told By Miss Alice Makoskey And Donovan Nutt

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Makoskey of 120 East Eleventh street, were keenly interested today in receiving cards to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Aloce Makoskey to Mr. Donovan Nutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Nutt of Pasadena, which will be an event of Tuesday, October 2, 1923.

The First Baptist church will be the chosen scene of the nuptials at 8 o'clock in the evening and with the Rev. Otto S. Russell officiating. Miss Virginia Russell will be one of the group of charming bridesmaids, while Mrs. Frank Makoskey of Los Angeles will be matron of honor.

Miss Russell was a recent hostess at a charmingly appointed mah jongg luncheon honoring the bride-elect.

Interesting Talk

One of the outstanding events in school cirtles during the past week was the address presented by Mrs. Oberlin Rodriguez at the Fullerton Mexican center, for the high school Americanization committee of which Miss McKay is head.

Mrs. Rodriguez, an interesting talented member of Santa Ana's Spanish-American group told of the school work and the interest taken in it by young pupils. She urged Mexican parents present to exact school attendance from their children and called attention to the friendly attitude of Americans toward Mexico and Mexicans, encouraging the latter to make the most of the many privileges extended them.

The audience was a large one with many of the teachers assembled also.

An unusually attractive display of
New Silks and Woolens
The new silk and wool fabrics lend themselves perfectly to the new lines that have been decreed by Dame Fashion, as in the new "wrap-around" and "draped" effects, which are so easy to make by any woman who will use Pictorial Review Patterns.
All in all, we don't think you've ever seen silks that give greater promise of becomingness to you than the new Luxciel, satin back canton crepe, satin Roshanara and wool crepes, which you are invited to see.
Experienced salespeople to assist you in planning your new fall costume.

Automobile Robes
They have just arrived and everything about them convinces us that they are the best Robes we've seen for some time. There's a richness about the fabrics that is sure to make you like them at once. A Robe is never high priced if it is worth what you pay for it. These Robes are worth infinitely more than we ask, but we bought them right and are offering them at quite a saving to you.

'WIRE TAPPER' OFF FOR STATE PRISON

James A. Wilkes, arrested at the local office of the Western Union several months ago when he attempted, it was asserted, to obtain $150 sent to a Frank V. Webb, was to be taken to San Quentin after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery ..... day before Superior Judge John W. Schenk in Los Angeles.

Wilkes was taken into custody here through the efforts of F. E. Warner, manager of the Santa Ana Western Union office, who became suspicious that Wilkes was not Webb when he was unable to answer coherently questions usually asked of persons who receive money by telegraph.

Scores of telegraph forgeries successfully worked in California and other states were laid to Wilkes by investigators, who were of the opinion he was the head of an organized gang of "wire tappers."

Wilkes suddenly interrupted his trial to plead guilty. He was sentenced to from one to fourteen years.

BUSINESS DEALS IN ORANGE LOOM

ORANGE, Sept. 24.—That final plans, of new purchases of propearty; the establishment of new leases and an extensive building plan that will involve the expenditure of thousands of dollars, will be announced sometime today or Tuesday, was rumored about the streets Monday morning.

The two firms, or persons, who are being closely watched for the official announcement of their plans, are the West Coast Theater Corporation and M. Eltiste, who, for the past six months, have planned on various biulding enterprises, it was said. No official permits have been taken out as yet, however, for the erection of buildings.

Eltiste, when approached on the subject of his plans for the erection of a large implement store on the vacant lot in front of his temporary quarters in North Glassell street, did not deny that he intended building but as to his actual plans he declared he was not ready to announce them.

The building contemplated by Eltiste, it was rumored, would also include the building now occupied by the Citrus Tire and Truck company, North Glassell street and Maple avenue, who have a lease on that building at present. It is also rumored that the building proposed by Eltiste, which is said by some to be a three-story structure will have hotel rooms. This would not permit a garage to occupy the lower section of the building and would necessitate the removal of the truck company now occupying quarters in the building.

Reports have it that an Anaheim firm are to erect another building elsewhere, probably on "automobile row" for this company. This has not be confirmed, however.

The theater building will probably be located at the intersection of North Glasell street and Maple avenue.

HOSPITAL HANDLES ONLY TWO INJURIES

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Very few cases have been reported to the emergency hospital during the past week and the most of these are of the most trivial nature.

J. West of Santa Ana injured the ring finger of his right hand while taking out a rotary lock on the rig where he was working. The finger was badly bruised and lacerated. He is employed by the Globe Petroleum company.

150 L. B. Moose Hold Picnic at County Park

One hundred and fifty members of the Long Beach lodge No. 600, Loyal Order of Moose, enjoyed a basket picnic at Orange county park yesterday. One of the largest crowds of the summer was at the park yesterday, all being "drop ins" except the Long Beach lodgemen. Carl Fletcher, dictator, was among those present.

J. B. Irwin, park custodian, pointed out yesterday the completion of new water basins near the big fireplace at the grounds. Four faucets and as many drain basins offer new conveniences. A hopper into which may be thrown dish water, coffee, etc., also has been completed and was in service. The new comfort station for women, said to be of the best, also had been completed, he declared.

Installation of the new reservoir and water lines have made the additional conveniences possible, according to Irwin.

Dental Offices Here Entered By Intruder

Dental offices of Dr. F. H. Duncan in the Greeley building here were ransacked over the week-end, but nothing of value was taken, the police were informed today. Bottles were broken on the floors by the intruder, who gained antrance through a transom. Fingerprints offer the only clue.

STAR ATHLETES IN BIG LEGION GAMES

Prominent athletes from all parts of the country will participate in the American Legion's Olympic games, to be held at its national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, according to local Legion officials.

Joie Ray, "miler," will try to regain his record for that distance. Charles W. Paddock, who holds most world's records in the sprints, will compete, as will Morris Kirksey, former Stanford university star.

The tennis tournament will be in charge of "Little Bill" Johnston, the famous net artist.

The principal event on the baseball program will be a game between the winning team of the Pacific Coast league and an all-legion team to be composed of such stars as Harry Heilman, Jimmy Cavaney, Sam Bohne, "Dutch" Reuther, Willie Kamm and others.

Willie Ritchie, former world's champion lightweight boxer, and Jimmie Britt, who was defeated by Battling Nelson, are among the ring stars who will appear during the boxing contests.

DRUMM READY TO TAKE POST OCTOBER 15

Frank Drumm, attorney of Orange, will assume his duties October 15, as jurge of department three of the Orange county superior court.

Drumm sent his word today to Governor Richardson, following receipt of his commission as judge of the department. With the commission came a statement from the Governor that reservations made by Drumm in his acceptance of the proffer of the appointment were satisfactory to him. Drumm had asked that he be given time to clear up legal business of clients prior to taking up his duties.

According to J. M. Backs, county clerk, plans have been completed for the new department to occupy the room of the supervisors at the courthouse. On meeting dates of the board court will be held in one of the jury rooms.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ARRANGES SOCIAL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—The social committee of the First Christian church gave its first entertainment of the season at the Woman's club house Saturday evening in the form of a "kid" party.

The affair, the first in a long line of those to come during the coming months, was invitational with close to fifty boys and girls present.

The entertainment committee, is headed by C. E. Morris, Scoutmaster and prominent church man. The Christian Endeavor society contributed to the refreshments.

During the evening "kid" games were played. Refreshments of punch, wafers, candy and other childish delicacies, in keeping with the party, were served.

It is the plan of the entertainment committee to stage a party every month during the winter.

VENISON SERVED TO 250 FIRMS' GUESTS

Two hundred and fifty men and women ate barbecued deer meat yesterday at a dinner served in the basement of the new building being erected by John Avas and his son, Fred, on the southwest corner of Fourth street and Van Ness avenue.

The hosts were the owners of the building, the Santa Ana Transfer company and the Moreland Truck company, the firms which will occupy the structure when it is completed.

The occasion was made possible by the success of Fred Avas and Vern Mohn in bagging a dear September 16, in the San Jacinto mountains. The carcass had been kept in cold storage at the Avas butcher shop.

One hundred and fifty pounds of deer meat was eaten. According to Avas, barbecued beef, which was prepared as a reserve, was not touched. Salads, beans in various styles, several kinds of pie, pickles, buns and coffee completed the menu.

A stringed orchestra, led by Ramon Burrell, played.

SALES TAX DUE FOR PAYMENT SEPT. 30

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell issued warning today to thousands of sales tax payers in Southern California that their returns and payments of tax for August must be in his office or in the hands of his deputies in branch offices on or before September 30, to avoid penalties of 25 per cent and 5 per cent, and a specific penalty of $1,000. This class of taxpayers includes manufacturers of automobiles and parts and accessories, candy, and all other persons manufacturing taxable articles; theaters, country clubs, jewelers, manufacturers of syrups, soft drinks and carbonic acid gas, ticket brokers and telephone and telegraph companies.

"These penalties," said Collector Goodcell, "are not at my option or pleasure, but are imposed by law. It is my desire to collect taxes—not penalties—and for that reason I urge all such taxpayers to make their returns and payments within the time prescribed by law. If they don't, I cannot avoid assessing penalties."

Collector Goodcell also called attention to the necessity of the return and payment being in his hands before the close of business on September 30. Merely placing the remittance in the mails on or before the last day of the month will not prevent penalties, it was emphasized.

Stamp tax sales in the Southern California district for the present calendar year, up to September 1 were $1,363,354.27, compared with $997,362.18 for the corresponding period of 1922, a gain of $365,992.09 or 36.7 per cent, according to a special report by Goodcell.

These stamps are used on conveyances, notes, capital stock transfers and many other kinds of business transactions, and the gain of 36.7 per cent indicates a proportionate increase in business activity.

Catalina Island To Have Big Sanitarium

CATALINA ISLAND, Calif., Sept. 24. — A $3,000,000 hospital and sanitarium will be erected here in the next ninety days according to Dr. Richard F. Burnes, president of the Scientific Body Building company, Inc., who announced today that he had obtained a 99 year lease from William Wrigley Jr., owner of the island.

It is the present intention to erect an administration building, several hospital buildings and a cluster of 500 bungalows.

BUILDING PERMITS ARE FEW IN WEEK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Building permits were few and small this week. A garage, an alteration and one removal permit were the extent issued by the building department.

A permit was issued to Samuel Talbert to move his house from the Methodist camp grounds to lot four in block 703. The building is valued at $1000.

F. L. Dunne of 618 Thirteenth street was issued a permit to alter the roof of his dwelling. The estimated cost of the improvement is about $100.

E. K. Williams of 2600 Hampshire street was issued a permit to build a $150 garage on his lot at that address.

Union Pacific Names New Industrial Agent

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Marius de Brabant, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific system has issued a bulletin announcing the appointment of W. E. Rauch as industrial agent of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad, with headquarters at Los Angeles. Rauch takes the place of C. N. Brown, resigned.

Rauch has been for the past several years chief clerk of the traffic department of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad. Rauch's position is held by the company to be an important one, owing to the fact that the Union Pacific is expending millions of dollars in improvements and betterments.

LOVERS' TRYST BATTLE WILL BE AIRED IN SHOOTING

Oil Worker Wooer Victim of Hecklers to Face Hearing Here

BOYS PELTED PAIR

Youth Takes Girl Home, Returns to Fight Scene, Shoots Tormentor

The old adage regarding the course of true love was borne out in the case of George Alyea, whose courtship met an obstacle responsible for his scheduled appearance in Justice J. B. Cox's court here tomorrow.

Alyea, 21, a resident of Richfield, employed as oil worker in the Santa Fe Springs field, comes before Justice J. B. Cox tomorrow at 10 a. m., charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Back of the charge, the authorities say, is a story of romance under difficulties.

Briefly, Alyea is accused of shooting Elmer Smith, 15-year-old Yorba Linda boy, when Smith and a group of other lads interrupted a tete-a-tete between Alyea and the young woman of his fancy, a resident of Yorba Linda.

According to information gathered by the authorities at the time of Alyea's arrest some weeks ago, the boys came upon Alyea and the girl who were sitting in Alyea's car, parked along a road near Yorba Linda one Saturday evening.

Plot Bears Fruit

Moved apparently by a spirit of mischief, the "gang" plotted, and the plot shortly bore fruit.

This fruit was green oranges, hurled suddenly from the shadows of an adjacent orange grove upon the outraged couple in the car.

Exasperated, Alyea was said to have reached for a shotgun that he carried in the car. A shot fired into the orchard, it was said,

Warns Contractors Allowing Water To Flow Onto Streets

Declaring that many property owners have filed with him protests against the practice of contractors permitting water to run in gutters for six and seven days in the process of wetting lath for use in building, W. G. Knox, city engineer and street superintendent, today stated that he had given notice to a number of contractors that they must arrange to take care of the water.

At the same time, Knox stated that contractors with whom he had discussed the subject had stated that they had been permitted to follow the practice for twenty or more years, and that complaint never before had been made.

"The complaint is against permitting the water to flow into the gutter," said Knox. "The water, it is charged, runs down several blocks from the point of discharge and frequently large pools are formed, standing for such a time that the water becomes stagnant."

HOSPITALITY OF CITY IS URGED DURING FAIR

Location of Exhibit Tents Cited As One of Many Questions to Be Put

With the opening of the great seventh annual Orange county fair less than twenty-four hours away, many residents of Santa Ana and Orange county today were making last-minute plans to attend the big annual event.

Realizing that many strangers have come to Santa Ana and vicinity since last year's fair, Manager R. D. Flaherty here today urged Santa Ana residents to do everything possible to direct newcomers to the fair grounds, and assist them in every possible manner in enjoying the hospitality of the city during fair week.

Tents On Fifth Street

"Where are the fair grounds?"

This question, no doubt, will be asked by hundreds who will flock into Santa Ana late today and early tomorrow.

The fair grounds this year, as last year, will be situated on East Fifth street, on what is known as the Union Pacific right of way.

Signs Are Placed

To reach the grounds, motorists should drive east on Fourth, or Fifth street. A huge banner across Fourth street near Garfield, indicates where motorists should turn to reach the tented city. The main entrance to the fair faces Fifth street, east of Garfield.

Traffic officers today pointed out that ample parking space will be available on Fourth, Fifth, Garfield and numerous side streets near the Union Pacific right of way. Pacific Electric cars and motor busses will maintain regular service to the fair grounds.

The gates of the fair will open daily at 10 a. m. The fair will remain open each night until midnight.

RELEASED ON BAIL.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—R. J. Finer, former instructor in swimming and diving at the local plunge, was released on $300 bail yesterday. Bail was furnished by relatives from Los Angeles. Finer, who is charged with a felony by R. S. Lyons, who claims to have lost $35 from his pockets while in swimming, was arrested last week. His trial, which was to have been held this afternoon, has been postponed until the afternoon, September 27.

BURY ANAHEIM WOMAN.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 24.—Funeral services were held today for Lillian Dorothy Dandy, 21 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dandy, who died at the home of her parents Friday, following a short illness. Services were held from the Backs, Terry and Campbell chapel. Interment was in Loma Vista cemetery.

BURN CHURCH MORTGAGE.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—An impressive ceremony was held at the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday at the morning service, when the mortgage for $5,000, which has hung over the church for the past ten years, was burned. The entire amount was paid off and also all other debts owed by the church were settled.

SENATOR JOHNSON HOLDS INTEREST FOR INITIAL DAY

With hundreds of exhibitors, carpenters, electricians, plumbers and others hustling here and there, the tents under which will be presented the seventh annual Orange county fair, opening tomorrow, were turned today into beehives of activity, as last-minute touches were added to the various exhibits and final work was being rushed toward having everything in place when the gates are opened at 10 a. m.

At the same time, the reception committee having in charge the entertainment of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson during his visit here virtually had completed arrangements for the distinguished Californian's appearance in Santa Ana. Senator Johnson is scheduled to deliver the principal address in the entertainment tent at the fair grounds tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Indicative of the keen interest in this year's fair, Manager R. D. Flaherty declared today that every available foot of space in the great industrial tent has been sold to Santa Ana, Orange county and outside firms and individuals.

Arranging Flowers

In the great agricultural tent, where fifteen farm centers will exhibit the choice crops from Orange county ranches, Morris, the florist, and Mrs. D. Eyman Huff, in charge of the amateur and professional florticulture departments, today were busily engaged in adding the final touches to one of the most colorful displays in the entire fair.

Upon entering the main exhibition tent, from the Fifth street gateways, the visitor will step upon a raised platform, similar to those used at the great orange shows at Anaheim and San Bernardino, and here will be enabled to feast his eyes upon thousands of the most beautiful blossoms culled from the gardens and hot houses of Orange county.

"Although we were informed that is would be difficult to find a sufficient number of flowers to complete the amateur division," said Mrs. Huff, "we have found in canvassing the homes of the county that there are scores of amateur florticulturists who are eager to enter their potted plants, zinnias, cannas, chrysanthemums, begonias and marigolds in the amateur division.

Farm Centers Exhibiting

"The visitor to the fair will find the amateur departments arranged along the sides of the main agricultural tent, immediately after entering, while the professional florticulturists will have thousands of beautiful blossoms, including many roses grown here by Amling Bros., on the huge platform erected directly in the center of this tent. In the opinion of those in charge of the floral exhibits, this laughing greenery, meeting the gaze of the assembled thousands, will prove to be one of the most pleasing features of the 1922 fair."

After passing beyond the floral exhibits, the thousands of visitors will find in this main tent some of the most pretentious and carefully planned farm center exhibits ever attempted by the men and women of this county.

Included in the farm center exhibits will be a beautiful full-sized wheel, entered by the Garden Grove center, typical of the hub of agriculture in Orange county. It was at first intended that this wheel should turn, but the Garden Grove farm center having lost first division honors by a narrow margin last year, because of a technicality, decided to take no chances.

Plan Auto Displays

Not so very far from the Garden Grove exhibit will be found a minature ship, fully equipped and surrounded by agricultural products typical of the Costa Mesa district. In addition to these farm center exhibits, thirteen other centers, determined to make a fight for first place honors, will have sizable displays.

In the same tent the California Walnut Growers' association and the California Fruit exchange today were completing magnificent

COMPLETE FAIR PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

With completion today of arrangements for the appearance here tomorrow night of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who will deliver the principal address on the opening of the seventh annual Orange county fair, Manager R. D. Flaherty announced the following complete program for the week:

Tuesday—(Rotary, Orange county communities and Riverside County day). Huntington Beach band afternoon and evening. Address by Senator Johnson 8 p. m.

Wednesday—(Kiwanis, San Bernardino County day). Afternoon and evening —Broadway revue in singing and dancing specialties; Max Fisher's symphony orchestra, in specialty numbers, under direction of Eddie Teller.

Thursday—(Lions and Los Angeles County day). Afternoon—Max Fisher's symphony orchestra, in latest song and vaudeville hits. Evening— Broadway revue and miniature musical comedy.

Friday — (Realtors, Womens' clubs and San Diego County day). Afternoon and evening — Rotary boys' band, S. J. Mustol, director; original Spanish dancers from the Mission play; Bussey's trained dogs; Davy Jamison, in modern dances; selections by the Rokili quartette, composed by Ellis Rhodes, Robert Brown, Maurice Phillips and Raymond Miles of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs.

Saturday — (Farm Bureau and Children's day). The entertainment program will be virtually the same as that of Friday with a number of added events. There will be a special rodeo program in the afternoon for children of the county.

Miss Ruth Renick, motion picture star, mascot of the rodeo, will appear Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

COUNCILS OF 4 CITIES DUE TO MEET HERE

A joint meeting of city councils of Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton will be held here tonight immediately following adjournment of the session of the Santa Ana council, according to announcement made today by Mayor John W. Tubbs.

According to Tubbs, the conference will be held for discussion in a general way of the work now in progress by the four cities in con-

Vision in Banking!

WHEN Columbus sailed for America he had a great vision of the new lands before him, great cities, wealth. To his vision alone may be credited the discovery of this continent.

Vision is the great constructive force of all time. Far-sighted vision builded the great automobile factories of Detroit, railroads across a trackless plain, great cities of the West; fortunes on every side are attributable to the far-flung visions of the men who made them.

Vision is a vital force in the First National, vision in placing investments in enterprises that prosper. It is vision in the future of this community that moves us to enlarge and intensify our organization and erect a six story structure to care for our future needs.

silenced the batteries of the enemy, which soon reassembled, however, and returned to the attack, no casualties having been inflicted.

With renewal of the bombardment, Alyea was said to have yielded the field, and, driving away, he escorted his companion to her home. Then he returned, it was said, to the scene of action.

Of the mischief-makers, only the Smith boy was in sight when Alyea returned. Accounts of what followed vary, the authorities say. Alyea either fired from his car it was said, or stopped and, alighting, pursued the boy into the orchard.

At any rate a shot was fired. There was no outcry, but the Smith lad staggered a short distance and was caught as he collapsed by his companions. One leg was badly torn by a charge of shot, which also spattered his abdomen, chest and forehead. His wounds, however, proved not to be serious.

Word of the shooting was immediately sent to Sheriff Sam Jernigan's office and two details of officers were dispatched to arrest Alyea. One posse went to Santa Fe Springs, the other to Alyea's home in Richfield, but neither succeeded in finding him. He was finally taken into custody next day when he attempted to visit the home of the Yorba Linda girl.

Pending the preliminary hearing, set for tomorrow, he was subsequently released on $2,000 bail.

To Call Anti-Dance Hall Meeting Soon

With appointment Saturday by the Santa Ana Board of Realtors of F. C. Pope, president, as the board's representative on the general committee being organized here to initiate a movement looking to prevention in the future of establishment of public dance halls and boxing arenas in Orange county, W. B. Martin, as president of the Santa Ana Community Bible class, today announced that the general committee would be called together some time this week.

Martin said that virtually every organization asked to name committeemen to the general committee had done so. He told the realtors at their meeting Saturday that the movement was instituted at the instance of county police officers. He said that it was not intended to interfere with established enterprises of the character named, but to halt their increase.

LACUNAS SLOUGH FILLED WITH WATER

BY PRISCILLA EVANS.

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 24.—Survey the Slough! One of Laguna's beauty spots and village pride!

Less than two months ago it was "eliminated;" numerous loads of clean white sand were hauled in by husky specimens of one of man's best friends, the humble mule.

From below the bridge to many feet above it, the slough was filled with sand and all the old tires, tin cans and other debris that had been dumped there, were covered up.

The smell of stagnant water no longer polluted the air and the Horseshoe club, situated between the slough and the tent city, could pursue its activties undisturbed, and Fords passed over the bridge without shying.

But—to quote the scenario of the Greek Festival: "Enter Neptune and Sea Nymphs.

"Mighty Master of the Ocean!
Neptune of the Golden Trident
Oh Earthshaker! Oh Storm Maker!"

And the slough has water in it again.

The high tides and heavy surf of the past week have carried the water far up the lagoon, but since the waves have diminished in size and power, the water shows signs of sinking into the sand and will, doubtless, be gone in a day or so.

exhibits, which will bring before the spectator in a vivid manner two of Southern California's industries which have done much to enrich the residents of this favored section.

At the extreme north end of the main exhibition tent, Secretary J. B. Glaze of the Orange County Motor Trades association, assisted by leading dealers from all sections of the county, was actively engaged in arranging one of the most elaborate automotive displays ever seen in the Southland.

At the same time, Ed G. Stinson and William N. Cory, in charge of the livestock and rodeo events, were literally up to their eyes in work, bringing in valuable stock, assigning stalls and pens to eager ranchers, checking off space in livestock tent and completing last-minute details for staging the rodeo in the great outdoor stockade.

Chairman Hubert Howell, Alvin E. Block and other prominent poultrymen and pigeon fanciers, had their work cut out for them in placing hundreds of coops and cages in the poultry and pet stocks tents.

Mrs. Neal Beisel, with twenty-five associate workers of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teachers' association, late today will have all in readiness for the women's department in the baby welfare tent. Here mothers may "park" the baby with every assurance that their loved one will be given the best possible attention.

Gates will open at 10 a. m. tomorrow morning and close at midnight. The fair will continue until midnight, Saturday, September 29.

HUNT WHEEL, FIND BRANDY.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—When Chief of Police Jack Tinsley and Officers John and William Stanton went out to the northeast end of town to hunt for a stolen bicycle they failed to find the velocipede but located twenty-four pints of brandy neatly hidden in the weeds. The bicycle was found yesterday by Officer Ray Bradfield. It belonged to Neal Faulkner, carrier for the Santa Ana Register.

solidation of sewer systems and a union of all in the main outfall to the ocean, from the joint treatment plant on Talbert road.

No particular point is to be brought up, so far as Tubbs knows, the discussions being general in every way. It was pointed out that it has been some time since the four councils held a joint meeting.

The Santa Ana council will cut its business session to the shortest possible time. Tubbs said that, perhaps, the most important matter coming to the attention of the board tonight would be presentation and adoption of a resolution to readvertise for bids for the construction of the proposed ornamental lighting systems on East and West Fifth streets and West Fourth street.

Tonight also is the date set for hearing protests on the proposed repaving of West Fifth street, from Baker to the city limits. According to W. G. Knox, city engineer, there has been no intimation by property owners that they would protest the improvement.

WATER PROBLEM MORE SERIOUS SAY OIL MEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Several wells in the northwestern section of this oil field have developed water problems which bid fair to destroy the value of all sands found in this section of the field at the present time.

Development in this section is practically at a standstill while the officials of the companies affected are striving to overcome the trouble. The trouble maker is a combination of what is commonly called "pierce six" waters or bottom waters, and the ground and edge waters, for which no remedy has to the present time been discovered.

Many of the oil men in the field are free in expressing their opinion that if the waters are not stopped soon the field is practically done for the smaller companies.

It is claimed that the smaller companies have used practically all of their leases and have nothing further to develop while the larger companies still have several thousand acres still undeveloped.

With the falling off of production in the wells now down in the field and the lack of development throughout the field, it is pointed out that the production can do nothing else but decline.

The field is going to water fast, say veterans of the oil game who have been questioned in regard to the humors to the effect that the field was "done".

"In fact, said one operative, "we have discovered more water in the northwest extension of the field than we had thought could exist."

Along with all of the talk about the field falling off many of the workers and promoters as well are taking their leave of the local field for the booms now on at Torrance and other places.

With the lack of development many people are naturally out of work. During the past week three wells were brought on production. One of them the Western Seaboard, Russell No. 1, brought in at 600 barrels of about 25 gravity oil. Both of the other wells are averaging around 100 barrels.

Another phase, which might be taken into consideration, is the report that a jump in the price of crude oil is expected about the first of the year. The indicated raise is regarded as almost assured by operatives in the field, and occupied with the fact that the gasoline war is now "on the fence" and the building of several large storage tanks in the local field it is hard to predict, with even opinions of experienced men as a guide, just what may happen in the oil situation.

Truck Driver At Beach Dies Friday

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Roy L. Hurd, of 301 Seventh street this city, passed away at his home Friday night.

Mr. Hurd was a truck driver for the Standard Oil company and has lived in California for many years. He had been ill for some time, and was thought to be on the road to recovery. His death came suddenly.

Mr. Hurd was born at Storm Lake, Iowa, and came here several years ago. He is survived by a wife and a 17-year-old daughter, and two sisters here, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hurd, of Brookings, N. D.

His sister, Miss Ruth Hurd, recently came here from her home in the east to see her brother. She is employed in a down town beauty shop.

Rev. Andrew was in charge of the funeral services held here Saturday evening at 7:30. The body was shipped to Brookings, N. D.

FIVE PEOPLE RESCUED BY LIFE GUARD THIS SEASON; ONE DEATH IN FOUR YEARS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 24.—Fewer and fewer people are spending their Sundays and holidays at the beach. According to Life Guard Harry Lee the season is about over for the bathers.

As the season draws to a close the work of the life guard, caught in action in the above picture by Photographer Carson, becomes less and less perilous.

The above picture shows Lee just after having pulled W. E. Miller from the surf near the end of the pier. It was some time before Miller responded to the treatment of the guard. Miller was the fifth to be rescued from drowning by Lee during the present season.

Another fact regarding the life guard service at the local beach is the record of only one death by drowning during the past four years. A Los Angeles girl was drowned this season while in bathing nearly three miles from the life guard and other protections.

School boys are great friends of Harry Lee and through them he has been rendered valuable assistance in several instances. Two people have been rescued by these boys. Five of the best of them were taken to Long Beach by Lee where they successfully passed the life saving test conducted there under the auspices of the Red Cross. They were Eugene Belshe, Delbert "Bud" Higgins, Cecil "Billy" Jenks, Kenneth Glenn and Neal Faulkner. All of them passed the junior Life Saving test and two of them, Gene Belshe and "Bud" Higgins, successfully passed the senior life saving examination. They now hold the same certificate as is held by Life Guard Lee.

A life boat was recently purchased and the boys have become expert in its use during the summer. Next season with Harry Lee again upon the beach with his "crew" of junior and senior life guards Huntington Beach should have as good protection as any beach on the coast.

SCHOOL BOARD TO TEST BREED BILL

FULLERTON, Sept. 24.—Plans for an immediate test of the new Breed Motor Law will be discussed tomorrow afternoon by trustees of the Fullerton high school, it was announced today.

While the first steps have been taken by Fullerton, every board in the state is interested in the case, it is said. Anaheim districts are particularly hard hit by the section of the law which requires that the trucks be brought back to the school grounds each evening, instead of allowing them to be kept in garages at the ends of the lines.

If court action is sought on the law in question, Fullerton will have an excellent case, according to opinions of prominent attorneys. As it now is, the age limit for public passenger and commercial vehicles transporting people, is only eighteen years, with a three year discrimination in ages shown against the school bus system, which requires that drivers be twenty-one years old.

Fullerton is hard hit by the new law on account of the size of the school district. With the abolishing of student drivers, it will cost the district about $1,800 per month extra, it is stated. Other districts of the county and state are also hard hit and as a result the eyes of school trustees through the state will be centered on action by the Fullerton trustees.

Garden Grove Boy Sees His Quarters At College Burned

Charles Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lake of Garden Grove, was one of the Orange county students at the state university at Berkeley to suffer in the disastrous fire there last week. Lake's letter to his parents, in which he described the blaze, was printed Saturday on the Orange County News page.

BREA OIL WORKERS TO ERECT CENTER

BREA, Sept. 24.—Ground will be broken in Brea this week for the first oil workers' home to be erected in Southern California, it is officially announced by a well known Anaheim financier who directed the financing of the building, which will cost approximately $48,000.

Members of the Brea Local No. 27, of the Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, formed a building company known as the Oil Workers Union Building corporation with J. L. Rhone as president, and James Grewco as secretary. The company is being assisted in its efforts by committees from the Brea union.

The building will be located on Pomona avenue, adjoining the Red Lantern theater. It will be two-story, 60 by 150 feet and will be constructed of brick with an ornamental brick front. The ground floor will be made into two stores.

The second floor is to be used for many different purposes and will be used as the community center of Brea.

Entrance will be by stairway in center of the building. At the top will be a large lobby and secretary's room. Immediately to the right is a library room and across the hall to the left is a room exclusively for women where meetings will be held. Directly to the rear of this room is a large banquet hall fitted with kitchen for use of different organizations.

Adjoining the banquet hall is the spacious lodge room, fitted to conform to the standard of Masonic lodges. This room is already under lease to the Brea Masonic lodge. The front of the second floor will be made into office suites. The floor is so arranged that meetings can be held in one or all of the rooms at the same time.

Plans are under way for the laying of the cornerstone with impressive ceremonies and a big celebration and program has been arranged with speakers of national prominence. The building will be owned by union men and will be a monument to organized labor of Southern California, it is said.

BEANPICKERS SCORE VICTORY ON ERROR

Fly to Left Is Muffed and Irvine Slams Out Win Over Hughes Co.

With the bases full and two out, "Toughy" Tyrrell, Irvine pitcher, yesterday lifted an easy fly to left field for what should have been the third out of the fourth inning. Johnson, Hughes Ice Cream company left fielder, allowed the ball to drop through his glove, however, and two runs filtered across the rubber on the error. After Cutting had walked, Johnny Arambel drove out a two-bagger to left and another brace of tallies were across the pan.

Those four runs scored on and after Johnson's muff allowed Arthur Trickey's Irvine Beanpickers to defeat the Hughes club, 8 to 4.

Irvine will play the El Monte club next Sunday at Irvine. These teams went to a 12-inning tie two weeks ago.

GIANTS MEET REDS IN CRUCIAL SERIES

Champions Almost Cinch to Win But Cincinnati May Upset Dope

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—With the end of a very hard road they have been pounding all through the season in sight, the New York Giants have two chances today and tomorrow to grab the few points that will virtually cinch the National league pennant.

With a lead of four games, the world champions of 1921 and 1922 will engage in a pair of games with the Reds in Cincinnati and if the New Yorkers show their established ability to do their best when it is most needed, they will leave the Ohio city with the pennant.

Need Two Victories

As it now stands, the Giants have to win only one half of their remaining games to cop the pennant, even if the Reds should not suffer a defeat in their remaining six games.

If the Giants take both games from the Reds they cannot lose the pennant, but if the Reds should pop out with one of their winning fits, the McGraw clan will be in a most serious situation.

While eight games remain on the schedule for the Giants it is possible that they will have to play only seven of them. One game is a postponed game with the St. Louis Cards and unless it becomes of vital importance in deciding the pennant it is likely that the game will be cancelled.

Arrange For Series

Officials of the two leagues and the commission will meet tomorrow, "some place in the east" to make arrangement for the series. The opening date, the scene of the first game and the scale of prices will be decided upon.

While there has been much demand for lower prices and some change in the method of selling tickets, it is unlikely that the magnates will agree to charge any less than last year and it is probable that the same system will be followed in selling the tickets.

Dr. Claycomb has moved to 715 North Main St. Phone 614.

ENGAGE KID SUNDAY FOR DICK GRIFFIN

San Diego Bantam Replaces Art Springer on Orana Card Tomorrow

Kid Sunday, San Diego batamweight, will oppose "Dandy Dick" Griffin in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night instead of Art Springer, Matchmaker C. I. McCoy announced today.

Feeling that Springer, good a boy as he is, would not make it interesting for the clever Fort Worth 118-pounder, McCoy began a search for a more formidable rival which ended when Kid Sunday was located and engaged.

Sunday holds a draw with Eddie Macey, the boy who battled Griffin to the same verdict at Hollywood Friday night. Springer was kayoed in two rounds by Kid Pancho, flyweight champion of the Southwest, but Sunday held Pancho to an even decision. Sunday lost a close decision to Danny Kramer, has drawn with Young Hoppe, Jack Burns, Joe Pimenthal and Jimmie Brenton. He stopped Ted Levin in two rounds and outpointed Kid Moha.

The winner of the Marty Burman-Jack Iman semi-windup tussle will get a chance to exchange swats with Louie Alvaredo, San Diego middleweight, McCoy announced. Iman, local boy, completed a week of hard training today and is primed to give this Burman fellow four rounds of excitement. Burman is a willing mixer and is said to keep both hands flying from the first to the last bell.

Toby Montoya, Placentia boy, will tangle with Jack Lewis, a two-handed kid, in the feature preliminary.

Johnny Nandez, Anaheim, mingles with Paul Donza, brother of Ashton Donza, the New Orleans flyweight, next down the list.

Jack Reid, vs. Billy Jordan, 130 pounds.

Eddie Doolis, vs. Gil Davis, 124 pounds.

Curly Brown, vs. K. O. Brown, 140 pounds.

POLY, TUSTIN MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Looking better as it began to hit more of a machine-like drive, Ed Covington's Santa Ana high school football candidates this afternoon were to report for their third week of intensive practice with two chances to show just what they have.

Covington and his assistant, "Big Bill" Cole, will lead their charges in a practice scrimmage here Wednesday against Ray Walker's Huntington Beach Oil Drillers and go to Tustin Friday afternoon for a regular fifteen-minute quarter contest.

The Tustin melee is expected to show Covington and Cole what their cohorts can do under fire as the Orange Pickers have virtually the same lineup this season as it had last year.

Sport Flashes

NEW YORK—Notre Dame and the Army will play their annual intersectional football game at Ebbets Field October 13. The game had been scheduled for the Polo Grounds, but was made impossible by the world's series. The Brooklyn baseball club will handle the tickets.

SALT LAKE CITY—If Luis Firpo stops eating so much and gets a good American trainer he will be a much better fighter, Jack Dempsey said when he arrived here for a short visit. Dempsey does not intend to fight again until next year.

In the Big Leagues

Caveney's error let in the only run scored off Luque and the Reds cut a half game off the lead of the Giants by beating the Robins, 5-1. It was Luque's twenty-sixth victory.

* * *

Tight pitching by Genewich and Cooney gave the Braves a double win over the Cards at 2-1 and 3-0.

* * *

After dropping the first game to the Senators 12 to 10 when four pitchers failed, the Indians rallied behind Edwards and won the second game, 6 to 0.

* * *

Four runs scored on a rally in the eighth inning enabled the Cubs to beat the Phils, 4 to 1.

Sea Bandits Wound Fisherman, Get $100

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Two seafaring bandits followed M. Wapanabe, Japanese fisherman, out to sea in a small skiff, attempted to hold him up and rob him, and then shot him in the head when he refused their demands.

The bandits then took $100 from Wapanabe. The bullet inflicted a minor wound in the fisherman's head and it was with difficulty that he managed to bring his boat back into Los Angeles harbor.

FATHER, 82, CLAIMS SON DEFRAUDED HIM

Seeking to recover possession of his home, which he alleged his son and daughter-in-law took from him fraudulently, Anton Lentz, 82, of Newport Heights, was plaintiff today in a suit filed in the superior court here against Joseph Lentz, the son, and Alma, wife o fthe latter.

According to the complaint, which was filed through Attorneys A. P. Nelson and C. N. Mozley, the son and his wife came from Denver and succeeded in persuading the father to convey his property to them, last February, at a price of $4,000, whereas the property was worth $6,000, the plaitiff claimed.

The pair professed sympathy for his old age, the elder Lentz set forth, and agreed to provide a home for him. Money with which to pay for the place was in a Denver bank the father alleged he was told, adding the money was to have been paid him when the deed was signed.

After the signing of the deed, however, instead of paying over the money, the defendants began to mistreat the father, he charges. According to his complaint, they ordered him off the place and finally assaulted him, beating him so badly that he was taken to the county hospital.

Faces Rum Charge As His Car Hits Others

Alleged to have crowded one automobile into the ditch and to have crashed his machine against the rear of still another car, W. H. Smith, Riverside, was today charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

City Motorcycle Officer Barnhill, who arrested Smith on South Main street late Saturday, swore to the complaint today.

It was claimed that Smith's driving forced A. Peterson, Fullerton motorist, into the ditch, and, shortly afterward, it was stated, Smith's car struck the rear of a machine driven by Mrs. Elmer Heidt, of Santa Ana.

File Change of Venire Case In Court Here

Brought to Orange county on a change of venue from Los Angeles county courts, a suit filed against L. Hemmerling and wife by the California Law and Adjustment company, a Los Angeles collection agency, was filed today in the superior court here.

The plaintiff seeks to recover $496.81 from the Hemmerlings, alleging that sum to be due on merchandise bought from the Dairymen's Feed and Supply company, which alleged account was placed with the collection agency.

County Traffic Squad Wear Nobby Uniforms

Smart olive drab uniforms, with white stripes on the cuffs, brass buttons and shiny Sam Browne belts adorned the Orange county squad of the state motor vehicle force here today. Captain Warner and his aides, Vernon Myers, Louis Heffner and Frank Stewart appeared in the new equipment.

Uniform caps, boots and holsters have not yet been received by the squad.

RUM CASE TRIAL SET.

Trial of E. Montegano, of Delhi, charged with having possession of liquor, was today set by Justice J. B. Cox for October 18 at 9 a. m. when Montegano pleaded not guilty to the charge. The latter was held in jail under $100 bail. Deputy Sheriffs Dan Adams and Ed McClellan arrested Montegano Saturday evening in a raid at Delhi.

The WHY Series No. 1

70% Building Loans

THE SECURITY HOUSING CORPORATION

WHY?

Because:

1. Each loan includes SECURITY SERVICE — supervision and protection—which assures a well built house, free from liens.
2. The borrower gets the buying power of a $5,000,000.00 corporation; house values, therefore, are on bed rock cost.
3. A ten-year monthly repayment plan is easy for anyone who can pay rent.

HOW MANY OPPORTUNITIES HAVE YOU LOST?

A thousand times I've heard men say something like this: "What a chump I am. I could have bought that corner two years ago for a song. Now it's worth $75,000." You used to buy a pound of beefsteak for 15c and have them throw in a pound of liver, too, but you'll never do it again. Neither will you live to see the day when $75,000 corners can be bought for a song in Southern California. This country is about 20% developed. It has taken 75 years to bring it where it is. Do you think you will live to see it fully developed?

The general complaint is that people lack "foresight." But foresight is not a matter of guessing nor lack of luck. Foresight is a matter of careful analysis. Foresight consists of KNOWING what is going to happen, and the only sure way of knowing what will happen is to MAKE it happen, yourself.

Several of the most important developments in the county will occur within one year. After they happen a lot of fellows will still be saying "What a chump I am."

The trouble with most of us is that we've been here too long. We've looked at them so long that extraordinary things appear commonplace. We need to look at them with new eyes. Isn't it a fact that most of the big developments and big profits have been worked out by comparative strangers? Count them up and see.

I'd like to tell you about a lot of things that are going to happen. I'd like to show you where and how you can make your money bring home the bacon in large chunks. But I don't know whether you are susceptible to anything of the kind or not unless you make yourself known. If you have an idea that can be developed into anything practical, let's develop it. You might be surprised at the help I can give you. If I can't help you it will not cost you anything and anything you have to say will be entirely confidential. I'll put my time against yours. If you have something like $25,000 to invest and can raise some more in a pinch, I can show you today how to add $150,000 to it without any risk. A stranger could see it in a minute. So can the rest of us, after the stranger gets the profit.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

Pursuant to statute and to Resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana directing this notice, said City of Santa Ana invites sealed proposals or bids for doing the following work in said city, to-wit, the construction of an ornamental lighting system in portions of West Fourth Street, East Fifth Street and West Fifth Street in said city.

The work to be done and improvement made on, in and along West Fourth Street, East Fifth Street and West Fifth Street is briefly described as follows:

(a) The construction for the purpose of lighting West Fourth Street between the West line of North Ross Street and the East line of North Artesia Street, of an ornamental lighting system to consist of eighty-six (86) double light standards of the type and kind known as Design No. 1724-S, as manufactured by the Union Metal Manufacturing Company. The shaft shall be of 2 ply 22 gauge copper bearing steel, and each standard shall rest upon a concrete foundation, twenty-four (24) inches square at the top, laid to the sidewalk grade and as otherwise provided in the detailed plans hereinafter referred to, thirty (30) inches square at the bottom, with a thickness of twenty-four (24) inches. Forty-three (43) of said light standards shall be erected on each side of West Fourth Street, at the points designated upon the said detailed plans, and conduits and conduit bends of Greenfieluct or Galvanite of 1¼ inch inside diameter inclosing cables shall be laid to connect the said standards; the radius of bends shall be not less than 8 inches and the cables used shall be No. 8 B. & S. gauge insulated copper wire. Each light standard shall be fitted with General Electric Form Number 12 Ornamental Novalux unit for 250 candle power 6.6 ampere lamps, with Number 103 Globe and Number 1103 canopy, polycase glassware attached to each side arm.

(b) The construction, for the purpose of lighting East Fifth Street between the West line of French Street and the East line of North Main Street, and of West Fifth Street between the West line of North Main Street and the East line of Shelton Street, of an ornamental lighting system to consist of eighty-six (86) double light standards of the same type kind, shafts, foundations, connection, installation, conduits, cables, light fittings, globes, canopies and appurtenances as hereinabove described to be installed on West Fourth Street, forty-three (43) of said light standards to be erected on each side of East and West Fifth Street, at the points designated upon the detailed plans.

The aforesaid lighting system on West Fourth Street shall be connected with the transformer described in Paragraph "c" hereof; the lighting system on East and West Fifth Street shall be connected with each of the transformers mentioned in Paragraphs "c" and "d" hereof, for the purpose of the different hours of service thereon.

(c) The construction of one (1) reinforced concrete transformer vault on the West side of North Flower Street between West Fourth Street and West Fifth Street, complete in accordance with the plans and specifications on file herein.

(d) The construction of one (1) reinforced concrete transformer vault on the North side of West Fifth Street between Sycamore Street and Broadway, complete in accordance with the plans and specifications on file herein.

(e) The installation of conduits connecting the two above mentioned vaults to the respective conduit systems and circuits and the complete wiring of conduits and poles in circuits in accordance with the plans and specifications.

All of the hereinbefore mentioned work shall be done in accordance with the plans and specifications adopted therefor by the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, by Resolution 1007 on the 28th day of May, 1923, for said work, and which plans and specifications are now on file in the office of the Clerk of the City of Santa Ana, and to which reference is hereby made for a more complete description of said work.

That the contemplated work and improvement hereinbefore mentioned is in the opinion of the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, of more than local or ordinary public benefit and the Board of Trustees of the said city hereby makes the expenses of such work and improvement chargeable on a district, which district said Board of Trustees hereby declares to be the district benefitted by said work and improvement, and to be assessed to pay the cost and expense thereof, and which said district is bounded and described as follows:

All that real property situated in the City of Santa Ana, County of Orange, State of California, included within the following exterior boundary lines:

Beginning at the point of intersection of the center line of East Fifth Street with the center line of French Street; thence Southerly along the center line of French Street a distance of 155 feet; thence Westerly parallel to the center line of East and West Fifth Street to an intersection with the center line of North Ross Street; hence Southerly along the center line of North Ross Street to a point in the said center line 165 feet Southerly from the point of intersection of the center line of West Fourth Street with the center line of North Ross Street, thence Westerly parallel to the center line of West Fourth Street to an intersection with the center line of North Artesia Street; thence Northerly along the center line of North Artesia Street to a point in the said center line 165 feet Northerly from the point of intersection of the Westerly extended center line of West Fourth Street with the center line of North Artesia Street; thence Easterly parallel to the center line of West Fourth Street to an intersection with the center line of North Shelton Street thence Northerly along the center line of North Shelton Street and said center line produced Northerly to an intersection with the center line of West Fifth Street; thence Westerly along the center line of West Fifth Street to an intersection with the Southerly extended center line of North Shelton Street; thence Northerly along the center line of North Shelton Street a distance of 155 feet; thence Easterly parallel to the center line of West and East Fifth Street to an intersection with the center line of French Street; thence Southerly along the center line of French Street a distance of 155 feet to the point of beginning.

Said Board of Trustees determine and notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent said unpaid assessments, and bear interest at the rate of six (6%) per cent per annum, will be issued hereunder in the manner provided by the Improvement Bond Act of 1915; the last installment of which bonds shall mature nine (9) years from the second day of July, next succeeding nine (9) months from their date.

All of said work to be done according to the specifications posted and on file and heretofore adopted for doing said work.

Reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 1008 of said city, declaring its intention to order said work to be done, for further particulars, which Resolution is on file in the office of the Clerk of the City of Santa Ana.

Bids for doing said work are invited as follows:

Item 1.—The installation and construction of an ornamental street lighting system, including the installation of lighting standards and lights, the construction of transformer vaults, and the laying of conduits and cables complete in accordance with the plans and specifications for the sum of ..... ($.....) complete.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a check payable to the City of Santa Ana, certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent (10%) of the aggregate of the proposal, or by a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before an officer competent to administer an oath in double the said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Clerk of the said City of Santa Ana on or before five o'clock p. m. on the 8th day of October, 1923, said time being not less than ten days from the time of the first publication and posting of this notice.

Bids will be opened on said day at 7:30 P. M. The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana reserves the right to reject any and all bids or proposals.

Dated this 18th day of September, 1923.

Attest: E. L. VEGELY,
(Seal) Clerk of the City of Santa Ana.

In the Matter of the Estate of Harold S. Keating, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that Friday, the 28th day of September, 1923, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day, at the Court room of this Court, Department No. 2, in the City of Santa Ana, County of Orange, State of California, has been appointed as the time and place for hearing the application of Mary Victoria Keating, praying that a document now on file in this Court, purporting to be the last Will and Testament of the said deceased, be admitted to probate, that Letters Testamentary be issued thereon to Mary Victoria Keating at which time and place all persons inerested therein may appear and contest the same.

Dated September 18th, 1923.

J. M. BACKS, County Clerk.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

The City of Santa Ana, Orange County, California, will receive sealed bids up until seven-thirty o'clock p. m., October 1st, 1923, at the office of the City Clerk of Santa Ana, and will be opened in public at a meeting of the Board of Trustees on said date and time, for furnishing materials and labor for the erection and completion of two new suburban fire station buildings, in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by H. Newton Thornton, Architect, 315 Hill Building, Santa Ana, California.

Bidder's Bond or Cashier's or Certified check for an amount not less than five (5%) per cent of the amount of total bid will accompany each proposal, made payable to the order of the City Clerk of Santa Ana, as a guarantee that the bidder will, if requested, within ten days after being notified of the acceptance of his bid, enter into a contract and furnish a satisfactory bond.

The above mentioned Cashier's check or Bidder's Bond shall be given as evidence that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested so to do by the Board of Trustees.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish the bond of a Surety Company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of Santa Ana, covering an amount approximately equal to seventy-five (75%) per cent of the contract price.

Plans and Specifications for the above work may be seen or obtained from the City Clerk of Santa Ana, or at the office of the Architect.

A deposit of ten ($10.00) dollars will be required from all contractors receiving Plans. Said deposit will be refunded when Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents are returned in good condition.

By Order of the Board of Trustees of Santa Ana, California.

Dated this 14th day of September, 1923.

NOTICE OF FILING LIST OF UNPAID ASSESSMENTS.

Spurgeon Street.

Pursuant to Statute, notice is hereby given that the warrant and assessment, dated the 27th day of July, 1923, for the work done and improvement made by Wells and Bressler, under a contract awarded to them on the 8th day of March, 1923, on a portion of Spurgeon Street, an open public street in the City of Santa Ana, which work was ordered done and made by Resolution No. 942, passed the 19th day of February, 1923, has been returned to the Superintendent of Streets in the City of Santa Ana and the return by him recorded in his office July 31st, 1923. After the full expiration of thirty (30) days from the date of said warrant, the Street Superintendent duly made up and filed with the undersigned Clerk of the City of Santa Ana and the Board of Trustees thereof, a complete list of all assessments unpaid upon the Assessment, which list is and remains on file in my office. Reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 926 of the City of Santa Ana, passed January 29th, 1923, for a description of the work therein mentioned.

Interested persons may appear before the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana in the Council Chamber thereof at the hour of 7:30 o'clock p. m. the 8th day of October, 1923, which is the time and place herein fixed by me for such hearing and show cause why bonds should not be issued upon the security of the assessments shown on said list.

Notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments and bearing interest at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum will be issued hereunder in the manner provided by the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, the last installment of which bonds shall mature nine (9) years from the 2nd day of July next succeeding nine months from their date.

Dated this 21st day of September, 1923.

ORDINANCE NO. 223

An Ordinance Regulating and Licensing Pool Rooms and Public Dances within the County of Orange, outside the territory of Incorporated Cities, fixing a penalty for the Violation thereof.

Sec. 1.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, either as principal, owner, manager, or employee, to conduct a pool room, or a public dance, within the County of Orange, outside of the territory of incorporated cities, without first procuring a license so to do as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2.

For the purpose of this Ordinance, a pool room is hereby defined to be any place open to the public where billiards, pool or bagatelle is played, except a private house and except the rooms of a bona fide fraternal organization, where the general public is allowed to play therein, whether any compensation or reward is charged for the use of such tables or not.

Sec. 3.

A public dance for the purpose of this Ordinance is defined to be any dance which is conducted at stated intervals as a business, admission to which is open to the general public and for admission to which any compensation is charged, either directly or indirectly, for the entire period or for single dances.

Sec. 4.

Any person desiring to obtain a license to conduct a pool room or a public dance shall file with the Board of Supervisors a written application therefor, signed and sworn to by the applicant, or by an officer thereof if applicant is a corporation, stating the exact location of the place where said pool room or public dance is to be conducted and the name or number of the voting precinct in which such place is situated.

The Board of Supervisors shall have the discretion to deny such application if it shall appear to the Board that the applicant is not of good moral character or is an unfit person to manage or conduct such pool room or public dance, or that by reason of the place where such pool room or public dance is to be located, the conducting or carrying on of such pool room or public dance would be detrimental to the public health, public order or public morals. Any license issued upon the order of the Board of Supervisors shall authorize such pool room or public dance to be carried on only at the place set forth in the application therefor, provided, however, that the Board of Supervisors may by order entered upon its minutes, authorize a transfer of such license from one place to another within such precinct. Such license shall not be transferable except upon written application to the Board of Supervisors and by order entered upon the minutes of the Board.

Sec. 5.

The fees for the issuance of license granted hereunder shall be the sum of SIX DOLLARS ($6.00) for the term of one year and pro rata for any fractional part of a year, and all licenses granted hereunder shall expire on the 31st day of December of each year.

Sec. 6.

The County Clerk shall, when so instructed by the Board of Supervisors and upon payment of the fees hereinbefore mentioned, issue to the applicant a license to conduct a pool room or public dance at the location specified in the order of the Board of Supervisors for the current year ending December 31st.

Sec. 7.

The Board of Supervisors may at any time revoke said license for cause by giving ten days notice in writing to the licensee, provided, however, upon written application to said Board of Supervisors, the licensee shall be entitled to a hearing upon the revocation of said license. But a determination of the Board upon the revocation of said license shall be final and conclusive upon such revocation.

Sec. 8.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than FIFTY DOLLARS ($50.00) nor more than FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500.00), or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a period of not less than thirty (30) days nor more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 9.

This Ordinance shall take effect thirty days from and after its adoption and prior to fifteen days from the adoption thereof shall be published for at least one week in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a newspaper published in the County of Orange, State of California, together with the names of the members of the Board of Supervisors voting for or against the same.

Ayes: Supervisors S. H. Finley, Wm. Schumacher, George Jeffrey, T. B. Talbert and Leon O. Whitsell.
Noes: Supervisors, none.
Absent: Supervisors, none.

THE FAIR'S SUCCESS ASSURED

The success of the County Fair is already assured. The character and number of the exhibits, the certainty of high class entertainment, the enthusiasm that has been expressed, the care with which the entire matter has been brought forward to the eve of the opening—all these things leave no question concerning the outcome. It's to be a great fair, unquestionably the greatest of all the fairs held in Orange county.

The fair is thoroughly established as an annual event. It is bound to grow in importance year by year, for the county is expanding and the popularity of the fair with those who attend it each year grows stronger year by year.

Orange county with its wonderful variety of fruits, vegetables, and other products of the soil, with its growing commercial industries, is peculiarly able to put on a great fair. No county in all the world can grow a greater number of profitable crops than can Orange county. Whether it be citrus fruits, which is the greatest of the products of our soil, or beans, or beets or walnuts, all of which bring into this county annually millions of dollars, or hay and grain, alfalfa, apricots, celery, or tomatoes, all crops that bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars, or avocados and other semi-tropical fruits, Orange county holds its own against the world.

The people of Orange county can very well take great pride in this year's County Fair. They can with confidence and satisfaction invite friends from anywhere within reach of Santa Ana by automobile this week to come to the fair. None will be disappointed.

And The Register at this time joins with others of this city in extending a hearty welcome to visitors from here, there and everywhere in Southern California. While the greatest portion of those attending the fair, of course, will be residents of the county, hundreds of visitors will come from points outside the county.

To all of them, welcome!

THE KINGS OF TODAY

Nothing could show more clearly the decadence of the old king idea than the recent history of Italy and Spain.

Premier Mussolini, former Socialist and present Fascist, is absolute head of the Italian government. When he sprang his celebrated coup, several months ago, he assumed all the important government functions. He spared King Victor Emmanuel. He even professed loyalty to the king. But the deference he pays is to a mere figurehead.

Royalty is reduced to a mere pose. The "monarch" acquiesces in the rule of Mussolini, and does his bidding in essential matters, because there is nothing else to do. It is the only way he can hold his place. Governments may come and go, but he has nothing to do with them except to sign on the dotted line in order to endow their acts with legality.

It is the same in Spain, as a result of the quick, successful little revolution put over the other day by a military clique. Gen. Primo Rivera is ruler of Spain, ousting the government which lately gave him orders. He, like Mussolini, professes to be acting for the welfare of King Alfonso, and Alfonso smilingly accepts the situation, swings over and endorses Rivera's acts as he is bidden.

Bonaparte made monkeys of kings, for a little while, but they rallied after his departure. Now, where they remain in Europe, they are reduced to the status of composite social leader and notary public. Any upstart with enough political backing can order them around, and they can only smile and obey orders while maintaining their theatrical pose and pretending that the authority emanates from them.

COMPANY AT MEALS

Some American boys get into the White House without being President of the United States. There was a whole batch of lively young Americans there during the Roosevelt administration. There are two there now, and any of their contemporaries who are inclined to envy them their privileges should harken to their mild complaints.

Among their Washington friends the Coolidge boys are said to regard highly the elevator man at the hotel where they lived before their father became President. To him they have been telling their troubles, according to a news dispatch.

"Well, how's everything over at the White House?" he asked them. "'S'alright'," is the quoted answer. "What kind of grub do you get over there?" persisted the inquiring friend. "Oh, the food is real good. But we have company at meals all the time."

Then, after further questions, came the complete confession. "Say, Mac, I guess we sound unappreciative, but you know the White House really cramps your style, with secret service men following you around and everything. You know, I'd like to be back on the farm."

The Coolidge lads may learn in time to enjoy life at the White House thoroughly. But it is an arresting thought—company at meals all the time and ever-present secret service men.

COAL REMEDY PROPOSED

The federal fact-finding coal commission made 37 recommendations in its report of September 14. It suggested very little legislation, but urged the continued study of coal production and the discovery of further facts concerning it. It urged also that existing conciliation and arbitration agencies be strengthened.

If its report is to accomplish the good it should, there must be plenty of publicity on all its 37 recommendations. Representatives of the industry itself—both operators and miners—need to study the report; Congress should study it; the public should study it.

Understanding, intelligence, co-operation, good will are among the remedies for coal troubles which the commission seems to believe in. "Moral pressure," it maintains, should come before legal coercion.

They are remedies which might successfully be applied to any public or industrial problem. But to apply them everybody concerned has got to do his share.

IT'S UP TO PICNICKERS

A few years ago the practice, adopted in some eastern cities, of arresting picnickers who litter up the parks with refuse of their meals, would have been considered unnecessarily drastic. Now it arouses general approval. So favorable is the reaction, on the part of the cleanly and decent majority, that the plan may be widely adopted.

The East, possibly, is more in need of violent reform along this line than the West, because it has been slower to take up the camping practices which sooner or later result in orderly outdoor eating. It takes time and experience, somehow, for a lot of people to get it into their heads that it is even worse to be sloppy in a public place than in their own dining room at home. But the idea does percolate. Anything that will hasten the process is welcome, for at the rate with which the American people are taking to the outdoor life, all outdoors would soon be an intolerable mess if the sloppy folk had their way.

A Phase of the Fire

Fresno Republican.

There is no such thing as security.

But there can be a nearness to security. Even this, few of us understand, or prepare.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, former president of the University of California, presents a pathetic picture. He is seen in the ruins of Berkeley, in the desolate spot but a few days ago covered with beautiful homes, priceless gardens, native forestry. He is groping among the ashes of his home. He hopes to find remaining a few odds and ends that may have escaped the fire. There may be some example of rocks, there may be some charred remains of books. He had some that were priceless, the gleanings of years, the joy of his evenings, the pets of his idle hours. Here in his library he could review again the mental adventures of his scholarly youth, of his purposeful maturity, the by-ways of his later years when he was the constructive leader of California scholarship.

Now all is gone. An autumn wind, a careless camper, a home on hills with little water and inadequate fire apparatus, and the years have faded.

In this city, we are told, the price of fire protection was so great that few, even of the better to do residents, could afford it. Insurance was a dangerous risk and therefore too expensive to be had.

And yet, in this area, there were erected great stretches of houses that were not merely homes in the human sense; they were treasure houses of lives; they were monuments of attainment. But they were as vulnerable as Achilles' heel to the chance of flames.

Human Side to All Men

Pasadena Star-News.

President Coolidge, good-naturedly assisting a newspaper photographer to move a desk about his hotel room to get favorable poses, and then chaffing the photographer and the reporter who accompanied him, reveals the truly human side of the White House chief. Mr. Coolidge is not the cold, distant man Washingtonians had conceived him to be. He is kindly and genial, once his New England reserve is broken.

From Andrew Jackson down, there have been Presidents with temperament and with distinctive human traits. Abraham Lincoln was perhaps the most "human," so to speak, of all the Presidents. He indulged most in humor. Even in the darkest hours of the Civil War, when the fate of the Union hung in the balance, Mr. Lincoln eased the strain of the tragic hours by relating humorous anecdotes.

Colonel Roosevelt was intensely human. He wore the dignities of the Presidency properly, but he never bent under the weight of them. He delighted to say and to do the unconventional. He broke tradition after tradition, while he was in the White House.

Presidents are men—bone of the common people's bone and flesh of their flesh. They have their hours of relaxation and relish levity, at times, just as do ordinary mortals. They are not topheavy with solemnity and dignity.

Irresponsible Criticism

Stockton Independent.

The Supreme Court has just sustained the order of the State Railroad Commission fixing local and interurban rates on the Pacific Electric railway, serving parts of Los Angeles and a large number of suburban communities.

It is given a line in the dispatches. News memory is short.

For this is the case that called forth the famous letter of Governor Stephens urging the commission to reconsider its order. The commission in restrained language resented the governor's intervention which, whatever the motive, had the appearance of attempted use of political influence in what was largely a judicial determination.

The rate decision of the Commission proved extremely unpopular in the South and it undoubtedly had much to do with the vote of last November.

But here is the most interesting fact about the case. When it was taken before the court the reasonableness of the fares was not questioned. The protestants in speeches and in the press denounced the fares as outrageous; but when they presented their case to a responsible tribunal they did not question the justness of the rates.

This is the tragedy of irresponsible public criticism.

Already He Is Learning

Dubuque (Ia.) Times-Journal.

Senator-elect Magnus Johnson told newspaper correspondents that we are in danger of a revolution in this country, but when asked what specific remedy he had to suggest he replied that right now he has nothing worked out. "It will have to be worked out by Congress."

And there you have it.

Magnus Johnson was elected on censure of Congress for failure to work things out to suit his ideas of how they ought to be worked out, but after he is elected and asked what he has to suggest, his reply is that "right now I have nothing worked out. It will have to be worked out by Congress."

Senator Johnson is finding out that it takes something besides a big voice to shape sound national policies.—Dubuque (Ia.) Times-Journal.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THAT OLD SPRAINED ANKLE.

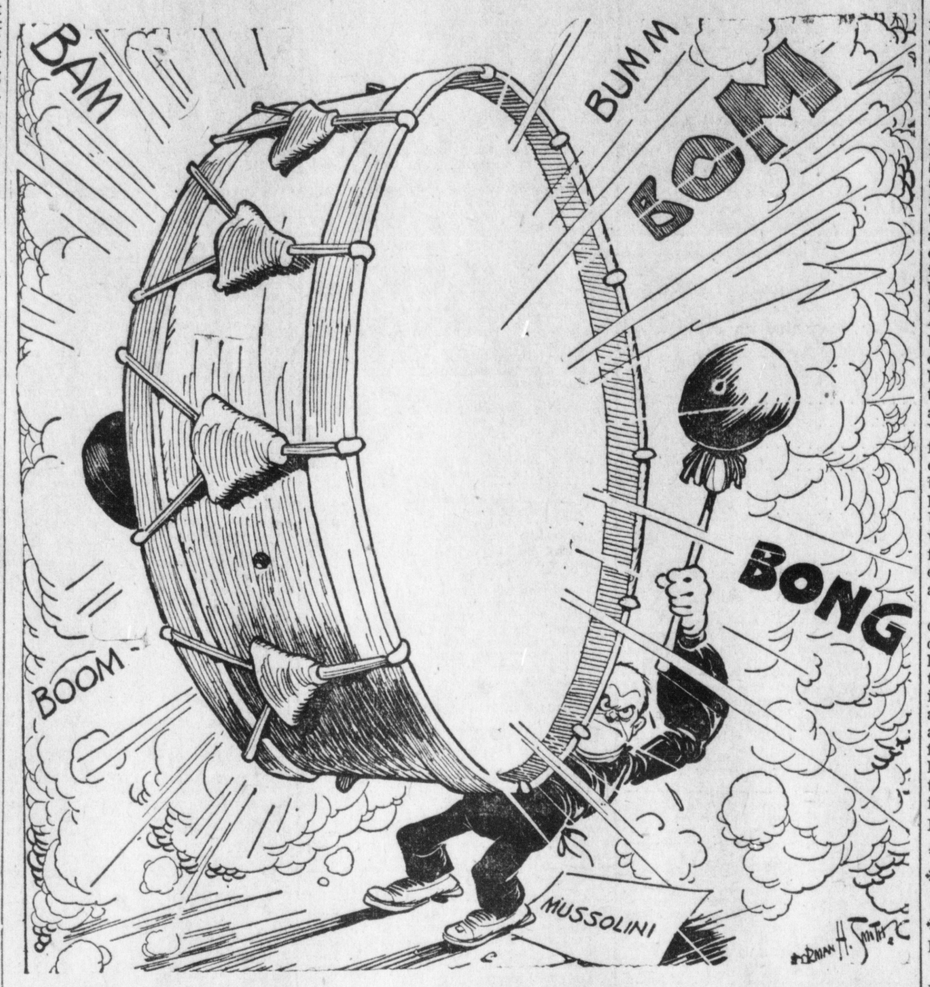

So many people possess one of these nuisances that a word about it might be of service. In nearly every case it is on the outer side of the ankle, and there is a history of going over on it very often, with sometimes a limp for a number of days thereafter.

Now, how to get it right again.

The first thing to remember is that it happened first some time ago and treatment such as rest, massage, and so forth is not now your first consideration. There is only one way to get the joint strong again and that is by use and that is just where the mistakes are made.

The first thing is to get a five yard roll of one inch adhesive tape and tear off two pieces a foot long. Now turn your foot outward as far as you can. Take one piece of adhesive and attach is just under inner ankle bone, then bring it under the foot and across the upper part of the foot just in front of outer ankle bone, and upward to inner side of leg. Take the second piece of adhesive and place it half way over the previous one and toward the toes, follow the same course up to inner side of leg. Thus you have an artificial ligament that is practically as strong as a normal ligament. Wear this for four or five days—no longer—then remove it, and after putting some talcum powder on the leg, put on two more strips. Repeat this for a month or six weeks, and then put on a factory cotton figure of eight bandage with the "pull" in the same direction and wear it for a couple of months. During all this time you use your ankle in any way you like, confident in the knowledge that the srips of adhesive will support you in safety.

Growth of Santa Ana

Riverside Enterprise

Success breeds success. Santa Ana is growing fast and is advertising the fact so thoroughly that is continues to grow still faster. In 1922 the building permits there amounted to $3,771,831. The permits for the present year up to date amount to $4,015,237. The 1920 census showed Santa Ana to have 15,485 population. It is now estimated that it has a population of more than 26,000.

A recent issue of the Santa Ana Register contains pictures of a number of buildings under construction or contemplated. In connection with this page The Register says:

Building records show that Santa Ana today is growing at a pace that is 50 per cent faster than it was a year ago.

The construction under way in Santa Ana today includes every class, all the way from small dwellings up to the great six-story Class A office building that is being erected at Fourth and Main by the First National bank.

New schoolhouses, new business blocks, fine new residences, a big market building, a Y. M. C. A., a hall of records, a big church, a gas company building, these are being built.

A hospital, two new fire houses, fine residences—these are but a few of the buildings for which architects have drawn plans.

The pictures show a new First National Bank building, under construction. It is a strictly Class A building, six stories high. A new county hall of records is shown, a proposed new hospital building, a large Masonic hall, new $232,000 Y. M. C. A. building and numerous palatial homes.

Part of Santa Ana's growth is due to the wonderful agricultural country around it, intensive horticulture, the development of some great oil fields, beach resort development, harbor improvements at Newport and an optimistic enthusiasm on the part of all of its people.

Worth While Verse

WHEN WILLIE GOES TO BED

When Willie goes upstairs to bed,
The noises that he makes
Would rouse the prehistoric dead.
Floors rock, the ceiling shakes,
The fixtures of the chandelier
Vibrate to Willie's tread;
There's nothing like an idle ear
When Willie's gone to bed.

His program, starting on the stair,
Crescendoes to his room,
And down the racket comes from there
In crash and thunderous boom.
He drops his shoes like catapults,
His necktie's made of lead;
It's somewhat trying on adults
When Willie goes to bed.

"Young man," his father says, "less noise."
His mother: "Willie, dear,
Be quiet like the other boys,"
Which prompts a filial sneer.
"Like other boys?" A gradual grin
O'er Willie's face is spread.
He makes that night an extra din
On going up to bed.

When somewhere on this world's round face
The seismographs declare
An earthquake shock has taken place,
And no one knows just where,
We feel 'twould be a friendly act
If Science simply said:
"Don't worry. It but states the fact
That Willie's gone to bed."

Where Bananas Come From

Issued by National Geographic Society

Refutation of a popular song is found in a National Geographic Society bulletin just issued which not only shows that we have "some bananas" but traces the origin of this fruit that, in name at least, is now on every tongue.

"Known to only a handful of people on the Atlantic seaboard a generation and a half ago, and considered by them a tropical curiosity, the banana has become now the fruit of the American masses and hangs in great yellow bunches even in the remotest hamlets and in cross-roads stores," says the bulletin. "The figures for banana imports are staggering. Between 40 and 50 million bunches were brought in last year. Allowing only three cubic feet to the piled bunch, this is more than enough of the yellow fruit to fill heaping full a gigantic box as deep as the Washington Monument and 460 fet square. Such a box would cover more than an ordinary city block. If this huge pile were evenly divided every person in the United States, old and young, would have several dozen bananas for his share. Each day on an average nearly 15 million bananas are consumed in the United States.

"The banana is supposed to have originated in India near the base of the Himalaya mountains; but a legend among the eastern Christians asserts that it had a prominent place in the Garden of Eden, and that it was a banana, not an apple, that Eve ate in her search for knowledge. Botanists were perhaps unconsciously influenced by this legend, for they named two important species of the fruit Musca paridisaca and Musca sapientium— Fruit of Paradise and Fruit of Knowledge.

"No one knows how this popular American fruit came to the New World, but it seems not to have been here when Columbus arrived. One explanation is that it was taken from Spain to Santa Domingo early in the sixteenth century and from there spread rapidly to the other West Indian Islands and to the mainland. American capital and initiative placed its development on a plantation basis in Central America, and now it is grown as a commercial crop to a greater extent there than anywhere else in the world. Jamaica is the greatest island producer, while Nicaragua and Costa Rico are the chief mainland sources of supply.

"A large fleet of steamers—refrigerated in summer and warmed in winter—plies constantly between Central American ports and the seaboard cities of the United States; and from these cities hundreds of cars roll daily in the effort to keep our appetite for bananas satisfied.

"The development of the huge banana industry has had an epoch-making influence in the life of the Central American states. The turning of their jungle wastes into productive plantations has brought prosperity, railroad construction, harbor improvements and sanitary betterment. The 'yellow and cold' gold which the Spaniards took away in early days impoverished Central America; but the great stream of golden bananas is bringing back the precious metal and is building up the country in proportion as it flows forth."

Recollection

By Berton Braley

I will remember you
With longing and vain regret,
I will remember you
And ever my heart will fret
For the sight of a face that is lost to view,
But I shall not forget!

I will remember you
Whatever the road you take,
Though you should go to the end of the world
For fame or fortune's sake.
There is a tie between us two
Which only you can break!

I will remember you
In spite of the years that flee,
My thoughts will follow you day by day,
Wherever you chance to be.
And when, in fields and in pastures new,
You have forgotten me,

I will remember you
As long as the rivers flow,
As long as spring shall bring the flowers
Or winter shall bring the snow,
Or till you pay me that fifty bucks
You borrowed a year ago!

Mark Twain, when editor of a small town paper, received a letter from a superstitious subscriber, saying he had found a spider in his paper and asking whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist printed the following answer:

"Finding the spider in the newspaper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over the page to see which merchant is not advertising, so he can go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

"Good-by, ladies!" couldn't be correct.

A DIFFICULT TALK.

When Cuffy Bear told the cow with two heads that he "hadn't noticed they were together," the two heads didn't seem to know what he was talking about. So he felt that he ought to explain.

"Why—er—your two heads!" he floundered. "Until I climbed the fence and looked down at you, I didn't know you had an extra head."

"I haven't an extra head," the red cow's left head snapped. "How can you say such a thing as that?"

"I don't believe you know who I am," the right head spoke up, looking mildly at Cuffy Bear. "I'm the Double-Headed Cow. I just naturally have two heads. If I had an extra one I'd have three; and then I wouldn't be myself at all. I wouldn't be the Double-Headed Cow any longer."

"Wh—what would you be?" Cuffy stammered.

"I'd be the Triple-Headed Cow, of course," the left head announced as it tossed itself airily. And then it said in the ear of its mate, "That young cub asks a good many questions for a single-headed cub. It's my opinion that he ought to be squelched."

It relieved Cuffy's mind mightily when the right head told the left one that the cub was only trying to be friendly. 'Do be polite to him," added the right head. "I'm sure his intentions are of the best."

It was plain to Cuffy Bear that the two heads of the Double-Headed Cow were quite different one from the other. His right was the pleasant, the left was the disagreeable one. He wished he knew of some way to talk with the pleasant head without letting the disagreeable head enter into the conversation.

All at once an idea popped into his mind. Straightway he put it into words.

"Do your two heads sleep at the same time?" he inquired.

"Sometimes they don't," answered the left one.

"Ha!" thought Cuff Bear. "I'll watch my chance. Some day I'll catch the disagreeable one sleep, and the pleasant one awake. There's a lot of questions I want to ask it."

Johnnie Green came along then, and led Cuffy away.

When Cuffy first greeted the Double-Headed Cow he had said, "Good morning, madam!" But now that he knew about her two heads, somehow madam didn't seem quite the correct way to address her. Nor did "Good-by, ladies!"

So Cuff Bear waved a paw at the Double-Headed Cow. Of course, he waved it as politely as possible.

KEEN RACE SEEN FOR PRIZES

Cups and Trophies Offered Exhibit Winners Represent Big Sum

With twenty-five valuable cups, hundreds of dollars in cash prizes and a great array of ribbons and other trophies offered to competitors in the Seventh Annual Orange county fair, competition in all departments of the great exposition promises to be more keen this year than ever before in the history of the annual event.

Prizes are offered in all departments of the fair this year, a departure from the plan followed on previous occasions, and this has aroused interest to a high pitch in all divisions.

Most of the cups will go to winners in the livestock section, but prizes of equal value are offered in other divisions and have caused farm centers, individuals and business firms to devote considerable time and large sums of money in arranging their exhibits and displays.

Cups On Display

Displays of the prize cups throughout the county during the last few weeks have served to arouse increased interest in the fair by giving added proof of the stupendous nature of the undertaking.

Women of the county have shown more interest in the fair this year than ever before because of the valuable prizes offered in the needlework department. This section of the exposition has always been one of the greatest drawing cards from the women's standpoint, but additional interest was aroused when it was announced prizes would be provided for the winners Such a thing has never been done before, contestants in previous fair being forced to content themselves with the mere honor of being signified as the winner.

Under the direction of Mrs. W. B. McConnell of Spicer's Dry Goods store, the needlework department has come to be looked upon as one of the leading sections of the exposition and she went into her work this year with increased enthusiasm because of the valuable prizes made available for her use in improving her department.

Farm centers of the county promise a keen contest in the race for first prize honors for the best farm center display. E. E. Campbell, chairman of the agricultural section of the fair, has been cooperating with the farm center display chairman in arranging for their exhibits, and he declares the judges will have an unusually hard task in selecting a first prize winner from among the displays presented by the various centers.

Tasty Delicacies

Competition in the culinary department will be no less keen than that in the other sections. Housewives of the county have been working diligently for weeks in preparing canned fruits and jellies for display at the fair and today they were busy with cooking utensils turning out cakes, pies, cookies and other delicacies to appeal to the sweet tooth of fair visitors.

Manager Flaherty late today had gathered in from the points where they have been on display the various trophies and prizes and was ready to turn them over to the judges in the different sections of the fair for distribution to the prize winners.

GREAT ARRAY OF TROPHY CUPS READY FOR WINNERS OF EVENTS IN BIG ANNUAL ORANGE COUNTY FAIR

STAGE SET TO GREET THRONGS

Fair Management Ready For Opening of Seventh Annual Event

With last-minute preparations virtually completed—

With thousands expected to hear the opening address to be delivered by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson—

With hundreds of exhibitors, including practically every farm center in the county, adding the finishing touches to their displays—

With indications that all attendance records will be shattered—

And with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of Orange county's choicest products housed under 110,000 feet of canvas—

The great Seventh Annual Orange County fair will be thrown open to the public here tomorrow under the most propitious conditions ever experienced by promoters of any similar event in the history of Orange county.

Directors Optimistic

From the president of the board of directors, down to the officers and individuals directors themselves, the most optimistic forecasts were voiced here today concerning the fair.

"This," said President J. A. Smiley, "will go down as one of the most carefully planned and faithfully executed ventures of the kind ever attempted here. On the eve of the great fair, for which I predict the greatest possible success, I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to all those faithful men and women, in all sections of the county, for the splendid co-operation they have shown in helping us set the great machine in motion. This fair belongs to the people of Orange county. I congratulate them upon their initiative and their determination."

At the fair grounds on East Fifth street, scores of perspiring laborers, working overtime, have succeded, according to Manager R. D. Flaherty, in whipping into shpe in remarkably quick time one of the most stupendous undertakings of the kind ever built in this county.

"The 1923 fair," said Flaherty, "yesterday was but a vision. Tomorrow it will be a living, glowing reality.

"Thousands, from all sections of the Southland, will come to see what we have to offer. Hundreds of these will go away to tell the story to countless hundreds in other cities and counties and states. This will be the finest kind of boosting for Santa Ana and Orange county.

"But, aside from its great advertising value, the fair means much to the men and women of Orange county—those of our people who have labored to make this county one of the most prosperous and progressive sections in Southern California.

Extends Thanks

"To all those who have given so unselfishly of their time and advice in helping to make the fair a pronounced success, I wish to extend my sincere thanks. With such splendid men and women working in its behalf, the 1923 fair cannot help but prove a success."

The fair, which will open officially tomorrow afternoon, will be featured tomorrow night by a stirring address by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson. The senator is expected to discusss world conditions, with prticular reference to their applicability to agricultural and domestic conditions.

Nothing in the Year Brings More County People Together

PROVIDE AMPLE PARK SPACE FOR AUTOS

Ample parking space for the automobiles of visitors to the Seventh Annual Orange county fair will be found in the immediate vicinity of the main entrance to the fair grounds as a result of the activity of individuals and firms in the neighborhood of the East Fifth street fair site, according to Manager R. D. Flaherty.

In the vacant lot immediately across the street from the fair grounds space has been reserved for official cars, such as those of the officers, directors and members of the press, who will be forced to make many trips to and from the grounds during the course of each day of the fair.

However, many vacant lots in close proximity to the grounds have been turned into parking space and there will be ample room for the cars of all persons visiting the exposition. Most of this space will be found to the west and north of the grounds although a few lots to the east and south will be turned into parking space.

Arrangement of the parking space has been made with a view of preventing confusion on both entering and leaving the exposition tents.

The fair will be better this year than ever before, and that is saying a lot, but a lot that's true.

Welfare of Children of County is To Be Emphasized

One of the most important features in connection with the great seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here tomorrow and continuing until Saturday, September 29, will be the baby welware department, according to Mrs. N. Beisel, president of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teacher association, in active charge of the department. Here the children, surrounded by every available convenience and safeguard, will b as comfortable as if they were in their own homes, it is claimed. Photograph shows a group of Santa Ana dimpled darlings eagerly awaiting tomorrow's opening.

Placentia Adds Oil To Business Activity

Nestled mid famous orange groves and some of the finest walnut groves of the county, Placentia, a town of 1650 inhabitants, is today adding oil to its business attractions. The Placentia orchardist has on the surface of the earth wealth-producing trees, while far beneath the surface are possibilities of untold wealth.

"Meet me at the fair."

Olive, Villa Park, El Modena Fertile

Lying northeast and east of Orange, are three of the most beautifully located communities in Orange county, with soils and production very much alike.

Protected by the foothills, these places are all located in the frostless belt. Tender winter vegetables are grown here, though the development of Valencia orange groves has taken most of the land that six or eight years ago was devoted to vegetables.

Garden Grove One of Most Favored Areas

Garden Grove is the community center of a section which has a population of 1500. Congenial social conditions, good schools and churches, paved highways running in every direction, a marvelously fertile soil, an inexhaustible supply of water, and an ideal climate tempered by the sea breeze of the balmy Pacific ocean ten miles away, makes Garden Grove one of the favored sections of Orange county.

WIDE INTEREST TAKEN IN ART WORK DEPT.

County-wide interest attaches to the art department of this year's fair due to the fact that the $250 prize picture in the exhibit is to become the property of the fair board which will turn the painting over to the community shown to have made the greatest advance sale of season tickets to the fair.

The community will hold the picture for one year and the race for the honor has been closely contested. Santa Ana is not competing in this contest, but practically all other communities are, late reports showing Orange and Fullerton leading in the race.

The department is under the direction of W. A. Griffith of Santa Ana, who has gained the united support of Laguna Beach and other Orange county artists in making the department a success. Not only will more paintings be hung this year than ever before, but there will be a wider variety to the work with an increased number of artists seeking first prize honors.

Tomorrow the fair will be open afternoon and evening, and after that it will be open every morning, afternoon and evening, closing Saturday night.

The fair will be better this year than ever before, and that is saying a lot, but a lot that's true.

Homer Pigeons to Carry Messages

Thousands of pigeons, including some of the finest birds ever exhibited in the Southland, will be shown at the seventh annual Orange couty fair, opening here tomorrow. C. C. Clark of Fullerton is chairman of the pigeon and pet stock department. In the accompanying illustration, an Orange county beauty, is shown holding one of the many high class birds to be shown in the pigeon enclosure.

FAIR OFFICERS ARE LEADERS IN COUNTY

Wide acquaintanceship throughout the county of the officers and directors of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair was one of the most valuable assets of the organization in speeding to completion plans for the great annual event.

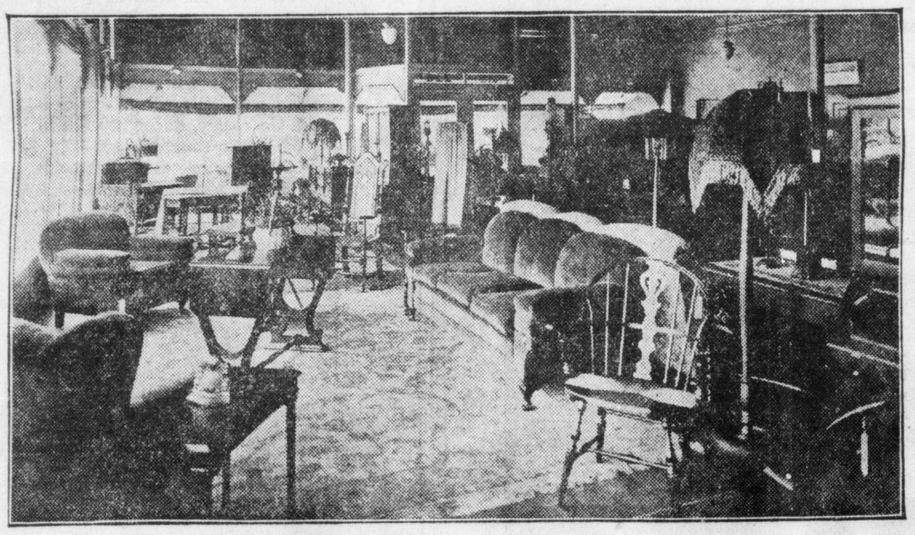

Each member of the board is known to practically every citizen of the county. All are men and women who have taken an active part in the various progressive movements of the county and through their various activities have gained a wide experience in organization work. This stood them in good stead when work of organizing for the fair got under way.

Heading the list of officers is James A Smiley as president. He holds a similar title in the Orange county farm bureau. Col. S. H. Finley of Santa Ana is vice-chairman of the organization. E. E. Campbell, prominent Orange citrus grower is secretary of the board and L. G. Swales, Santa Ana business man is treasurer. They with Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Tustin; Mrs. E. M. Bradley, Costa Mesa and C. M. Hollingsworth and John Tuffree make up the board of directors. They appointed R. D. Flaherty as manager of the fair.

—Orange County's "Blue Ribbon" Products
—Santa Ana, California's "Blue Ribbon" City
—Chandler's "Blue Ribbon" Furniture Store

—The broad scope of the Chandler home furnishings service places it in a class by itself, making it the "Blue Ribbon" Furniture store of Orange County, not surpassed by any furniture store in the state in point of serving its own local community.

—Chandler's wide range of stock enables one to make a suitable selection to furnish the most humble cottage or the finest residence. Here you will find an assortment ranging from the most moderately priced patterns of good furniture to as finely built pieces as artisans can produce.

—The buying of our stocks is not confined to selections from manufacturers' catalogs and ordering through salesmen and jobbers. Members of the firm visit the great Eastern home furnishings exhibitions and make personal selections right at the big furniture producing centers.

—The sale of a piece of furniture at Chandler's is but the beginning of the transaction which is not completed until the article gives complete satisfaction and lasting service. For that reason we must be sure first that the quality is right, and second, that at the price quoted it must represent sterling value.

—This is followed by careful courteous delivery, and a home beautifying service of expert decorators, men who are qualified to suggest the most artistic arrangement of furniture, and who will assist in planning your draperies.

—By all means come to Santa Ana Sept. 25th to 29th to visit the Orange County Fair. At the same time take advantage of the opportunity to see the great fall home furnishing exhibition at Chandler's—the "Blue Ribbon" furniture store.

EVERY CROP OF GREAT COUNTY TO BE THERE

Chairman of Committee Speaks of Wonderful Displays

According to a report by E. E. Campbell, of Orange, prominent citrus grower, agriculturists of the county have completed arrangements for many unusual fair exhibits. Campbell has devoted several weeks to arranging the details of his department. In this work he has had the active co-operation of each farm center exhibit committee and together they have worked out plans for many interesting exhibits.

According to Campbell, every crop in the county will be represented on the display shelves when the fair doors are opened. Many individual agriculturists have been made to see the benefits that may come to them through active connection with the fair and are arranging exhibits that will rival those of the leading farm centers, it is said.

"We have such a diversity of crops in Orange county," said Campbell today, "that it is an easy matter to arrange many beautiful displays. One does not realize what a wide variety of crops Orange county ranchers raise until you go over a list of the products, and then it is easy to vision many unique displays.

"Just to mention a few of the more common crops we have potatoes, onions, tomatoes, beans, cabbage, sugar and table beets, peppers, pumpkins, peanuts, almonds and others too numerous to mention. Unique and novel displays of these can be arranged in connection with a fair, and visitors to this year's show will be surprised at the many novel features the various farm centers and individual ranchers have built up with these county crops as the keystone.

Prizes will be offered for both commercial pack displays and plate displays. Campbell explains that a commercial pack will constitute a standard packed box of fruit or vegetables, or a bushel of grain or seed. Plate displays will constitute five specimens of fruit, vegetables, or five ounces of grain.

Prizes will be awarded for the following classes:

Important Industry is Represented

Few counties, according to E. G. Stinson, chairman of the livestock committee of the seventh annual Orange county fair, have made greater progress along purebred lines than has Orange county.. In the great stockpens of the annual fair, opening here tomorrow, Stinson and other breeders will have on exhibition some of the finest cattle ever shown in this section of the state. Illustration shows an Orange county beauty holding one of the splendid cows bred here.

Wonder Apples from Costa Mesa Enter in Competition

Costa Mesa, producing and marketing some of the best apples in the West, will be represented at the seventh annual Orange county fair by numerous exhibits showing the quality and beauty of the fruit produced on the fertile Mesa lands. In the accompanying photograph, Miss Viva Whitford is shown admiring some of the apples packed by the Costa Mesa Apple Growers' association.

Laguna Beach Now An All-Year Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 24.—Laguna Beach has gone through a transformation in the past five years. It is no longer a summer beach alone; it is now an all-the-year beach.

A few years ago Laguna was practically deserted from the middle of September until the first of June.

Not so now.

The permanent inhabitants have increased to about 500, and the number of visitors every fair day of the year is growing apace. There is not a month in the year that does not bring on Sundays a stream of automobiles to Laguna. Week-end trips, outings, weinie bakes—any month of the year finds them numerous at Laguna.

S. H. Finley

COL. S. H. FINLEY, Orange county supervisor and vice-chairman of the board of directors of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, is one of the most consistent boosters the great fall agricultural show has ever had. Colonel Finley, with Chairman J. A. Smiley and other officers and directors of the fair, worked tirelessly in an effort to make this year's fair eclipse all previous efforts along this line.

OUTLINES HISTORY OF FAIRS IN COUNTY

From $500 to $2500 in seven years has been the growth of appropriations for staging the annual Orange county fair, according to the memory of Colonel S. H. Finley, county supervisor, who has been connected directly or indirectly with the fair association each year.

"This will be the seventh annual Orange county fair," Finley said, referring to the big exhibition to be opened here September 25, and closed four days later.

"The first county fair was put on at Huntington Beach. A county fair fund of $500 was raised to finance the initial exhibit. Each year since that time the fund has been increased by several hundred dollars.

"Huntington Beach finally found the burden too much and passed the fair on to the present association.

"Workers on the fair board and its numerous committees have found the labors of preparing for the annual exhibition a great task and at times a veritable burden. But as each fair grows beyond the proportions of its predecesor the workers draw their reward in the feeling of success attained.

"County fairs would not survive if they were not of distinct value both to farmer and city dweller. The farmers welcome the fair each year as a common meeting ground, where they may indulge in friendly competition.

"They enjoy the opportunity of displaying their choice products and in seeing what the other fellow has been doing. They take pleasure in the social features of the annual assembly of farmers and families and the thousands of visitiors.

"The county fair helps business. It helps develop better crops. It is an institution."

Fame of Laguna For Art Is World Wide

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 24.—Famed wherever artists dwell and wherever patrons of art gaze upon gems of paint and brush and water color, the world ovre, Laguna Beach has a place in art that is as firm as its rugged headlands, and alluring as its beautiful coves and canyons.

There is not an artist but knows Laguna, or knows of Laguna. There is not an artist to whose career the opportunity to visit Laguna has not come but holds a keen desire to have the privilege, some day, to paint its broken shoreline, its quiet coves, its gentle hills, its ucalyptus trees, its shaded canyon nooks, its sycamores, its colorful skies and changeful sea.

TASTY DISPLAY IN CULINARY DEPARTMENT

County Housewives Show Works of Art From Kitchen Ovens

What will probably prove the most tempting displays in Orange county's seventh annual fair will be those in the culinary department. Housewives of the county were busy today arranging for exhibition before the fair crowds the results of their culinary endeavors and publicity men declared that words fail them in their efforts to describe the beauty of this department.

Cakes, cookies, pies, canned fruits, freshly baked bread and many other tasty delicacies from the ovens of the county were heaped upon the shelves and display cases of this department which proved a hard place for one to draw himself away from.

Because of the great success of this department last year, the 1923 fair management increased the prize list this year and indications are that competition will be keen. There will be cash awards and red and blue ribbons.

These awards will be given for the following lots:

Section 1c—Bread

White bread, Graham bread, Rye bread, French rusks, Light rolls, Nut bread, Bran bread, Parker House rolls, any other variety.

Olive Is Listed As Grower of Valencia

OLIVE, Sept. 24.—The greatest of Orange county's crops is the valencia orange, and great among the producers of the valencia is Olive.

Ten per cent of the Orange county crop of golden valencias is shipped from Olive.

Eighty per cent of planted acreage around Olive is in valencia oranges.

The value of the orange crops raised around Olive totals from $1,750,000 to $2,000,000.

New Hill Tract At Olive Is Considered

OLIVE, Sept. 24.—The next big project for the development of Olive, it is confidently believed, will be the subdivision og 150 acres lying on the Bixby hills, between the present townsite of Olive and the Peralta Hills tract, a highly developed valencia tract of 275 acres in the Santa Ana canyon on an airline a mile northeast of Olive.

Preliminary plans for this important movement have been made. Hugh Thomon and Willard Smith, who with the Bixby company developed the Peralta Hills orchards, have in mind the opening of the entire hill section into a wonderfully fine scenic property.

IS—

Orange County "Fair" to it's Eye

Are you "fair" to those most delicate and useful organs of your body—your eyes. As you behold the wondrous exhibits and products at the Orange County Fair—Stop! and consider that this is made possible only when your eyes SEE properly.

Do you see Perfect or just "FAIR?"

Thousands of people go through life seeing only half.

An example of this is shown through the true story of a 12-year-old boy, who, after being properly fitted with glasses, viewed for the first time in his life—the stars!

Gazing into the heavens, he exclaimed to his father, "Oh, papa! See those beautiful lights!"

There's a Man In Our Town

—And he is wondrous wise
In dealing in the line of goods
Of "tasty" food supplies.

And when you see that you are out,
With all your might and main,
Jump in your "Liz" and drive down to
George Edgar's store again.

The "Fair" proves the growth of Orange County. There we will see the many products of our fertile lands. It will show the progressiveness of this district, progress that has grown through years of toil.

This same progress is evidenced by the manner in which George Edgar has kept abreast of the times. His study, his hobby, is handling every possible delicacy. Every country and clime furnishes the products which he displays on his shelves.

Although he handles this class of goods, his store is more than a specialty shop; no one word will carry the meaning of his business and his service. It requires a visit—and a talk with George.

Fine Poultry Will Please Fanciers

With thousands of birds entered in the respective competitive classes, poultry for which Orange county is justly famous, will play a prominent part in the seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here Tuesday, September 25. In the accompanying illustration, Miss Viva Whitford, beautiful Santa Ana girl, is shown admiring one of the 200-egg white leghorns from the A. E. Block poultry ranch at Costa Mesa. Poultrymen from all sections of the county will have exhibits in the huge poultry tent.

The County Fair

The Christian Science Monitor

In the numberless communities throughout New England and the states extending into the middle west and far west in the United States there comes the revival annually at about this season of the year of that ancient institution known as the county fair. These festivals are not observed in every county but it is safe to say that in the great majority of counties there is an annual gathering, partaking of the "harvest home" celebrations of an earlier period, when the producers of grains and vegetables, fruits, and the products of the dairy, and the possessors of fine horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry enter into a friendly competition to determine who has excelled in his chosen undertaking. The people of nearly every community claim to have achieved excellence in some particular line of production.

Peculiarities of soil or climate contribute to the effort to perfect particular fruit or a variety of grain. Perhaps, too, some undiscovered or unproclaimed Burbank dwells unostentatiously in a sheltered valley where wonderful apples, surpassing all others in size and flavor, are raised year after year. Possibly some quiet and unassuming farmer boy has discovered the secret of dealing profitably with bees and has succeeded in producing more and better honey than others. Some housewife, skilled in the arts of the dairy, perhaps comes to renew her friendly lien upon the prize offered to buttermakers. A youngster, lover of birds, perhaps has built a model bird house which he exhibits for the admiration of a hundred neighbor boys and girls.

One who travels about at this season of the year has the opportunity to observe contemplatively the changes which a score of years have wrought in the appearance of county fairs. Where once there were hundreds of teams and wagons on the highways and in the open space adjoining the fair grounds, today there are countless automobiles parked in improvised roped-in inclosures. But the metamorphosis is noticeable as well in the appearance of the visitors as in that of their equipages. Men, women, and children are better dressed and more prosperous than a quarter of a century ago. They have, apparently, been brought into closer and more frequent contact with those forces, which no matter what their shortcomings in other respects may be, advance the thing called civilization. Education, whether it is gained through the schools, the newspapers, the neighborhood library, or the community gatherings, now more frequent than formerly unfailingly changes for the better all those whom it touches.

The county fair is a school. Those who, whether through mere curiosity or a sincere desire to learn, are brought into contact with it, are sure to advance a step from where they stood before. It is an institution which has strongly left its impress upon the home life of America.

PORT DEVELOPMENT HERE PROGRESSING

Harbor development at Newport bay is progressing rapidly and the port will be open to commercial enterprises very soon.

Seventy-five per cent of the boats now using the Panama canal are of a draught which can be accommodated at Newport, and the advantages of the canal are thus brought directly to the people of Orange county, as well as to the Riverside and San Bernardino sections which are tributary to it.

Commercial and industrial interests are recognizing the advantages offered at the new harbor and are availing themselves of the attractive sites which are now being offered.

County Is Leader In Sugar Beet Industry

With five mills within her borders, making sugar from sugar beets grown on from 20,000 to 25,000 acres every year, Orange county ranks as the leading beet sugar producing county in the United States.

Tomorrow the fair will be open afternoon and evening, and after that it will be open every morning, afternoon and evening, closing Saturday night.

Famed Mission Town Mecca For Students

Capistrano as it is commonly called, is the home of the famous San Juan Capistrano Mission, founded in 1776, and which is the mecca of all students. Capistrano with a population of 650 is located in the southern part of the county on the historic state highway, about half way between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Capistrano has many excellent business buildings and is famous for the accommodations offered to the motorist in the way of hotels and eating houses.

See Wonder Future Here For Avocados

The people of Orange county are now growing more than one hundred varieties of the avocado (alligator pear) and there is a wonderful future for this autocrat of the fruit family. The avocado has a value as a food that equals prime sirloin.

Growing of Tropical Fruits Here Success

Many tropical and semi-tropical fruits are grown successfully in Orange county. Some of these fruits hold out promises of great commercial value for the future.

The whole family and a lot of the chickens and live stock will be present.

CHOICE BLOOMS GIVE COLOR TO COUNTY FAIR

Flower Exhibit Arranged Both by Professional, Amateur Growers

Visitors to the Seventh Annual Orange County fair, which opens its gates to the public here tomorrow, will find themselves in a veritable bower of Orange county's choicest blooms when they enter the main exhibition tent. Both professional and amateur florticulturists of the county have been working early and late for the past week arranging for this exhibit.

M. F. Morris, local florist, is to have charge of the professional display, while the amateur exhibits will be in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. D. Eyman Huff, Mrs. J. E. Paul and Mrs. Earl Morrow. The county has been combed for the most beautiful blossoms and many gardens have been stripped to make this feature of the fair a success.

Florists Amling Bros., local wholesale florists, are generously assisting in making this spectacle a beautiful one, and the exhibit of this firm is to the center of the floral display. Other professional exhibits will be grouped around that of Amling Bros., while the flowers from the amateur gardens will be grouped along the interior walls for a distance of approximately 100 feet on both sides of the entrance.

Rules, prizes and displays for which the many valuable prizes have been offered have been announced as follows:

Beautiful Flowers to Have Prominent Place in Show's Attractions

Roses in profusion—the finest flowers of the kind produced anywhere in the Southland—will be liberaliy displayed at the seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here tomorrow and continuing util Saturday, September 29. In the accompanying illustration, Miss Ada Tulene, Santa Ana beauty, is shown in the midst of a great bouquet of roses produced here by Amling brothers. Mrs. D. Eyman Huff of El Modena is chairman of the amateur division of floriculture, while M. F. Morris of Santa Ana is chairman of the professional class.

PEOPLE OF COUNTY EXTEND GREETINGS

The people of Orange county extend to you a hearty welcome. Whether you are a tourist or a some-seeker, we ask you to come and see the "Biggest Little County" in the state of California, and probably the richest agricultural county of its size in the United States.

We invite you to come and enjoy its climatic charm and scenic grandeur.

We ask you to know for yourself the joys of living in this great land of "Out Doors." z z

Go where you will, look where you may, you will not find more of God's blessings awaiting your acceptance than here in "Nature's Prolifiv Wonderland."

All aboard! The Fair Opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

BEE INDUSTRY OF COUNTY TO SHOW WORK

With C. E. Lush of Orange, one of the most prominent bee men of the county, in charge of the apiary department of the fair, this big county industry promises to be well represented when the big show opens its doors to the public. Lush reports that the bee men of the county are enthusiastic over this opportunity of showing not only thousands of bees, but also the results of one season's work by the busy swarms.

Orange county honey is a product that has grown in public favor until the demand now exceeds the supply. Hundreds of Orange county citizens with a taste for this sweet product do not understand the enormous proportions to which this industry has grown in the county, but Lush predicts that the exhibit the bee men are preparing will give an excellent idea of the gigantic nature of the business.

According to a recent announcement by Lush, either 1922 or 1923 honey may be shown at the fair.

Awards will be made as follows:

Section 1c—Club Display

Best exhibit, bees, honey, bee appliances, etc., by an individual, $10.00, $5.00, $3.00.

Section 2c—Honey

Honey—Body, 10 color, 15; flavor, 25. Comb, 15; (well-attached) section, 5 (clean.)

Beeswax—Style, 10; color, 35; aroma, 25; cleanliness, 30.

Best exhibit of extracted sage honey, not less than 25 lbs., $2.00, $1.00.

Best exhibit of comb honey (quality considered), not less than 24 sections, $2.00, $1.00.

Best and attractive display of comb noney in extracting frames, $2.00, $1.00.

Section 3c—Beeswax

Best exhibit of beeswax, not less than 50 lbs., $2.00, $1.00.

Best curio beehive with bees, $2.00, $1.00.

Buena Park Making Remarkable Strides

Buena Park has made a wonderful showing during the last few years. With oil wells to the north, sugar beet, cabbage and alfalfa fields and dairies in another direction, and orchards in another, Buena Park has a diversity of interests that give stability. Oround Buena Park are many beautiful ranch homes. The spirit of the people, the richness of the soil, and the opportunities for development are of the very best.

Tomorrow the fair will be open afternoon and evening, and after that it will be open every morning, afternoon and evening, closing Saturday night.

Everybody in Orange county will attend the fair at least once, and most of them will go two, three, four or more times.

San Juan Hot Springs Work Numerous Cures

The San Juan Hot Springs, with the medical baths, are located up San Juan creek 12 miles from the old mission town of Capistrano. The springs have an almost nation-wide reputation for the cures they have wrought.

Beautiful Orchards Grace Yorba Linda

Situated on rolling foothills overlooking the Santa Ana valley, residents of this frostless section have a view that adds enchantment to their prosperity.

"Beautiful orchards!" is the visitor's comment as he sees the hillside orchards of Yorba Linda. While avocados and other tropical fruits grow here, and there is a heavy production of winter vegetables, oranges and lemons are counted upon to be the mainstay of Yorba Linda's productiveness.

Lemon Heigts Seen As 'Hanging Gardens'

Here is a spot that will some day rival in grandeur the hanging gardens of ancient Babylon. Along its terraced drives amid groves of orange, lemon and avocado, beautiful homes are being built, and from these vantage points an inspiring panorama unfolds before the enraptured vision as it turns from snow capped mountain heights to the blue depths of the Pacific. No master in the art of word-building can give adequate expression to the wonders that unfold at your feet.

Strong Farm Bureau Is Big Feature Here

With Orange county, according to the United States census, ranking among the highest producing counties of the United States it is very fitting that the county should have, as it has, a strong and actice Farm Bureau. Its purpose is to give to farmers and fruit growers information concerning the best methods in culture. Advice on problems, both general and specific, are constantly at the grower's command.

The County Fair will be a real fair. Orange County never had a better.

Barnyard Favorites Will Do Their Best For the Boss

Boss of Rancho Making Entries Ready for Fair Asks for Good Behavior

They gathered at the Barnyard Trough.

There was the sleek-haired Horse.

And the Jersey Cow.

A Berkshire Boar.

The champion crowing Wyandotte of the Ranch.

Talkative and important, waddled the Prize Goose.

The Boss of the Rancho had ordered these half-dozen highly-educated animals to appear and receive instructions.

"There is to be a big Orange County fair this week," he said. "And I am counting on you folk to bring home the bacon. I want blue ribbons and prize money, and so it is up to you to look your prettiest."

"Hooray! I won a prize last year," warbled the Hog, as he shoved his prize-winning snout into a mudhole.

Since the occasion was to be their first appearance on the public stage, the five remaining aspirants for ribbonry honors chortled, whinnoed, cackled, bawled and bleated according to their natures.

Registers Approved

The Boss of the Rancho noticed these signs of approval, and smiled inwardly. But his face and his mien were grim. He fairly radiated determination and admonition.

"Say," he said, "this is no picnic. This is real business. You won't win any prizes unless you are the real goods. Get that. This show is no bud affair. Every one of you, excepting Lady Sheep, will have to go up against the finest in the land. I rather fancy Lady Sheep will have no difficulty in winning a prize. Orange county is no longer a sheep-growing section. Once upon a time sheep roamed the thousand hills of this county, but there is no such thing as a band of sheep left in the county. That are no real bands of sheep. There may be a few sheep scattered around, but only a few. The pactures are given over to horses and cattle."

Lady Sheep sadly agreed that she belonged to a by-gone industry, so far as Orange county was concerned, but she opined that she'd ramble to the fair anyhow.

Then, the Boss pointed out the necessity of good behavior.

"Don't be noisy about it," he said, "but from the time you get there until the show is over with next Saturday night, look as though you owned the show."

And he took them each in turn into the barn, where he gave them a thorough going over. The horse was curried and brushed, and his tail and his mane were braided so that they would show an abundance of curl.

Outfit Made Ready

"There was a time," he said, "when a horse wasn't much of a show horse if he didn't wear bobbed hair, But they quit that with horses a long time ago."

The goose was washed up, and the rooster was given what he thought was an irksome lot of attention. Even his toe-nails were polished.

The hose was turned on to the grunting hog, to which stunt he had no objection.

And so the whole outfit was made ready for the big performance that opens tomorrow morning, at the fair grounds, in Santa Ana.

And the proudest man who will enter the gates of the Orange county fair will be the Boss of the Rancho.

He will go from pen to pen, and will size up everything that is entered in competition with his property.

And he is game, is the Boss of the Rancho. If the judges say there is a Wyandotte rooster in the show that it a better Wyandotte rooster than the one from the Rancho, the Boss will go back home and raise a rooster that will surely take the first prize next year.

"That's what a fair is for," said the Boss of the Rancho. "It makes a rancher grow the best he can."

Lemon Plays Part In County Development

The lemon has played an important part in the development of Orange county though in point of acreage holds only about a third as much as does its citrus sister, the Valencia orange. Last year our production from 8500 acres was about 1700 carloads or 690,000 packed boxes.

RODEO PRIZES REACH TOTAL OF $800

Cash prizes amounting to $800 are to be distributed among the Orange county boys who participate in the fair rodeo which is expected to be the leading event on the entertainment program of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair.

Manager Flaherty was today making final arrangements for this event which does not open until Wednesday. Cowboys from all the big ranches of the county have been practicing for several weeks for the many trick stunts to be included in the rodeo program and competition for the prizes promises to be keen.

Miss Ruth Renick, popular motion picture star is to take a prominent part in this event. On Wednesday evening she will assist in the opening ceremonies and on Friday and Saturday evening will assist the judges in determining the winners.

The first night of the rodeo will be devoted almost entirely to the judging of horses, the real excitement not starting until Thursday. Races, roping and jumping contests of all kinds have been arranged, the program calling for events for boys and girls and men and women. On the closing day of the fair the program will be devoted exclusively to the entertainment of the children.

The County Fair will be a real fair. Orange County never had a better.

Cattle Exhibits Are Big Attraction

Beautiful girls and high class stock, which in the past have contributed very materially toward the success of the annual Orange county fairs, will again be in the forefront when the gates for the annual event are thrown open here tomorrow. The accompanying illustration shows two Orange county beauties admiring one of the excellent cows bred here.

RELICS ARE TO TELL COUNTY'S EARLY DAYS

Robert C. Northcross Has Gathered Together Many Objects of Interest

Nobody is better fitted to have charge of the historical exhibit of the county fair than is Robert C. Northcross, of Santa Ana, and his appointment as chairman of the historical exhibit alone is assurance that the section in his charge holds much of interest for fair-goers.

Possibly no less than 2,000 Indians occupied what is now Orange county when the Franciscan padres came in 1769. Some of the stone utensils and implements used by these aborigines are in the historical exhibit.

Northcross has also secured some wonderfully interesting relics from the Forster and Yorba families. These relics date back to the days when California was held by the Spaniards, and, later, by the Mexican government.

Among them is an old trunk, once in the possession of the family of Governor Pio Pico, the last of the Mexican governors of California.

An old Indian bridle, made by Old Acu, the last of the Indians, bearing a bit with silver mountings, is another object that will be examined closely by those who look over the many things that Northcross has brought together.

All aboard! The Fair Opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

paved highways, covering practically the entire county.

For its scenic beauty and wide range of recreational possibilities.

SUPERIOR CLIMATE DUE TO LOCATION

Because of the peculiar location of mountain, valley and sea, Orange county can justly challenge the world to produce a section of equal size where the climatic conditions are more ideal.

The warm waves of the Pacific on the west, and the majestic snow-capped mountains on the east form a protecting wall from the mid-winter winds, making out days uniformly warm and pleasant.

In summer the same mountains protect us from the heat of the interior and the cool breezes from the mighty ocean temper the heat of the noonday sun so that our days are uniformly cool and pleasant, and at night blankets are always very welcome.

The Pacific ocean is the principal factor in the stabilizing of Orange county's climate, and naturally the coolest summers and warmest winters are experienced in ratio to the proximity to this great body of water. This influence is very pronounced for a distince inland of twenty or twenty-five miles,—beyond which the variations between winter and summer are more noticeable.

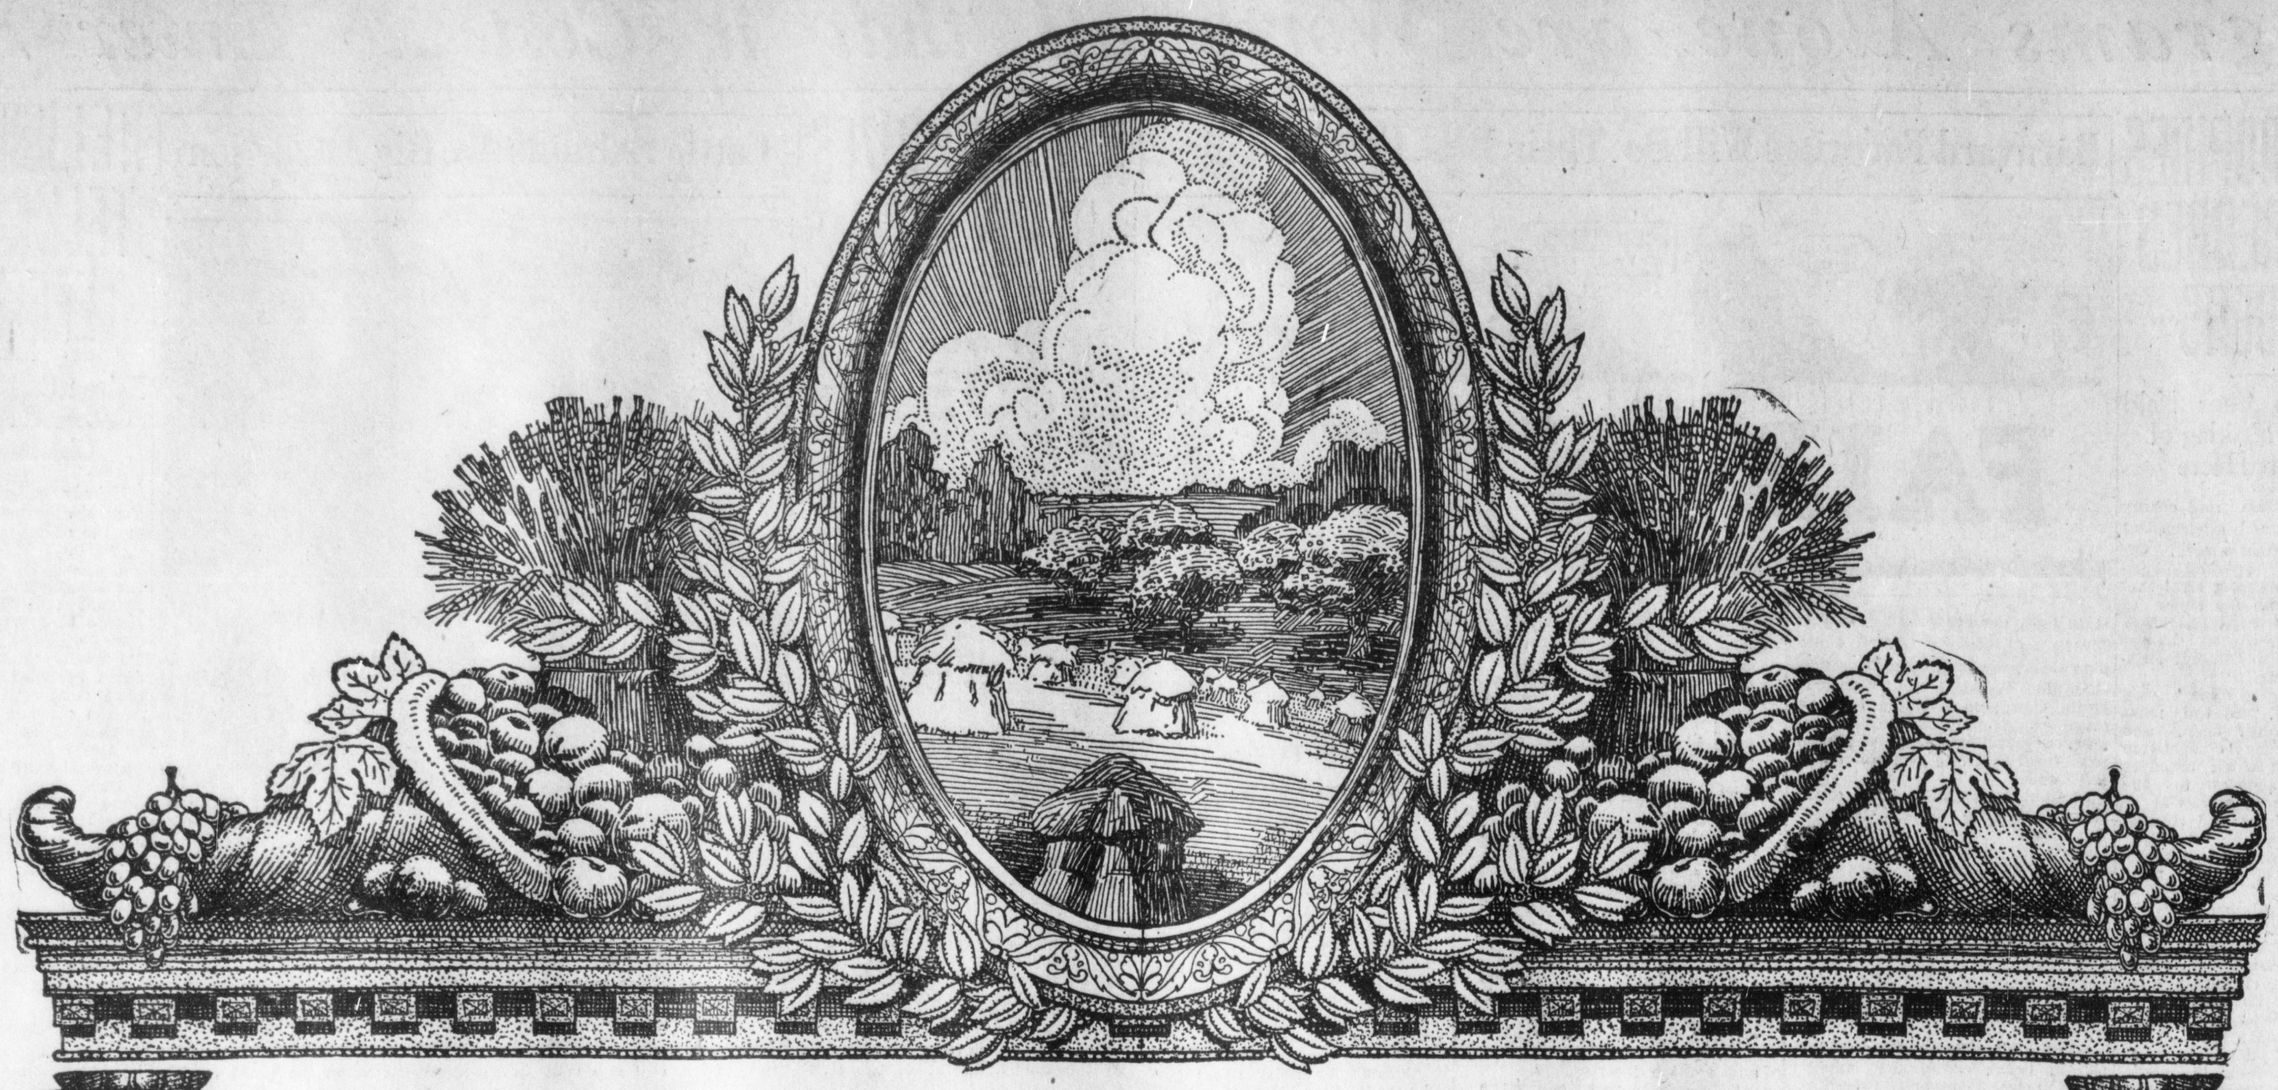

Tomorrow the fair will be open afternoon and evening, and after that it will be open every morning, afternoon and evening, closing Saturday night.

The BANKS of SANTA ANA

EXTEND A CORDIAL WELCOME TO FAIR VISITORS

The banks of Santa Ana welcome you as friends and neighbors, for all of Orange County is bound by common ties—unison in every thought and action for the advancement and development of every section of the county.

Mother Earth is mankind's best provider. She produces everything we wear, everything we eat, everything that shelters us, and Nature is kind to Orange County. The Orange County Fair will exhibit the best of everything produced in Orange County, and in viewing these exhibits your heart should swell with pride that you are a resident of a community so blessed.

Cooperation has done much toward the advancement of agricultural as well as industrial interests of Orange County, and cooperation extended to your merchants will mean still further prosperity to the communiy.

Never before in our history has the future held such promise of prosperity and happiness. Building progress is without precedent in its proportions. And agricultural conditions were never better. Back up your community, your city, your county—keep Orange County money in Orange County, where it will circulate, and in turn come back to you.

—ASK YOUR BANKER

When investing, you owe it to yourself and to your family to be sure that you are putting your money into a safe enterprise. Too many times a man has invested in something that promised exceptionally high returns and later found that he had bought worthless paper. You will do well to investigate before investing.

Take this precaution,—ask your banker.

—USE A CHECKING ACCOUNT

Now-a-days, a check book is as necessary an adjunct to a man's business as money itself. Not only does it eliminate the necessity of keeping on hand a large amount of cash, but it also serves as a record of all business transactions, large or small, business or personal. An endorsed check is the same as a receipt for cash. Start a checking account in one of these banks. A service is offered that is sound and is backed by ample resources.

SMILEY BIDS PUBLIC TO BIG SHOW

Directors' Chief Extends Greeting to Folk of Southland

By J. A. SMILEY,
(President Orange County Farm Bureau, and President of the Board of Directors of the 1923 Orange County Fair.)

To the People of Orange County and All California:

We greet you as friends and neighbors at the Seventh Annual Orange County fair, which opens on East Fifth street in Santa Ana tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. It will close next Saturday at 11 p. m.

Everything that we could do in our small way to bring together an exhibit of the enterprises and industries of Orange county has been done.

Plan Western Stunts

The entertainment committee and the rodeo and horse show committee have worked out some wonderful entertainment features which will provide five days and nights of the best western amusement.

Orange county has a reputation as a prosperous county of homes.

The fair management this year has exerted every effort to make this year's show a clean one, eliminating the games of chance, and with your co-operation we will endeavor to maintain it as such throughout the fair.

If there is any immoral acts of any kind on the grounds it is there without our permission and we will remove it at once if brought to our attention.

We are co-operating in this respect with the district attorney and the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

Sees Fair Success

We believe that we can stage here a successful fair without having to show objectionable carnival features.

Whether we can do this or not depends upon the co-operation we receive in this great effort.

At the present writing our advance ticket sales, interest and enthusiasm throughout the county point to a big attendance and a successful show.

GREETINGS GIVEN FAIR'S VISITORS

L. G. Swales, to left, president, and J. C. Metzgar, above, secretary, representing the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce extend hearty welcome to visitors from all over the county, and congratulate the Fair management on its great achievement.

SANTA ANA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SEENDS ITS GREETNGS AND INVITATION

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce takes this method of sending greetings and invitation to the people of Orange county to attend the Great Orange County Fair, September 25-29, and to express its appreciation of the cordial and generous co-operation, afforded the Fair management by the various communities of Orange county.

This Fair is a great cooperative, educational and inspirational enterprise which involves all the people of Orange County—not only for Fair Week, but for all the weeks of the year and for all the years to come and all the generations to follow. In these annual fairs we are making history and shaping destiny—even the fate of future production and distribution and the ultimate development of moral, social and economic values may depend upon some of the exhibits, demonstrations, lectures or addresses of the Seventh Orange County Fair. Who knows?

Orange County! You observe how often we use that magic name. It is a name to be proud of and one to repeat over and over again with increasing and ever justifiable pride.

Santa Ana is proud of her distinction as the metropolis and capital of this great agricultural county; but she is fully mindful of her civic duties and obligations, and also of her indebtedness to every community and every part of the county.

Santa Ana's growth and development, both moral and material, are naturally in large measure accretions from the material wealth and moral stamina of Orange County as a whole, and it is her desire as well as her duty to afford—indeed "enlightened selfishness" dictates that Santa Ana should extend wholehearted cooperation to every laudable county or community enterprise.

In that spirit the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce extends this greeting and invitation to every community and every man, woman and child in Orange county to be the guests of Santa Ana during Fair Week, beginning tomorrow, September 25.

Everybody come and come often and stay as long as you like.

L. G. SWALES, President.
JAS. C. METZGAR, Secretary.

LIVESTOCK MEN REQUIRE MORE SHOW SPACE

Prize Cattle From Leading Herds of County to Appear in Fair

Because of the pronounced success of the livestick department of the 1922 fair, special efforts have been directed toward making this department of the 1923 fair even more successful than that of last year. Members of the board of directors of the 1923 event selected E. G. Stinson, Orange livestock raiser, for the responsible post of directing this department, and that the selection was a wise one has been indicated by the unanimous support given Stinson by the livestock men of the county in arranging for the exhibits.

One feature of this year's show that is pleasing to the Orange county livestock men is the fact that their stock will not be forced to compete against stock from outside the county. Contests will be limited to Orange county herds so that when the judging is completed the Orange county champion in all lines can be declared. This would not have been possible had outside herds been permitted to enter the show.

Great strides have been made in livestock raising in Orange county in the last few years and Stinson promises that visitors to the fair will be surprised by the high type of stock to be found on exhibition. Shortly after taking over the task of directing the livestock department, Stinson made a request for more space for his section of the fair than had been demanded in previous years, and now, with the doors about to open, he could have used more space than was available for his department.

In connection with the livestock department Stinson has devoted a large share of his time to the rodeo and horse show. Horse lovers are displaying deep interest in these two events and the rodeo promises to be the big drawing card on the entertainment program. Cowboys from all the big ranches of the county have been practicing for this event for several weeks and some daring riding, spectacular roping and thrilling jumping is promised during the rodeo.

Prizes in the livestock department are offered as follows:

Mission Cowboys Seek Honors in Fair Rodeo

ADMISSION CHARGE TO BIG FAIR TOLD

Advance sales of family tickets to the Seventh Annual Orange county fair which closed today gave officers and directors of the big annual event their first inkling as to the possible size of the crowd which will attend the exposition.

Sales throughout the county have been heavier than Manager Flaherty and his co-workers had expected and all were free in predicting that the attendance this years would go beyond the 75,000 mark.

Those who failed to avail themselves of the opportunity to purchase family tickets will be forced to pay an admission charge at the gate of 50 cents. The charge for children of school age is 25 cents. Children under six years of age when accompanied by their parwill be admitted free of charge when accompanied by their parents or guardian.

All aboard! The Fair Opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

BEAUTY PLAN CARRIED OUT IN SCHEME

Special Effort to Present Each Exhibit to Best Vantage Succeeds

By R. D. FLAHERTY
Manager Seventh Annual Orange County Fair.

At 10 a. m. tomorrow we expect to open the seventh annual Orange county fair to the people of Orange county and Southern California.

We have made a special effort to bring together the products that are produced and manufactured in Orange county to the extent that we have succeeded in this and we hope that you will appreciate our efforts.

We believe that we have an entrance attraction that is equal to any ever displayed in Southern California. The professional florists of Orange county have made a beautiful feature floral exhibit immediately in front of the opening entrance. On either side of this exhibit will be the amateur floriculture exhibit. A committee headed by Mrs. D. Eyman Huff, Mrs. Earl Morrow and Mrs. J. E. Paul have been working for the past week getting the women of Orange county to center on making this a very creditable feature of the fair. The amateur and professional floricultural exhibits will occupy the first 70 feet of the big 320-foot agricultural tent.

Florists Arrange Display

The agricultural communities, taking up the scheme of esthetic beauty laid out by the amateur and professional florists, have built beautiful feature exhibits and aside from the beauty of these exhibits, we have made an especial effort to avoid confusion.

We have provided aisle space between all of these feature exhibits in addition to the side aisles and have provided a special entertainment tent. The tents have been so arranged that in passing through them the visitors will have an opportunity of viewing the entire show without having to wander from tent to tent.

Souvenir programs will be on sale at the entrance. On the center page of this program will be a plat of the grounds showing the location of the different tents and their relation to each other as well as the location of the respec-

THE HORN OF PLENTY

Orange County's Cornucopia pours into Santa Ana not only during Fair Week, but on every day throughout the year. Fair Week is an opportunity for the farmer, the rancher, the fruit grower, the pure-bed stock enthusiast to assemble the choice results of his year-long efforts. The Fair is a sort of group picture of industry and an education in prosperity.

The agriculturist, attending the Fair, probably asks himself two questions:

"Are my methods at fault?"

The lumberman and the farmer can get together on at least two angles of this last question—shelter and housing. Are your dairy barns, implement sheds, garages and storage houses the kind that make you dollars or the sort that cost you money? Our complete line of building materials will answer any shelter problem.

T. B. Talbert

COUNTY SUPERVISOR SEES FAIR'S VALUE

Why not a national Orange county fair?

T. B. Talbert, chairman of the county board of supervisors, put the question when asked to express an opinion on the value of the county fair to Orange county.

"The county fair already has proved itself of immense value to Orange county," declared Talbert. "It has been a decided factor in aiding the farmer to better the product of his land. It has brought the farmer to the city to educate his urban brother in the trials and tribulations of the soil.

"But why not a national Orange county fair?

"Why not combine the orange show and any other annual exhibits held in the county with the annual Orange county fair?

"Such a project would accomplish an exposition each year in Orange county that would be of national importance. Its advertising value would be immeasurable .Its cost would be half the present total outlay of the individual shows.

"At present the show directors, small in scope in comparison with what the county could do as a whole, have the job of bringing people to several different exhibitions. Their efforts are divided.

"Yet each show has been a success. Each year the shows grow bigger and better, which in my opinion is more reason why all of them be combined into one big annual exposition.

The entrance will be shown in a way that by referring to this, one can find the way about the grounds readily without any confusion. This will contain a detailed program of the entertainment program which will be given every afternoon and evening in the entertainment tent as well as the rodeo and horse show program, which will be given Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon.

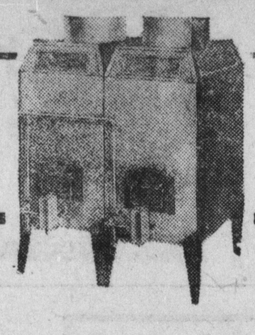

The big industrial tent, 100x260 feet, will be one of the most representative industrial exhibits ever staged in the county. It represents practically every manufacturing enterprise in the county.

Our efforts to make this show a big success are complete and we await your inspection and feel sure that you will appreciate that the great effort put forth by the industrial exhibitors, the Boy Scouts, the women's clubs and organizations, chamber of commerce, farm center communities and the other organizations and enterprises will lend in no small way to the increasing of the unity and co-operation among the citizens of Orange county.

THE JUSTIFICATION OF FAITH

This message is written to all Durant Partners in Orange County:

Did you know that through your faith in W. C. Durant, it has made possible the greatest industrial record of all time!

It is less than two years since the first car ever to bear the name Durant was produced. Yet today seventy-five thousand of these cars have been built, and sold.

It is but little more than a year since the first Star car was delivered to a purchaser. Yet more than one hundred thousand duplicates are now in the hands of owners.

Ten great modern factories with combined capacity for six hundred and sixty-seven thousand motor cars a year, a group of parts and accessory plants, and an organization of four thousand dealers, now constitute facilities for production and distribution.

Forty-eight thousand workers secure their livelihood from Durant activities; this also has been made possible by this faith.

And this is only the foundation of a monument to that great faith which has been justified.

BEACH BAND TO USHER IN BIG COUNTY FAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 22—With the announcement that the local Municipal Band would play at the Orange County Fair on opening day residents of this city were today making plans to hold a parade through the streets of Santa Ana with their band Tuesday morning.

The local band is to be the only band to play at the Fair outside of the Rotary Boys band of Santa Ana.

Dressed in white palm beach suits they will lead the parade through the buiness district to the Fair grounds. There they will play in the afternoon and evening.

Arrangements were completed Thursday for the band to be at the Fair by Manager Will Galleine. The Huntington Beach band has been giving concerts during the summer at the band stand on the pike here and has met with great success.

The program to be played by the band has not been arranged as yet, but it is thought that they will play many of the popular pieces and according to their manager Mr. Galleine, they will have a program to suit every one.

The band is well known for its special features and wide range of music. The city of Huntington Beach is defraying part of the expenses to make it possible for the band to play for the Fair, it is stated.

Mexican Bean Beetle Reported In Alabama

The Mexican bean beetle has been reported to the United States deartment of agriculture from Lee county, Ala., 50 miles south of the known infested area in 1922. It has also been reported from the eastern part of Mississippi.

ORANGE CITY IDEAL COMMUNITY CENTER

The city of Orange with a population of 8000, lies in an area devoted almost exclusively to oranges, lemons, walnuts and semi-tropical fruits.

More than 10,000 people live in the territory of which Orange is the community center. The growth of Orange has been steady and consistent. The community is developed to a marvelous degree, but nevertheless offers attractive opportunities for further development to persons possessing moderate capital.

In environment and beauty of setting, in the excellence of its schools and the intelligence of its citizenry, in the substantial industries that are its characteristics, Orange is looked upon as ideal.

The fair will be better this year than ever before, and that is saying a lot, but a lot that's true.

California Is Held Superior to Italy

Climatically California and Italy are similar and also they are about equal in area. California has a population of 4,000,000; Italy, 40,000.

What can prevent California from supporting in comfort a population as dense as that of Italy, if educated more liberally and technichally more efficiently?

If millions are destined to find, along this favored slope between the mountains and the sea, an abiding place and a habitation, development and conservation must parallel increase in population There must be more hydro-electric power; more reclamation projects; an intensive cultivation of the soil; factories and yet more factories; and, because no large population can supply all its wants at home, seaports—the front and back doors for water-bound commerce—must be provided.

Everybody in Orange county will attend the fair at least once, and most of them will go two, three, four or more times.

Deepened Channel To Add to Port Traffic

Traffic will begin to flow through Newport harbor in considerable volume when the present 16-foot channel is deepened and widened and a second jetty built and the harbor thus made available for the larger ocean going vessels. The sooner this is done the sooner will growers begin to save on trucking costs and through ocean freights.

Facts About Santa Ana Are Explained In Brief

Santa Ana, capital city of Orange county, population 27,696; embraces nine square miles; has fifteen schools, junior high under construction, additions being built to five others; employs 200 teachers; assessed value $16,045,895; centrally located, surrounded by rich farm lands; no malaria; low infantile mortality; an ideal place to observe the passing days.

All aboard! The Fair Opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SCOUT EXHIBITS TO BE BIGGER THIS YEAR

By ROLAND DYE
Orange County Scout Executive.

At last year's fair a new department was instituted which proved to be one of the most popular features of the county fair.

This year that department has been extended and enlarged to the extent that the fair committee has made available a large tent on the grounds to be used exclusively by Boy Scouts.

Between fifteen and twenty individual exhibits will be entered by different troops throughout the county. These exhibits will be entered in competition for the D. Eyman Huff trophy as first prize.

Second and third prizes will be awarded by the Boy Scout committee.

In addition to the troop prizes, there will be individual prizes for individual Scout exhibits on the following articles:

Exhibit of any collection bearing on individual hobbies, sea shells and plants, bridge models, tower models, knot boards, model boards showing fires, tents, different types of the lean-to, shelters, trail makers, etc., bow, arrows and string, drawings for architecture merit badge, paintings and art drawings, aeroplane models, botany exhibits, materials forged and made for blacksmithing merit badge, carpentry, leather articles, basketry articles, pottery, craftsmanship in cement, bookbinding, woodcarving, craftsmanship in wood, machinery, collection of minerals, photographs, signalling apparatus, materials submitted for stalking merit badge, maps and similar articles.

Some of the troops in the county have been looking forward with eager anticipation to the fair, because they earnestly hope to have exhibits that will entitle them to the huge bronze plaque that is indicative of first place. It is expected that these exhibits will bring forth many interesting features of the Scout work.

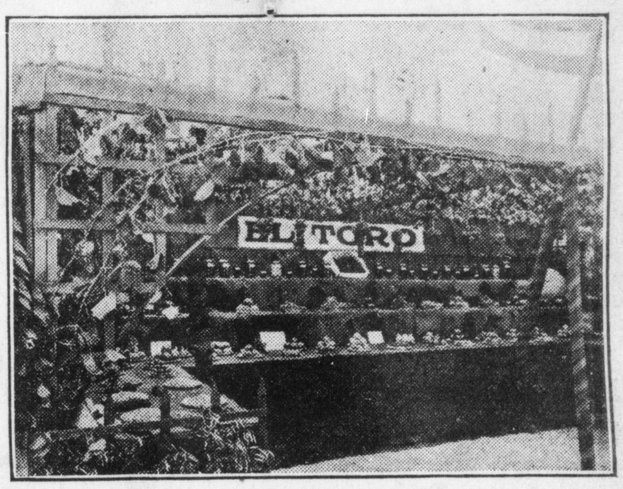

Troops so far have indicated that they are going to enter radio sets, exhibits in carpentry and woodcarving, knot boards, marine life, butterfly collections, collections of unique coins, stamp collections, paintings, friction fire making sets, blacksmith work, photography, nature study and all of its phases.

In addition to the individual troop exhibits, the Orange county council will enter an exhibit that, through its variations, will endeavor to tell the public what the activities have been during the past year.

The judging will be done on Tuesday by D. Eyman Huff, past president of the Boy Scout council, Scout Executive George Walker of San Bernardino and Scout Executive Oscar Matthews of Huntingttn Park.

Santacala in Operation! Future Products All Sold!

The Way is Clear for Santacala to Become One of the Largest Textile Mills in the Country

MAKING BLANKETS AT 85% OF CAPACITY

Our dreams are REALITIES! The Santacala Woolen Mills are in operation, turning out huge quantities of blankets to fill the large number of orders taken in advance.

Operation is smooth, plans are working out exactly as conceived. The mills are producing blankets that dealers in Los Angeles and San Francisco are accepting as the equal of any eastern goods, and expressing their pleasure in the highest terms of their quality and beauty of design.

It is now an assured fact that Santacala blankets will have preference over eastern products, not alone because they are a home product, but because they will be preferred by the buying public.

THE MILLS ARE HERE!—GOING AT TOP SPEED! We're happy, and it's a big thing for us and for Santa Ana!

FINANCING WELL ACCOMPLISHED FEW REMAINING SHARES ON MARKET

We have nothing to worry about in the financing end–half of our program has been successfully completed, and with dividends looming now on the horizon, we are past the BEGGING stage!

The entire output of the mills has been contracted for by a selling agency of unquestioned standing and responsibility and on a basis that insures satisfying and increasing profits for stockholders.

The Board of Directors has been added to recently and now composes a strong personnel, able manufacturers and business men whom stockholders can trust to serve their interests well.

The few remaining shares are open to subscription at the old price, and we are ready to place FACTS and FIGURES before any serious investor interested.

Downtown Offices:
Suite 22, Commercial Bldg.,
514 1-2 No. Main St., Santa Ana.

Factory at:
East Washington Avenue and Santiago Street.

If You Care to Share in Santacala's Success, Action Now is Imperative

It is no longer a matter that can be delayed. Should you happen to be among those who were waiting to see the Santacala Woolen Mills in operation and to see what they would do—you have waited until the eleventh hour as far as sharing in their profits is concerned. The mills are going—the products are sold—part of the stock issue is still on sale at the original price. The next move is the investor's.

See Section 4 at the Fair

Section No. 4 at the Orange County Fair, September 25-29, will contain a large display of Santacala blankets. You are cordially invited to stop a few moments and see for yourself the fine products at the Santacala Woolen Mills.

Co-operative Spirit Reigns at Orange County Fair

TELLS NEED OF ALL TO LEND AID TO FAIR

BY JAMES C. METZGAR
Secretary Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; General Manager 1922 Fair.

Greetings 1923 Orange county fair, may your greatness long remain in our memory as an example for future fairs.

Staged under the most favorable auspices, with ample time in which to prepare a great agricultural and horticultural exposition of soil, oil and manufactured products, the 1923 fair should and will stand as Orange county's best fair to date.

Every able-bodied citizen of the county, whether they be farmers, orchardist, business or professional men and women, together with their families and friends should visit the fair at least once, for the good they will get out of this great educational exhibition. In addition there are the amusement and entertainment features, the opportunities of meeting and greeting old and new friends and acquaintances. The chance to see at first hand what our neighbors, the ranchers, are doing and to gauge the progress they are making. The merchant displays his wares day by day in an attractive way, in his store windows in the retail district.

Crop Diversity Cited

His farmer neighbors who in Orange county, California, are also business specialists, are displaying their goods in like manner at the fair. The latest development in crops, if you please, the 1923 fall crop styles, will be shown to the best advantage by men and women who are expert crop specialists.

The diversity of Orange county crop products on exhibition fair week, under a big circus canvas, will amaze even the pioneers who pride themselves on their knowledge of the county's production.

Orange county is a living example of what Mother Earth can do as mankind's chief provider. Here is produced, in abundance, everything mankind requires for subsistence. The fair will exhibit the county's best and, in viewing Orange county's best, you will realize again and again your good fortune in that you are a living, vital part of it all. That you are a resident of a community so abundantly blessed by nature at her best.

Asks Support

Co-operative service by public-spirited men and women produced the successful 1922 fair, with insufficient time with which to properly prepare such an important event. That it was a success was due entirely to the splendid spirit of active co-operation backed up by real services of the men and women who comprised the fair organization.

If last year's fair was worth the support of the multitudes who attended, then this year's fair will be worth twice such support.

The 1923 fair organization has builded a big worth-while event. Let all Orange county make it their business and their pleasure to help make this event the big success it warrants.

Back up your county fair, Orange county people, make it the season's chief event, make it possible to build a greater 1924 fair even than the present year's show, for on your support this year depends all future Orange county fairs.

Movie Actress to Be Visitor Here

Not every motion picture star can actually ride a horse and get away with it gracefully, but Miss Ruth Renick, leading lady for Jackie Coogan, has no trouble in this respect. Miss Renick, who will be honorary mascot of the rodeo to be held in connection with the seventh annual Orange county fair, gave up a position as an Arizona school teacher to take up a theatrical career. She will take part in the program on opening day. Her second and third appearance will be on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Story of Progress Told in County Fair Exhibits

WONDERLAND IS ON DISPLAY AT COUNTY FAIR

By FREEMAN H. BLOODGOOD
California's First Real Estate Commissioner.

The garnered sweets and golden orbs of beauty in artistic array invite the visitor to treat his eyes and palate at the Orange county fair.

The sun has done his work. The harvest time is on. The richest soils of earth, thirty-eight varieties ranging from Alamont loam to Costal Beach and Dunesand, have yielded up their fruits in riotous color and appetizing nectar.

With Orange county ranking fourth in all California and twelfth in North America, and the richest county in the world of its size, a fair in Orange county is worth while. A choice sample of products valued at $92,258,400 is offered.

Sample the $14,500,000 crop of oranges. Smile upon the walnuts valued at $3,750,000.00. Bite into the spicy peppers worth $1,250,000. Have a lump of Orange county's sugar, product of four sugar beet factories, totaling $4,500,000. Try a glass of lemonade—there's $2,700,000 worth of lemons to draw from. From $1,000,000 worth of dairy products eat a dish of ice cream. Fill up on substantial lima beans—plenty of them in the crop of $2,500,000. Have some fried chicken and poached eggs; valued at $1,250,000. Try your hand at a wonderful salad combined from a yield of $2,500.000 worth of garden truck. Top off on a sip from our $100,000 honey jar.

Then step on the starter of your favored auto, run by our $50,000,000 oil station and go bring in your friends and neighbors.

The live stock $1,000,000 worth, will be there to give you encouragement to raise better ones if you can. All sort of fowls—birds, chickens, doves, turkeys, ducks, gueese —the select ones from the best pens will be there.

In 1798, in Paris, Napoleon first gave emphasis to exhibits of home manufactured products. But they had no electric washers, vacuum cleaners or sewing machines in his day. We have them now up-to-the-minute. Wonder-working, labor-saving, joy-producing contraptions from a self-starter to a radio thing bringing a message from the far-off peoples of every clime.

Orange county fair is a liberal educator. Make a study of it. It will pay big dividends. Every realtor in Orange county should be there realtors' day. And every person within reach should attend at least one full day. The best of music, the finest of artistic arrangement of exhibits, the choicest people of all the world will be there to greet you and make you happy.

Then you will fully appreciate David's 23d Psalm for verily you will vow to dwell in the heart of Orange county forever. You will find your Shepherd—you will not want.

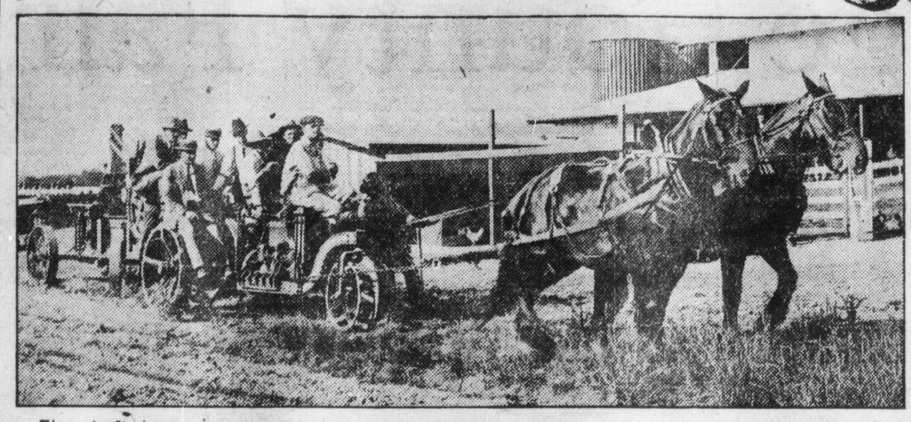

Flowers, Vines Make Inexpensive Yards

A systematic effort ha dbeen made for several years in Cass county, Texas., by the home demonstration agent to inspire a greater love for home through making it more attractive on the exterior as well as on the interior. As a rule where one family makes the yard attractive with plantings and gives the house a freshening coat of paint or whitewash, others in the community soon follow.

Emphasis has been placed on neatness and suitable plantings which would be possible for even the simplest home. Trimness can be achieved at small expense if fences, gates, and steps are kept in repair. Vines, flowers, grassy lawns, trees, window boxes and flower beds cost relatively little if the members of the family are all willing to do their share in planting and caring for them. The extension worker has brought out these points in encouraging the rural people to improve the outsides of their homes.

Fine Horses, Fine Birds, Pretty Girls Boost the Fair

Fine draft horses, pretty girls, thousands of chickens and numerous other attractive features will greet the visitor to the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, which will be thrown open to the public here at 10 a. m., tomorrow. Above, in the accompanying illustration, is shown a group of Orange county beauties holding some of the county's finest birds. Below, Ed. G. Stinson, Orange, is shown proving to a group of scoffers that his magnificent draft team could pull a Sampson tractor out of a field, where the tractor had been standing for several weeks. This team, which won first place honors last year, will be exhibited again this year.

$940,000 PAID ALREADY FOR PORT NEEDS

Orange county's harbor has great natural advantages. Its development is progressing under the direction of a County Harbor commission appointed by the board of supervisors of Orange county.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE follows:

Orange county and the city of Newport Beach have expended $875,000.00. With these funds there has been built a breakwater extending into the ocean a distance of 2100 feet from the shoreline at the entrance to the bay. A channel fourteen feet deep and 185 feet wide at the surface and 125 feet wide on the bottom has been dredged the entire length of the "lower" or Pacific basin, following the upper arm, this is known as the "county" channel. At the halfway point (opposite the small island centering the main peninsula) begins the "city" channel, which is 185 feet wide at the surface and 125 feet on the bottom; this channel is ten feet in depth. Works have been constructed which divert the Santa Ana river into the ocean, thus keeping the harbor area free from the deposit of silt which the Santa Ana river has usually carried in large quantities.

Several areas of city and county properties fronting the shoreline have been filled in with dredged material making available land areas suited for factory and other purposes.

WHAT IS PROPOSED follows:

Orange county voters will be asked to vote additional bonds for the following work:

Construction of East Jetty to 30 feet of water, $400,000.

Extension and reinforcement of West Jetty, $195,000.

Dredging Entrance to a depth of 30 feet, $135,000.

Wharf and Warehouses, $75,000.

Auxiliary Expense, Engineering, etc., $85,000.

Total, $940,000.

The work is to be done under supervision of the United States army engineer, Los Angeles district, and the Orange County Harbor commission.

The following organizations will be pleased to answer inquiries:

At Balboa, The Balboa Chamber of Commerce; Costa Mesa, Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce; Newport Beach, Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce; or the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, Newport Beach, Calif.

Tomorrow the fair will be open afternoon and evening, and after that it will be open every morning, afternoon and evening, closing Saturday night.

Woolgrowers Improve Flocks In Tennessee

Woolgrowers in several counties in middle Tennessee, including backwoods communities, are improving their flocks by the use of pure-bred sires, according to reports received by the United States department of agriculture from C. C. Flanery of the Tennessee extension service. Recently 78 farmers signed agreements to use pure-bred sires exclusivly under the "Better Sires—Better Stock" plan. The drive is being continued and live-stock judging is to be a feature of the activities at "club" camps during the summer.

September 1 is to be a noteworthy date in live-stock progress in that region, for on that day a carload of scrub sires is to be shipped out. In October, according to plans, all the pure-bred sires recently placed on farms in the region are to be shown at a county fair.

Fair opens at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Co-Operatives Doing Big Business, Shown

Of 4925 farmers, buying and selling organizations in 1921 more than 23 per cent did a business ranging from $100,000 to $200,000 and more than 15 per cent did an annual business between $70,000 and $100,000 according to figures recently compiled by the United States department of agriculture. Over 82 per cent of the associations reporting did an annual business not to exceed $200,000.

Sixty per cent of the associations doing an annual business of a million dollars or more are located in the Pacific coast states, and comprise nearly 12 per cent of all the associations in that territory, the figures show.

Left Good Business To Come Here; Glad He Did

Would you sell a good business in the East and come to California to live? That is just what Fred H. Rice did in the fall of 1921. He sold everything but his car and, with his family, left Ann Arbor, Mich., for points West. "I had faith in California and even more in Santa Ana after I had looked over the entire state," said Rice today. "and that faith was well founded. I have enjoyed a steady growing business since opening a shoe store here in February, 1922."

The fair will be better this year than ever before, and that is saying a lot, but a lot that's true.

Parasites of Japan Bettle Reach Seattle

During the first week of July a large shipment of dexiid and tachinid parasites of the Japanese beetle were received in Seattle. These insects came from Japan in cool storage, and great care was exercised in preparing them for transcontinental shipment to the Japanese beetle laboratory of the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture, at Riverton, N. J. At Seattle representatives of the bureau had ready a number of 10-gallon ice cream freezers. The boxes of parasites were transferred directly to the tubs of these freezers, well iced, and started east with as little delay as possible. An express company co-operated in the work by seeing that the freezers were reiced en route. The parasites are to be liberated in connction with Japanese beetle control work.

Fair opens at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

17-Year-Locust Is Regular Visitor

The periodical cicada, or seventeen-year locust, as it is popularly called, appears in some part of the country every year. These various groups are recognized as different broods by entomologists, and each has a number, according to its appearance. Brood XIV is appearing just now in the East-Central states and also in scattering numbers in parts of Maryland, and a single individual was taken at Maywood, Va., according to reports received by the United States department of agriculture. Brood XXII, which belongs to the thirteen-year race, is appearing in a full emergence in the four southwestern counties of Mississippi.

All aboard! The Fair Opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SEES EFFORT BEHIND FAIR AS WORTHY OF PRAISE

Depicts 'Back Stage' Elements Entering Into Task of Preparation

UNSELFISHNESS CITED

Heroism of Tilling Soil By Day and Making Displays At Night Is Portrayed

By TOM LEWIS
(Member of The Register Staff.)

Looking through the big, round glasses of Manager R. D. Flaherty, let's slip in and have a pre-view of the great seventh annual Orange county fair, scheduled to open here at 10 a. m., tomorrow.

We will start at the very beginning—or out on the Fifth street side—where the entrances are situated. It would take a mighty strong man to stand near one of the ticket sellers and throw a stone back to where Ed G. Stinson of the livestock committee is busily engaged in whipping his department into shape.

In fact, when you start to walk that distance—from the ticket seller to the huge rodeo lot—you find that you have a nice little job all cut out for yourself. In reality, it is not more than a quarter of a mile, but in that quarter of a mile you will find many interesting things to make you tarry along the way.

Enormity is Apparent

When we pause to consider that this monster fair is housed under more than 110,000 square feet of canvas, to say nothing of the huge outdoor rodeo stockade, we gain some faint conception of the enormity of the project which has kept the Smileys, the Flahertys, the Finleys, the Campbells, the Bradleys, the Stanleys, the Hollinsheads, the Tuffrees, the Swales's and all the other members of the big farm bureau family busily engaged for, lo, these many months.

And somehow, as we pass through the gates and enter the great agricultural tent, with its beautiful flowers massed by the Amlings, the Morrises, the Huffs, the Pauls, the Morrows and the scores of other faithful workers, we cannot help but feel that we, the great sightseeing folk of Orange county, owe a lasting debt of gratitude to these tireless workers who, in many cases, have sacrificed their own private interests in order that this, the richest little county in the world, might put on a farm bureau fair that will be a credit to the county and a tribute to the men and women who united in a common effort to bring it into being.

Cost in Effort Striking

We pass, then, still mentally registering our gratitude, to the many alluring exhibits placed in the big tent by the farm centers of the county. As we observe the handicraft of the men and women of the respective communities—including Yorba Linda, Garden Grove, Fullerton, Costa Mesa, Villa Park, Tustin, West Orange, La Habra, Cypress, Anaheim, and the others—we pause a moment and ponder the cost of it all. Not necessarily the dollars and cents cost—but the cost in effort, in time, in loving endeavor, in the determined effort to please those of us who have come to see and to admire.

Long days of preparation, followed by long nights of worry and uncertainty, unquestionably have figured in those beautiful and neatly-arranged displays. Many a tired mother, after putting the children to bed, has labored to help father make ready for the fateful hour when these exhibits, no longer private property, would become the property of all of us. How true it is, that the painter, having finished his canvas, no longer owns the masterpiece.

Present Wares to Public

The same is true in the needlework department, in the floriculture department, pigeon and pet stock department, and all the other departments. With the vision ever before them, the mothers and fathers and all the allied clan have come now to show their wares, to vie with one another for first-division honors, and to say, in effect to the people of the county and all Southern California:

"This is the finished picture.

ISSUE WELCOME TO ALL VISITORS

"Be Our Guests, and We Offer You Our Heartiest Hospitality"

Joining with the officers and directors of the Orange County Fair, and various other organizations and the citizenry in general of Santa Ana, we want to extend to YOU, PERSONALLY, a most sincere and hearty invitation to be our guest during Fair Week.

We want you to consider everyone of us, individually, and all of us, collectively, as your hosts during Fair Week; ready and willing and glad to extend to you every possible courtesy and accommodation; every kind and degree of hospitality of which we are capable.

We want you to feel at home. The Fair is YOURS; we want you to feel that the city, too, is YOURS—that its hotels, stores, shops, banks, public buildings and all the people in them are at YOUR service.

The spirit of the Orange County Fair is not a commercial spirit, but a CO-OPERATIVE spirit—the spirit of a common cause, dedicated to inspiration, education, civic pride, public welfare and social service, for the WHOLE of Orange county.

In that spirit we invite you to come and be with us as our honored guests at a "Feast of Reason and Flow of Soul."

SANTA ANA MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

NO GAMBLING CONCESSIONS PERMITTED

According to J. A. Smiley, chairman of the board of directors of the seventh annual Orange county fair, which opens here tomorrow, many fairs held throughout the country are given a "black eye" with numerous patrons because those in charge of the arrangements permit certain concessioners to conduct questionable games on the grounds.

"When the farm bureau decided to take hold of the Orange county fair," said Chairman Smiley, "it was agreed among the officers and the board of directors that many objectionable features found at other fairs would be conspicuous by their absence when the gates of our fair are thrown open.

"For example, it was explained, there are many concessions, whose managers, following county fairs, make a practice of taking money from the public by means that are doubtful, to say the least.

"Some have contended that these games are not actually to be classed as gambling, but in our opinion the good people of Orange county should be protected against the remotest suggestion of chance. When we invite the people to be our guests, we want them to understand we mean it in every sense of the word.

"Therefore, when you come to the seventh annual fair, you will be agreeably surprised to find nothing but clean and harmless amusements on the pleasure zone. The business of mulcting the public may prove profitable in other localities, but we will not permit fly-by-night fakirs to rush in and reap a rich harvest here.

"Everything possible has been done to eliminate all games of chance. We will co-operate with the sheriff in making this the cleanest fair in the county's history."

A. M. STANLEY, secretary-manager of the Orange County Farm bureau, one of the officers who sees in the annual county fair, opening here tomorrow, an excellent opportunity to prove to the world that Orange county deserves the designation, "the best and richest little county in the world." Stanley was executive secretary of the Napa county farm bureau for several years.

Group of Five Towns In Peat Belt Grow

These enterprising community centers are located in Orange County's world renowned peat belt. Truck crops, sugar beets and lima beans are grown here extensively. Here, the claims of friendship for the soil and the things it will produce grip one with such power that we son become victims of its eloquence.

Look on County Fair As Exemplifying Motto of Kiwanians

Being builders ourselves—the Kiwanis motto, "We Build"—and seeing here in Orange county already builded a great productive empire, foundationed by the hand of the Supreme Builder of the Universe, building greater and ever greater under His Providence and Guidance by the hand of man, the Kiwanis club of Santa Ana presents to its fellow Kiwanians, especially, and to the general public of the Great Southwest the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair which opens in Santa Ana tomorrow.

In its inception development, management and execution, we believe the Spirit of the Fair to be truly a Kiwanian spirit, a spirit of mutual helpfulness in constructive enterprise, with no personal preference or profit and no individual exploitation of common resource and opportunity.

In that spirit the Kiwanis Club of Santa Ana commends the Orange County Fair and pledges it the hearty support of the Kiwanis clubs of Orange county.

Boulevards Here Link With Others of State

California with its four thousand miles of paved boulevards is looked upon as the motorists' paradise, as it truly is, and in that paradise one of the loveliest gardens crossed and recrossed with paved roads is Orange county. From the seashore to the scenic wonders of the mountains, through fertile and prosperous valleys, these boulevards radiate to every nook and corner of the land, through blossom and fruit-laden orchards, making a panorama that is spread in wonderful and almost kaleidoscopic color. Nature and man have conspired to effect a truly wonderful combination.

The County Fair management has provided a program for every afternoon and evening.

Everybody in Orange county will attend the fair at least once, and most of them will go two, three, four or more times.

FAIR IS GIVEN ENDORSEMENT BY MINISTER

Comments on Clean, Moral Spirit to Mark Big Exhibition

BY THE REV. WILL A. BETTS, President Santa Ana Ministerial Association.

No better means of publicity can be employed by any county than the putting over of a fair of such a character as will demand the unwavering support of every citizen.

Some months ago, the matter of the Orange county fair was laid before the Santa Ana Ministerial association and that body gave the enterprise its most hearty and unanimous endorsement.

At that meeting it was counseled that care should be taken to have the moral tone of the fair of such a nature that all could gladly enlist as boosters for its success.

After these months of hard work in preparation for the opening of this great fair it is indeed refreshing and most encouraging to have the management give to the public renewed and definite assurances that every possible means has been used to make the fair, this year, one of the cleanest and best that has ever been held in California.

In return for this endeavor, on the part of the management, every loyal citizen of the county should do his utmost to make it a success.

Surely we have much whereof to boast. Whoever lives in this incomparable county has good reason to be an enthusiastic booster.

In beauty, Orange county rivals the Garden of Eden and in products it is like that country promised to the children in the long ago—"A land that flows with milk and honey." The best the world has to offer we have here.

A beneficient Creator has crowned the year with goodness and enriched it with plenty; our paths have been bordered with prosperity until the hills and valleys rejoice on every side.

In view of the increase of our flocks and the abundant harvest of the year, every man and woman; boy and girl in Orange county should join in an effort to make this the greatest and best fair in our history.

"Future Forest Giants,' 'a new one-reel motion picture recently released by the United States Department of Agriculture, picturizes the extensive activity of the Forest Service in reforstation of great areas, particularly in the Western States, that have been laid bare by forest fires or destructive logging operations.

The progress of a tree from the seed to the towering giant of the forest is shown by a sequence of scenes made in and near the Savenac Nursery of the Forest Service at Haugen, Mont., the largest of the nurseries operated by the Federal Government, and where millions of seedlings are grown every year. The Savenac Nursery is near the great "1910 burn," scene of one of the greatest timber conflagrations known since the white man crossed the Great Plains, and most of the nursery's product goes into this area. Planting of seed beds, watering, protection from birds and too much sun, transplanting, bundling, and all the other operations necessary in producing the young trees are shown, including the work of the "planting crew" when it places the seedlings in the ground, at a total cost, including stock and planting, of 1½ cents each. The film ends with scenes of mature timber ready for utilization.

The film will be circulated through the department's film distribution system. Authorized persons and institutions may purchase prints at the laboratory cost.

The County Fair will be a real fair. Orange County never had a better.

HORSE SHOW TO BE BIG FEATURE OF FAIR OPENING HERE TUESDAY

This magnificent horse, Valencia Rex, owned by Dr. Lee C. Deming of Anaheim, will be exhibited at the seventh annual Orange county fair, which opens here next Tuesday at 10 a. m., and continues until Saturday, September 29. Miss Ruth Renick, motion picture star, will appear at the rodeo Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Thoroughbred Bound to Attract Attention and Admiration

The horse show and rodeo, to be staged in connection with the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, which opens here tomorrow at 10 a. m., and continues until Saturday, September 29, will be one of the most pretentious affairs of the kind every attempted in Southern California, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

"E. G. Stinson and other members of the livestock committee have worked day and night for the past month to make the stocw show and the rodeo eclipse anything of the kind ever seen here," said Cory.

"Not only will there be one of the most spectacular Orange county rodeos ever staged in this section of the state, but there will be some of the finest draft, saddle and service horses every exhibited at a county fair.

"It will be well worth the price of admission to see Valencia Rex, beautiful champion stallion owned by Dr. Lee C. Deming of Anaheim This horse, winner of many prizes at Los Angeles and the California fairs, is a product of Orange county, having been bred from high class stock by Dr. Deming on his ranch near Anaheim.

"Dr. Deming has also bred several horses that have won championships at the state fair. Valencia Rex is a direct descendant of the world's champions, Rex MacDonald and Bourbon Chief.

"Miss Ruth Renick, motion picture star, will appear as mascot at the redeo on several occasions during the week. Stinson and other Orange county stockmen will exhibit draft horses and purebred stock tents on the rear of the fair grounds."

Modern Accommodation Caters to Every Taste

Orange county proves its desire to welcome the traveler by providing the most modern accommodations, catering to every taste with metropolitan hotels, commodious apartments, cozy bungalows, tent cities, beach and mountain resorts. The automobile tourist may drive in any day of the year and pitch his tent in some of the most desirably equipped camps ever conceived—rest rooms, shower baths, community kitchens, gas ranges—everything genuine comfort requires. Recognizing that every visitor is a possible future resident Orange county regards practical hospitality as an important business asset.

FURNISH LEADERSHIP IN PUBLIC ENTERPRISE

Credit Where Much Credit Is Due Is Given By Fair Managers

All hail the Farm Center

This highly important unit in the Farm Bureau has an unexcelled place in the making of the big County fair.

The farm centers are responsible for gathering together of the wonderfully fine samples of products today being placed in the booths. They have furnished the leadership and the enthusiasm that have made the real showing of Orange county products possible.

The farm center is a representative of a community. In it community problems are studied and solutions offered.

According to managers of last year's fair, and the managers of this year's fair, no end of commendation belongs to the individual centers, for theirs has been a superb public service, freely given.

Costa Mesa Future Glows With Promise

Situated on the highlands overlooking Orange County's harbor, and traversed by the Newport Beach highway, this farming community has rapidly come to the front as one of the rich agricultural districts of the state. While all manner of crops flourish in Costa Mesa, the Costa Mesans take particular pride in their apples and lemons.

FINDS GREATEST THRILL VIEWING LIVESTOCK

By W. M. CORY,
Assistant Farm Advisor

To my mind, one of the most inspiring features in connection with a great county fair is that section of the annual event devoted to livestock.

One cannot find a livelier, cleaner aggregation of sports in any trade or profession than is to be found among the livestock breeders.

In some mysterious manner their environment impresses itself into their very being, so that they radiate the bigness of their work. They are the men who are making history every day.

One cannot pick up a paper without learning a record for milk production that a certain cow has made; or that a few seconds have been clipped off the mile; or that the meat-eaters are the fighters of the nation, or that some hen has laid two eggs in one day.

Many Improvements Made

It is largely to the initiative of livestock breeders that this is due. And to their credit, let it be said that they view the coming of the annual Orange county fair with a great deal of enthusiasm; for they take pride in showing the public those animals which have required years of careful selection and breeding to complete the finished state which you behold at the fair.

It is with as much pride as the automobile agent takes in his latest model car that the average stockman, wrapped up in his subject, tells you of the striking improvements of the last few years. Yet how simple are the improvements of the automobile, when compared with those of the livestock breeder, who has all the elements of nature to compete with.

Praises Rodeo

The livestock breeder shows his animals largely from an educational and competitive standpoint, for he must compete with his fellows and many of these are thoroughly up to date in all that pertains to high class stock. It is in the show ring that we must be prepared to prove our claims. Here the strong points and the weak points are accentuated. It is here that we learn what a first class animal really it.

This is why the livestock division at the great county fairs always gives me a thrill. Our residents will find, when the fair opens tomorrow, that we have nothing of which we need feel ashamed. Some of the finest stock ever exhibited in the Southland will be on display.

The rodeo, itself, will be well worth the price of admission.

W. M. Cory

WALNUTS TO BE FEATURED AT ONE BOOTH

Walnuts, one of Orange county's greatest sources of wealth, will be featured in many attractive ways at the seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here tomorrow, according to S. W. Stanley, chairman of the walnut committee of the Orange county farm bureau.

"Independent and association walnut growers and packing house executives have agreed," said Stanley, "that this year's walnut display should be superior to anything of the kind we have ever attempted here.

To Show Varieties

"In order to carry out this idea, we have arranged a booth, 10 by 20 feet, in the agricultural tent, where walnut growers from all sections of the county will unite in showing their varieties to the best possible advantage.

"In this exhibit will be found the respective commercial varieties, all arranged in an appealing way, and many other little accessories. At this booth will be found packing house officers and others qualified to dislay the nuts and tell visitors about this, one of the greatest of Orange county's agricultural features."

Experts in Charge

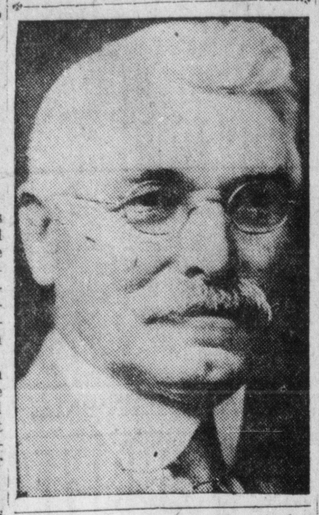

According to Manager John Gowen of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, this display will prove invaluable as an advertising medium.

"Diamond Brand nuts are known throughout the United States and Canada," said Gowen, "and it is fitting that we, here at home, should place on display our very best nuts, in order that our own people may see the walnut in its finished state."

President Harry W. Lewis, Manager Gowen and Chairman Stanley will be in active charge of the walnut booth.

The County Fair management has provided a program for every afternoon and evening.

J. E. Gowen

SEES EFFORT FOR FAIR WORTH WHILE

For months it has been but a dream, held close to the hearts of those of us, who, working patiently and without thought of applause, have sought to create something of which you might reasonably feel proud.

"We make no boast that the picture is a masterpiece. We can only say that we have striven to make it approach something closely resembling perfection. If we have succeeded, in the slightest degree, in making you happy, if we have in the smallest measure contributed to the entertainment and amusement of the many, we feel that we are richly repaid for our efforts. Yesterday it was our fair. Today it is your fair. May you enjoy it to the utmost!"

Has the man who writes the pre-view any legitimate right to anticipate your pleasures by telling you in advance what to expect when you pass in and out of the great tents down on East Fifth street?

No! Let him content himself with generalities. Let him tell you the bare facts—that there is this, and that there is that—but not too much. All these things you will see for yourself.

And, of course, you will be among the thousands who will try to get in when United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who has seen many, many fairs—but none greater than this—comes to tell us, in his own inimitable way, just what he thinks of fairs in general and Orange county fairs in particular.

Senator Johnson, no doubt, will tell us what a wonderful thing it is that a farm bureau, headed by strong, clean men, should undertake to stage a fair that will redound to the credit of all concerned. He will touch upon the courage, the determination, the efficiency and the all-around thoroughness of the men who till the soil by day and plan and execute county fairs by night. That is heroism, of the highest possible order, and as such it deserves and undoubtedly will win the applause and support of the people of the Southland.

As a pre-view, this article is a failure. It was intended that it should be. Why should we take away your pleasure. Go to the fair grounds and see for yourself. If we meet you there we will tell you the rest of the tale. See you tomorrow!

La Habra 'Gateway Of Orange County'

La Habra with a population of 3200 is situated on the State Highway, a couple of miles from the Los Angeles County line, and is known as the "Gateway of Orange County."

A combination of mineral and agricultural resources is responsible for the marked prosperity of this section. The Standard Oil Co. fields at the edge of the city have an annual payroll of more than one million dollars, and the normal citrus crop of this section brings to the growers each year about one and a half millions and is steadily increasing.

PROTECT GREAT FAIR AGAINST RAIN LOSS

Board Takes Out Policy In Sum of $12,500; Auto Men Also Insured

The Seventh Annual Orange County Fair, opening here Tuesdy, September 25, is a rain proof event.

If it should happen to rain during the fair it is going to cost someone money and it won't be the fair board.

Manager Flaherty has taken out insurance against rain, the event being covered by a $12,500 policy, apportioned over the five days of the fair at the rate of $2500 per day. If it should rain .10 of an inch or more between the hours of 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. on any day of the fair the board will receive $2500.

Members of the Orange County Auto Trade association have also taken out a policy against rain in the sum of $2750, payable at the rate of $550 under the same conditions of those outlined in the large policy.

Pays $312.50 Premiums

Both policies are written by the Franklin Fire Insurance company through O. M. Robbins & Son. The premium on the fair board policy was $312.50.

The fair board purchased its policy as protection against loss of gate receipts, which would be materially reduced in case of rain. The Auto Trades association and its members are spending more than $3000 to put on their display, and while they get no direct receipts through admissions, their expense and efforts would become practically valueless in case of rain cutting down the visitors to their exhibition.

In speaking of rain insurance, Mac O. Robbins, manager of the agency writing the fair and auto trades policies, said: "While rain insurance is rather new in this country and has only recently been written by stock insurance companies, there is a real demand for it. County fairs and large exhibitions almost invariably protect themselves against 'unusual weather'.

Protects Merchants

"Football and baseball games, barbecues, and other outdoor events which depend on admissions or plate charges for their financial success no longer have to take chances on rain. Merchants who spend considerable sums for advertising special sales, and hire extra sales people for their prospective customers can also be protected against loss by rain interfering with their business.

"Rain insurance is in no sense a gamble. The rates are based on the weather statistics for years back. Charges vary for different months in the year and for different locations. For instance, if our fair was held in October, the rate for rain insurance would be very much higher than that charged for September, as the weather records for the past decade and more show a much greater risk of rainfall in the latter month."

Champion Egg-Layers to be There

The egg harvest in Orange county never is over. The poultry industry plays a prominent part in the county fair booths this year.

OBTAIN BETTER OAT RETURNS BY TESTS

Sometimes we are prone to think that practices advanced by the extension service are slow to become general farm practices. Many times it is necessary to look over a long period of years to witness results. This is not so, however, in Dutchess county, N. Y., according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. In this county the superiority of Cornellian oats has been demonstrated. This year commendable tangible results were forthcoming. In all, 3000 bushels of these new oats have definitely been put in the ground.

This is how the seed improvement program has been worked. The following example is but typical of the work in other communities. The county agent met with the Millerton community committee and in planning their program they desired to stress the importance of a larger acreage of improved oats. With the data on the variety demonstrations which had already been in that community, the committeemen had a selling point that could not be discounted as the demonstration was held under local conditions. The committeemen brought this to the attention of the growers and as a result one carload of oats and 200 bushels of Alpha barley were ordered.

PERIL OF FRUIT PESTS SHOWN BY BUREAU

Material Collected Will Show Work Done In Interest of Safety

By A. A. BLOCK,
Orange County Horticultural Commissioner

Due to changes in our laws and the working up of our new organization, it has been impossible for us to collect and prepare an exhibit which would show the numerous pests that the growers have to contend with here, and those of which he fears from foreign lands. Another thing that has handicapped us, is the fumigation that is now going on at full blast. Our men are required to inspect orchards to ascertain the condition of the scale prior to fumigation. The night inspectors are endeavoring to see that the rules and regulations laid down by this office are properly adhered to by the fumigators.

It is also necessary for us to inspect after the fumigation in order to know just what results have been obtained. This work, with quarantine, rodent and weed control and standarization, has prevented our getting together the large exhibit we had planned.

Believe Exhibit Valuable

We have, however, put our force on at the last hour and collected the best material available for this purpose, and we believe that it will, in a way, help to show those who are interested how to keep trees and plants free from insect pests and plant diseases, one may see just what to expect of some of these insects, if they are allowed to go without proper treatment.

We also feel that this will help those who are anxious to obtain a better knowledge of the appearance and the effect of certain pests and diseases, which we have to contend with here. We have in this county to protect something like $155,296,900 of horticultural interests, which produces an annual income for our county of $28,528,049. 33.

Asks Co-Operation

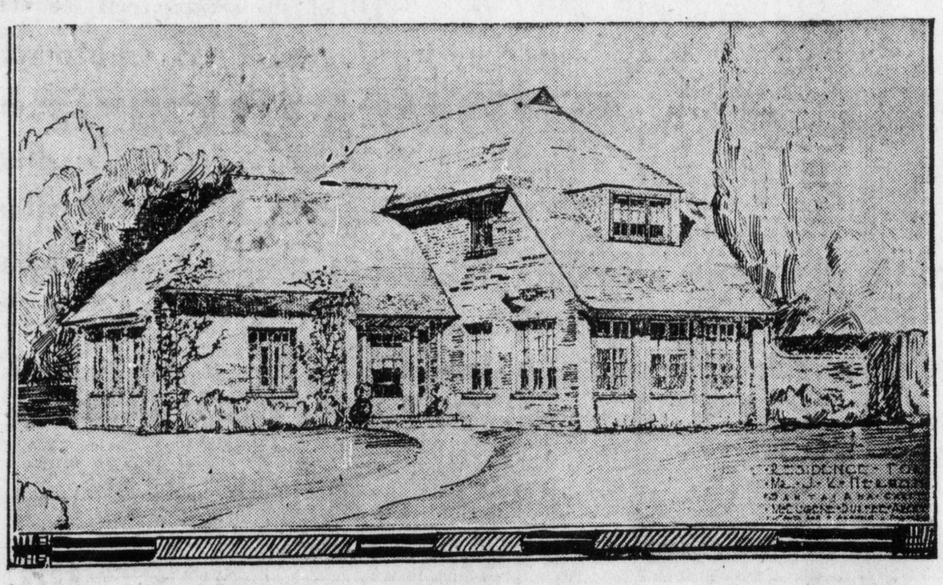

Should the Mexican orange maggot, Mediterranean fruit fly, or melon fly be introduced into the orchards of this county, they would destroy a very large percentage of the fruit that is now produced here, as they have in a number of other countries where they now exist.

GOOD FOOD AND CONTENTMENT ASSURED BY WOMEN IN CHARGE

Good food and contented babies.

These are the things that will occupy more than twenty-five active women workers who, with Mrs. Neal Beisel as chairman, will have charge of the welfare tent at the seventh annual Orange county fair. Mrs. Beisel is president of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teacher association.

"We will run the lunch counters and the baby cribs on a purely business basis," said Mrs. Beisel, after declaring that all net proceeds will be used to equip the mammoth cafeteria at the new South Main street junior high school.

"We will not only specialize in the care of babies, but we will specialize in feeding the hungry. There will be twenty-five or thirty women actively co-operating in this department.

"We want every mother in Orange county, who feels she will need this service, to avail herself of the welfare department. We will be at the fair to serve and it will be a genuine pleasure to assist all mothers who come to the fair with their children.

"Those who will assist the chairman in the welfare department and at the lunch counter include:

"Mrs. John Bermann, Mrs. C. E. Price, Mrs. C. H. Powers, Mrs. Andrew Cock, Mrs. E. R. Gerhardt, Mrs. J. U. Viau, Mrs. W. C. Mayes, Mrs. Walter Hiskey, Mrs. L. A. Turner, Mrs. M. Bramley, Mrs. Arthur Hassler, Mrs. Everett White, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. J. E. Moore, Mrs. Roy Lindsay, Mrs. E. V. S. Pomeroy, Mrs. G. S. Gaebe, Mrs. E. M. Blake, Mrs. Arthur Humphrey, Mrs. D. F. Maynard, Mrs. E. Elliott, Miss Mayme Havens, Mrs. M. Hornois, Mrs. Horton Palmer, Miss Martha Wierick and several others.

"The baby welfare department will open at 10 a. m. daily. Lunch and hot coffee will be served by the women workers day and night."

Mrs. Neal Beisel

MRS. NEAL BEISEL

President of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teacher association, who, with 25 of her fellow workers, will have active charge of the "park your baby" and welfare department of the seventh annual Orange County Fair, opening here tomorrow. The women of the Julia Lathrop association will also conduct a lunch counter in the women's tent. All proceeds will be used to defray the expense of equipping the cafeteria of the new junior high school.

78,000 Young Stock Men Enroll In 1922

Some 115,000 head of live stock thrived under the latest approved methods of care and feeding in 1922, due to the fact that they were kept by boys and girls who had joined a pig club, a beef club, or a dairy club, the actual care and management of the animals being a major part of club work. There were more than 78,000 of these young stockmen enrolled last year, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, an increase of nearly 10,000 over the enrollment of the year before.

Tourist Camp Offers Complete Facilities

The Chamber of Commerce auto camp park, near northern city limits of Santa Ana, is on the coast highway, thirty-five miles southeast of Los Angeles, ninety-five miles northwest of San Diego. The number is 2525 North Main street.

Accommodations are as follows: Assembly hall for reading, writing and social gatherings, cook house, dining room equipped with twenty-four large gas plates, sink with hot and cold water; stationary wash tubs, ironing boards, hot and cold shower, electric lights, washstand for cars, shade trees, camp store. Price 50 cents per day per car. Cabins at $1.00 per day per car.

Good roads everywhere—your money's worth and to spare—"Hospitality" awaits you.

There'll be something doing every minute the Orange County Fair is open.

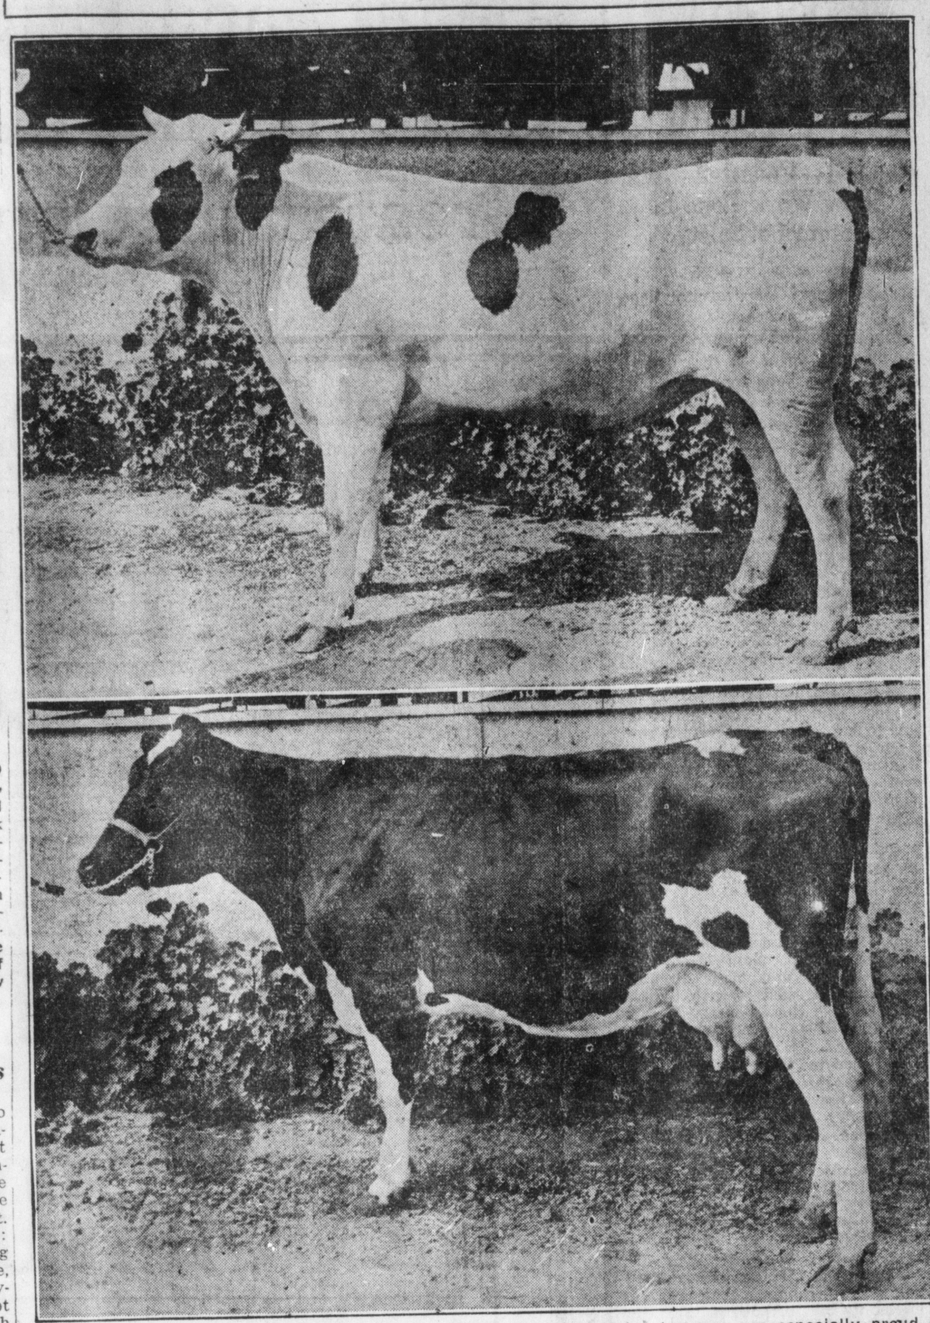

The whole family and a lot of the chickens and live stock will be present.

It's Fair Week this week.

The County Fair management has provided a program for every afternoon and evening.

"Meet me at the fair."

Dairy and Beef Stock from County Herds are Coming

According to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, Orange county stockmen are especially proud of the great forward steps made here along purebred lines during the past two or three years. Last year's fair brought out some remarkably fine stock, Cory agreed, but he asserts that this year, under direction of Chairman E. G. Stinson, competition will be still livelier for first division honors.

INCREASE LIST OF PRIZES TO POULTRYMEN

Local Merchants and Businessmen Offer Awards In Chicken Dept.

Hubert R. Howell, chairman of the poultry department of the Seventh Annual Orange county fair opening here tomorrow today announced the following special prizes in the poultry division:

Hill and Carden, $5 hat for the best pair of Barred Rock, in utility division.

W. A. Huff, $4 merchandise order for the best pen of Anconas in the utility division.

Orange County Trust & Savings bank, Santa Ana, $5 cash for the best White Wyandotte display.

F. J. Mahaffey, one sack of Leader scratch for the best display of Black Jersey Giants.

A. Vandermast & Sons company. $5 merchandise order for the best display of Silver Laced Wyandottes.

USE WAR MATERIAL IN ROAD BUILDING

Surplus war material which the government refused to sell at junk prices is being used in road construction to great advantage by the states to whom the material is transferred, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture.

At the end of the war there was left unused over a half-million pounds of rough castings of spare parts for one of the well-known makes of motor trucks. They were badly rusted and on casual inspection might have been condemned as worthless junk, but it was found that the necessary machine finishing entirely removed all rust and pits. A small offer for the entire lot was made but was not accepted. A few months ago the state highway department of North Carolina accepted a portion of them as part of its share of surplus war material for use in road building. Surplus war machinery was used for finishing the parts for use in trucks also received as surplus war material. The finished parts are worth about 75 cents a pound as compared with an offer of 1 cent a pound for the parts in the rough.

Everybody Will Admire the Poultry

In this picture is shown a handsome rooster. Last year he was among the prize winners. In fact, he was accounted as about the best bird in the show. Those in charge of the poultry department at this year's show say that the number of entries and the character of the poultrymen interested is conclusive proof that this year's poultry department will far surpass last years showing in poultry. The opening of the fair tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock will be heralded by the far-flung crowing of scores of birds, every one challenging this handsome bird to the contest of points. The young lady who is admiring the fine feathers before her is Miss Wilma Plavan, of Santa Ana.

Healthfulness of County Unsurpassed

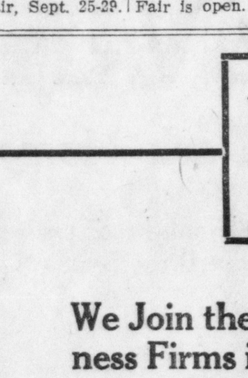

Many are the factors to be considered in selecting a place to live and rear a family, but none could be more vital than its healthfulness. Almost perpetual sunshine tempered with ocean brezes loaded with ozone, cool summers and balmy winters makes an outdoor life a pleasure, and an outdoor life means a vigorous people.

CLOSELY GUARD PROPERTY OF EXHIBITORS

Corps of Experienced Men Employed to Watch Valuables In Tents

Since the fair is to last five days and a great many of the exhibits have a high value intrinsically as well as sentimentally, the management has thrown about the tents the very best of protection.

Guards will be on duty day and night. There will not be a minute from the time the show opens tomorrow until the exhibits are all moved that there will be any part of the tents not under the watchful eyes of wide-awake men.

These guards are employed especially by the management as watchmen, and this service is given in addition to that that will be given by City Marshal Claude Rogers and Sheriff San Jernigan, both of whom have arranged to have men at the fair.

Following the closing of the fair Saturday night, ample time will be given to exhibitors to get their property safely out of the tents and home. Those who care to do so can take their exhibits home with them at the close of the fair Saturday night.

COUNTIES CONDUCT GOOD BREAD DRIVE

Campaigns for better bread in every rural home were carried on by extension workers in twenty-five North Carolina counties last year. A typical campaign was conducted in Davidson county, according to a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The co-operation of the county commissioners was first asked, and through them all demonstrations and printing were financed. Four trips to the state short course for girls were offered as prizes, and two trips to the 1922 state fair at Raleigh, N. C., by two business houses and four banks of the county.

Demonstrations in bread and biscuit making were held in seventy-two communities in the county. Enrollment cards were provided to pledge the girls definitely to enter the better bread contest, and to secure the attention of the mothers. Names and addresses of all girls present at demonstrations were secured, whether they enrolled or not. When the enrollment cards were returned each girl entered was provided with a record book in which results were to be noted for six bakings. Many wrote in these books, "Mother says my bread is better than hers;" others discovered why their biscuits were not good.

Entertainment Features Pleasing

Dainty dancers and other amusement features of the cleanest possible order, will be among the top-notch attractions to be staged in the entertainment tent at the seventh annual Orange County Fair, opening here tomorrow, and continuing until Saturday. The management is desirous of having this year's fair go on record as one of the most wholesome, from an amusement standpoint, ever staged here. Dainty Gerda Van Sanden, Fullerton, is shown in her dancing and singing act.

JUAN FORSTER'S SADDLE TO BE SHOWN HERE

Historical Exhibits at Fair Donated by Capistrano Pioneer Family

Harking back to the days of the dons, to the olden, golden days of California romance, an ancient Spanish saddle once the favorite saddle of Don Juan Forster will be shown at the county fair.

Robert C. Northcross, chairman of the committee having the historical exhibit in charge, announced today that Juan Forster's fine old saddle will be the "centerpiece" of the exhibit.

Agriculture Bureau Aids Livestock Men

About 150,000 head of improved live stock were secured by farmers in 1922, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, as a result of the work of agricultural extension agents. Over 100,000 head of these are registered stock and include some 8000 dairy bulls and 15,000 dairy cows; 7000 beef bulls and 6700 beef cows; 15,000 boars and 40,000 sows; 9000 rams and ewes; 1,000 stallions, packs, and mares. High grade dairy and beef cows comprise the remainder of the total number.

Brand New Auto Models Are On Display

NEW CARS IN BIG TENT WILL INTEREST ALL AUTO OWNERS

Manager of Trades Association Says Exhibits Are Timely

By J. B. GLAZE,
(Secretary-Manager Orange Count! Auto Trades Association.)

When the seventh annual Orange County Fair opens here tomorrow, motor dealers affiliated with the Orange County Automobile Trades association will have on display in the great agricultural tent some of the finest cars and the most modern accessories ever displayed in the Southland.

Coming in the late fall, when the final word in motor car construction is just being placed on the market by the more progressive manufacturers, this, the seventh annual fair, offers an exceptional opportunity for the Santa Ana and Orange county dealers to exhibit their wares. Through this close contact with the public, automobile dealers will have an excellent opportunity to reach thousands of persons interested in the inspection and purchase of new cars.

Among those who will have exhibits in the 80 by 140 feet reservation are:

Egge and company, Pashley Motor company, Lantz brothers, Moreland Truck company, Orange County Garage, O. A. Haley, Hull-Witmer Haynes company, Whiles Garage, George Dunton, Cadillac Garage, White Auto company, Walter Biddick and company and others.

The Ford Display

Most of the new Ford models will be on display at the fair. Some of these models as yet have not been shown in Orange county.

The new coupe, touring car, four-door sedan, one-ton truck, Lincoln and Fordson tractor will be shown. The new coupe now on display at the George Dunton showroom has attracted considerable favorable comment and many orders are piling up for immediate delivery.

In one of the booths at the George Dunton exhibit will be shown the Ford ammonium sulphate. This fertilizer is used successfully by ranchers throughout the United States and Europe for crops of all kinds. Ford ammonium sulphate is a by-product of the coke ovens. It carries from 20 to 21 per cent of available nitrogen.

The $5.00 Ford Weekly Savings Plan booth will also be featured. This new Ford plan has proven to be very popular.

O. H. Egge Company

Among the larger manufacturing firms of Santa Ana which will exhibit in this division at the fair is the O. H. Egge company. This company maintains a body-building plant, which consists of five distinct departments—woodworking and body department, metal and fender repairing department, trimming and upholstering department, painting and enameling department, and engine and chassis repair department. The plant covers approximately 24,000 square feet of floor space, of which 10,000 square feet is occupied by the woodworking and body department, which is equipped with modern machinery, and which employs only skilled mechanics. It is here that a large number of bus bodies are constantly under construction, $30,000 worth of school busses having just been completed, in addition to the regular work of building California tops, commercial bodies and general repairing.

J. B. Glaze

The California tops turned out by the trimming department afford not only the luxury of the sedan, but give to cars the snappy sport appearance preferred by so many modern motorists.

The painting and enameling department is a busy place at all times, with cars in the various stages of refinishing. Those nearest completion are in a dust-proof, uniformly heated varnish room, where the final coats are applied and finished, thus insuring perfectly tempered and clean air for the drying process.

The average weekly payroll of O. H. Egge and company is $2,000, which gives an idea of the size of the business carried on by this company.

The White Auto Company

The White Auto company, distributors of White trucks and Stephens automobiles in Orange county, are exhibiting as many of their more popular models as space will permit. The Stephens "Foursome" is distinguished in performance and alluring in color and form.

Its sweeping lines and contours are accented by the flashing nickel of radiator, headlights, cowl lamps, windshield standards and hub caps, creating a model that instantly attracts one's eye by its extreme individuality.

The Roadster — The Sorrento blue body is set off by the black enamel of radiator, fenders and aprons and the natural wood wheels. The beautiful lines and ample room make a car that will instantly appeal to any one that desires beauty as well as the utmost in service.

The Five-passenger sedan, with substantial and roomy comfort, united with balanced light weight and unfaltering power, make the Stephens 5-passenger sedan a supremely satisfying enclosed car for city and suburban use.

The Chevrolet

The Pashley Motor company, authorized Chevrolet dealer for Orange county, will have a very attractive display of 1924 model Chevrolet cars at the fair. They will feature a "Sport" model car of exceptional class; it will give the general public a splendid idea of the character of "Sport" car that can now be purchased at a very moderate price. The Chevrolet exhibit will also have a showing of the latest closed models.

A special attraction in connection with the Chevrolet exhibit will be especially for the kiddies of Orange county, and will undoubtedly create an immense amount of interest.

The Pashley Motor company will give away to boy or girl between the ages of 4 and 12 years, who lives in Orange county, a "Chevrolet Special" auto. This minature automobile is complete in all details and is plenty large for a 12-year old youngster to ride in.

The minature automobile will be on display at the fair and the week after at the salesroom of the above company up until the evening of the drawing.

Moreland Trucks

Among the California made products to be exhibited at the fair, will be a representative showing of Moreland motor trucks. This truck, manufactured at Burbank, is an entirely home state product and their slogan, "Best for the West," fittingly describes the reason why they are seen on the roads of California under every kind of motor transportation conditions.

Watt L. Moreland, believing that the truck owners in Orange county should be served in the most efficient manner possible, recently established a Direct Factory branch in Santa Ana. The branch will be located at West Fourth street and Van Ness, in a building 80 feet by 125 feet modern in every respect, and equipped to render the finest service posisble to all truck wners.

One exhibit of particular interest to the parents of Orange county who have children in school, is the underslung Moreland chassis, specially designed for school bus work. With the safety of the children paramount in the minds of the designers the chassis was lowered to eliminate all chance of the bus overturning.

Other models on exhibit are the alloy steel frame sturdy powerful five-ton chassis, in which a chrome vanadium steel springs and many aluminum parts, lessens the chassis weight and increases the strength, thereby enabling the owner to haul a capacity pay-load and still be within the new weight laws. The road runner, which is the "speed" truck of the Moreland line, is a one-ton chassis, pneumatic tires all around, and while it is a thoroughbred truck in every detail, the speed factor has been given prime consideration.

The Gardner Car

Lantz Bros. will show a 1924 Gardner coupe, also the new model Brougham, a 3-door enclosed four passenger, which is expected to arrive in Los Angeles in time for display in the Orange county fair.

The present year is proving the most prosperous one the company has experienced in 40 years as successful vehicle manufacturers.

Haynes at the Fair

Concerning their exhibit the Hull-Witmer Haynes company says:

The new 1924 Haynes 60 Touring Car—the product of many months of concentration and study on the part of Haynes engineers to refine to the highest degree what was already a wonderful motor car value—will be there.

A new body, a new system for checking rebound, a permanent top, Spanish leather upholstery and an improved, practically vibrationless motor with a much larger crank shaft and pressure oil feed to the main bearings—these are but a few of the new features of this new 1924 Haynes model.

Without any question of doubt, this 1924 Haynes 60 Touring car is the supreme dollar-for-dollar value in Haynes history. It is a better-looking car; a more comfortable car; a more durable car; a more powerful car than any previous model of its type.

Cadillac's Display

The Cadillac Garage, in addition to having on display the very last word in Hupmobiles and Cadillacs will also show a Model 20, 1909 Hup, brought here from Los Angeles specially for this occasion. There will also be on display the R-12 model Hupmobile touring and sedan.

Haley and the Dodge

O. A. Haley will display the new model Dodge Touring car, with 116-inch wheel base, drum headlights, new body lines and 55-inch underslung springs. Haley will also display the new Dodge chassis, showing all the features of the new model. The new Dodge sedan, upholstered in French velour plush, will add beauty to this exhibit. This space will be occupied by Haley and his two associate dealers, Charles Mann of Anaheim and L. Yaeger of Fullerton.

Motor Car Devices

Walter Biddick, who has had exhibits at the San Francisco and Los Angeles motor shows, will show a number of attractive and useful devices for motor cars.

For Fords he will exhibit rush roller and brakes and P-B quick detachable transmission bands. He will display and demonstrate standard safety bumper, and Guess air springs.

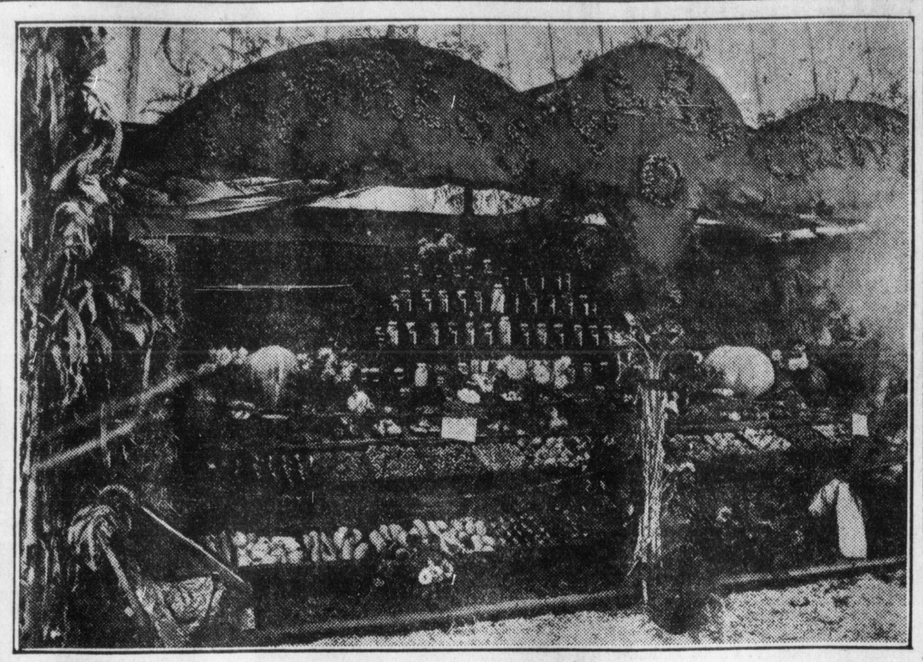

To Show Sedan

While Garage, Case agency, will display the Model X sedan and touring car and other attractive models.

Late Model Cars

The Orange County Garage company will exhibit the very last word in the "Playboy," "Blueboy" broughtam, sedan and other late models.

Cypress, Winner Last Year, Again Seeks Prize

Cypress, one of Orange county's most prolific agricultural communities, is always an active participant in Orange county fairs and romped away with first division honors at the fair held here last year. This district produces a wide variety of crops. The Cypress Farm Center exhibit at the 1922 fair won first prize of $100 and a silver cup.

The circulatory system of the cow, with "blood," actually flowing through the arteries and veins, will be illustrated in a model to be shown by the United States Department of Agriculture at the National Dairy show to be held this fall at Syracuse, N. Y. In the large model now being made by the office of exhibits liquids will circulate through glass tubes of various sizes, illustrating how nourishment is taken up from the digestive tract and carried to the udder, there to be used in the manufacture of milk.

One of the objects of this visual method is to show the difference in the proteins provided by various feeds. The cow model will be designed to show how the proteins of the feed are broken up by the digestive system into the constituent amino acids, which are transported in the blood stream to the mammary gland (the udder), where the necessary amino acids are taken out of the blood and built up into proteins of the milk.

15 New Diseases Of Vegetables Reported

Fifteen new diseases of field and vegetable crops were reported in the United States during 1922, according to the plant disease survey of the Department of Agriculture. Twelve crops were affected. They were carrot, spinach, Swiss chard, lettuce, potato, radish, Chinese cabbage, bean, watermelon, sweet potato, tomato, and tobacco. Most of the new diseases appeared in very restricted areas, seeming to be the result of abnormal climatic and similar conditions.

FAIR REFLECTOR POULTRY GAIN OF COUNTY

Pedigreed Fowls Aplenty Included In Exhibits Now On Schedule

Prominent Costa Mesa Poultryman

Orange county is noted for its oranges, its lemons, its walnuts, and its oil, but how many people know that it is also beginning to be noted for another form of agricultural activity, in the shape of its poultry industry?

How many people know that the number of Orange county's laying hens is increasing by the tens of thousands every year, and that our balmy, wonderful climate, so propitious to the successful raising of chickens, is being increasingly utilized by long-headed ranchers and settlers hereabouts? Everywhere the countryside can be seen dotted with prosperous looking poultry ranches, and the call of the hen, always quite audible in Southern California, is becoming louder and louder in our own Orange county.

Costa Mesa, alone, with its temperate seacoast atmosphere, is fast becoming a poultryman's paradise, second to none in our whole Southland.

This increasing interest in the feathered tribe will find itself reflected in the poultry show this year at our annual county fair.

Bigger and better than ever will apply to this exhibit, as well as all others at the fair, and to judge by the way entries are pouring in at present, there will be mighty few empty coops when the curtain rings up September 25.

For the man or woman who loves beautiful birds, from the purely esthetic side, who delights in beautiful feather markings, in perfect carriage, in shapely build, and in perfect appearance, for the true fancier, in short, there will be feasts galore in every variety of chicken, turkey or pigeon, with an assemblage, in the big tent, of some of the most aristocratic poultry blue blood in Southern California.

For the man or woman who looks on biddy solely as an egg-producing machine, and is interested in increasing her annual production of hen fruit, there will be specimens aplenty, in every breed, of heavy producing hens, of proud cocks and cockerels, with long lines of egg-laying blood behind them, birds with pedigrees a mile long, of illustrious, hard-working ancestors.

Both fancy and utility lists will be well filled, and when the visitor to the fair hears the bedlam of crowing, which will emanate from the poultry tent, if he's at all interested in one of the greatest little food producers in the world, let him hie himself thitherward.

Opening of Canal Holds Down Ry. Rates

The opening of the Panama canal has made possible greater development and utilization of Pacific coast ports, and the resultant water traffic is beginning to act as a check on railroad rates to the increasing benefit of inland growers and manufacturers.

Fair Boosters

HAROLD E. WAHLBERG, above, Orange county farm adviser, who sees in the seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here tomorrow, an excellent opportunity for county agriculturists and others to show the entire Southland just how rich this section of the country is when it comes to the production of bumper crops. Center, Herbert O. Davis, former assistant manager of the Orange county fair, who, as an automobile executive, sees in the fair a splendid opportunity for the motor dealers of the county to display their latest fall models to the best possible advantage. Below, Alvin E. Block, Costa Mesa poultryman, who, with other successful poultrymen, will take a prominent part in the poultry show which will be a part of the great seventh annual Orange county fair, opening here tomorrow.

LATEST IN AUTO CREATIONS TO BE PLACED

Says Time Spent Within Motor Car Tent Will Be of Benefit

BY HERBERT O. DAVIS,
Secretary Orange County Motor Car Dealers' Association.

All hail the 1923 Orange County Fair!

It is a genuine pleasure to congratulate the Orange county farm bureau upon its initiative in giving us this great annual event.

It is even more of a pleasure to congratulate the motorists and the dealers who, on this occasion, will have opportunity of meeting in the great agricultural tent for the purpose of showing and viewing the very last word in motor creation.

It is here that another opportunity will be offered the public to inspect the latest creation in modern day transportation—the combined efforts of many of the country's foremost automotive engineers in developing speed, comfort, power and safety in the handling of the latest model motor car.

The 1922 automobile show held in connection with the county fair last year and participated in by all the foremost dealers of the county proved to be a great aid in increasing the volume of sales made during the month of September, 1922, the general opinion of the dealers being very favorable to exhibits of this kind.

Many dealers stated they had derived considerable benefit from the display and had been able to list a great many prospects from which many actual sales were made.

These days everybody is interested in motor car transportation and a few hours spent among the motor car exhibits by visitors to the county fair will be worth much in furnishing first-hand information as to the latest achievements of the age in this industry.

Harbor Development To Aid Back Country

It is the back country that will benefit and make possible the extensive use of Newport harbor. The back country in its ever-expanding radius will eventually include a vast area of the West of the United States.

PECAN BUDDING IS NEW FARM PROFIT

Four hundred general farmers, in two days, budded 18,000 native pecan trees from improved stock, this spring, in Gillespie county, Tex., according to reports of the United States Department of Agriculture, as a result of agricultural extension work.

Attention was called to the opportuntiy offered in the abundant native pecan trees of the county, some five years ago by a former agricultural extension agent who demonstrated budding practices on several farms. About 400 budded trees are now producing pecans of highest quality. When extension work was resumed in the county in 1922 the development of the pecan industry was chosen as a prominent feature of the extension program. Many community gatherings were held to discuss the possibilities of the industry and particularly to acquaint farmers of the county with methods of acquiring improved stock. Local leaders were chosen from each community who were thoroughly drilled in selecting good native trees and setting the buds. These local leaders in turn carefully instructed those of their neighbors who desired to engage in pecan growing, using ordinary buds for practice.

A department representative who visited the county in July reports over 5 per cent of the new stock thriving. The interest of the entire county has been aroused and the demonstrations are being continued.

The Only Electric washing machine that is Different

AMERICAN inventive genius produced the telephone, the incandescent lamp and the vacuum cleaner, but for many generations it neglected the washtub.

The application of electric power to the laundering of clothes marked an important step forward, but it produced no radical change in the method of washing until the invention of the Laun-Dry-Ette seven years ago. The Laun-Dry-Ette at once released the housewife from the bondage of wringer and extra tubs—and thus eliminated all the heavy work of washday.

The Laun-Dry-Ette has made the three-tub-and-wringer method of washing obsolete. For it has no wringer to feed and requires no extra tubs. Yet it not only washes the clothes, rinses them and blues them, all in one tub—but it whirls the entire tubful dry for the line in one minute.

If you want an electric washer that both washes and dries; that needs no extra tubs; that can't smash buttons or fasteners; that saves your strength; that prevents red hands—in short, the most modern and helpful machine you can buy—then you need the Laun-Dry-Ette.

FAIR IS LINK BINDING CITY AND RURAL SECTIONS

Twelve Communities Show Products at S. A. This Week As Exhibitors

Cites Prosperity of Area Without Urban Districts As Real Criterion

BY H. E. WAHLBERG,
Farm Advisor

The permanent prosperity of every community is largely dependent upon the development of its agricultural back. country. We all know that the making of cities is possible only by a corresponding rural development which supplies the fundamental necessities of all populations.

The foresighted city appreciates this fact, and expends endless efforts in promoting the development of its rural environs. The county fair is one of the most effective links between the city and the county. It affords an opportunity each year for the producer to meet the consumer in the display of their various commodities.

The agricultural fair is truly an educational institution and the medium through which new ideas and methods are most readily carried to the people. Like all other educational institutions, it can be made a success only by the hearty co-operation of all classes and professions.

Santa Ana and Orange county are particularly fortunate in having a well organized rural community that is reciprocally interested in its centers of population. Twelve of these communities, representing a large majority, are holding reception this week at the tented exposition and are inviting all to view their wares and products.

The fair this year will embody the latest features in show technique, and the efforts put forth by all exhibitors will warrant and justify the most wholesome patronage of all Orange county.

Club Presidents Extend Warmest of Welcomes

Leader of Lions Expresses Faith In Purpose of the Fair

In behalf of the Santa Ana Lions clubs, I extend greetings.

For the Santa Ana Lions club, I hereby pledge the hearty support of its members to the fair and express our sincere faith in the management.

We express our faith in this splendid county, this wonderful little independent empire, which the Fair will endeavor in a comprehensive way to picture in order that we as residents of Orange County may not "hide our light under a bushel" in a selfish way. (This is not said in a boosting spirit.)

Unfortunately, when we tell some eastern friend or some tourist who is earnestly seeking advice and information regarding this fairyland, of the vastness of our resources, of the position we hold as to conditions, climate, soil, schools, churches, class of people, etc., we are accused of "boosting," when as a matter of fact we are merely modestly endeavoring to honestly answer direct questions.

The fair serves to prove that what we say is true.

One needs only to attend the Orange County fair, see the varied products and read the statistics for himself to see that the implication that Orange county residents overstate the situation is unjust.

I wish to thank the Fair committee for giving us Lions day. It comes on Thursday, which is our regular meeting day.

I wish for the fair complete success.

Yours sincerely,
HARRY L. HANSON,
President of Santa Ana Lions Club.

ROTARY CLUB SEES FAIR AS A SERVICE

Because the Rotary club's ideal of public duty is an ideal of service, the Santa Ana Rotary club takes particular pleasure in joining its voice with those proclaiming the opening of the county fair tomorrow, and in welcoming the many thousands of men, women and children who will attend it.

Financial Status of Cities, Towns Good

The incomparable trio—soil, climate and industry—have given their full measure of devotion to the cities and towns of the county. Their financial condition is probably as good or better than most cities, because of being situated in areas of such diversity of soil production combined with the enormous production of crude oil, natural and gasoline.

PARK BABIES IN WELFARE TENT, IS ADVICE

Nursery Fitted Out With Experts In Charge to Relieve Mothers

One of the chief worries of mother has been eliminated.

When you go to the great seventh annual Orange county fair—opening tomorrow at 10 a. m., and continuing until Saturday—you need have no uneasiness concerning the little ones.

No More Lost Babies

"There will be no more tired and anxious mothers, searching here and there and everywhere for lost babies in the great throngs which will flock to the fair.

"All you have to do is to leave the little ones with us—just like parking the car in an established garage and then going to the theater in perfect peace.

"Those in charge of the baby welfare and the women's tent will do the rest. There will be any number of conveniences. No nursery in a private home will be more complete. Toys, cribs, games, motion pictures, music, and everything!

Nurse Available

"And trained workers to supervise everything. If baby gets sick, there will be a nurse. If a doctor is required, he will be within easy call. Nothing will be left undone to relieve the mothers and care for the children."

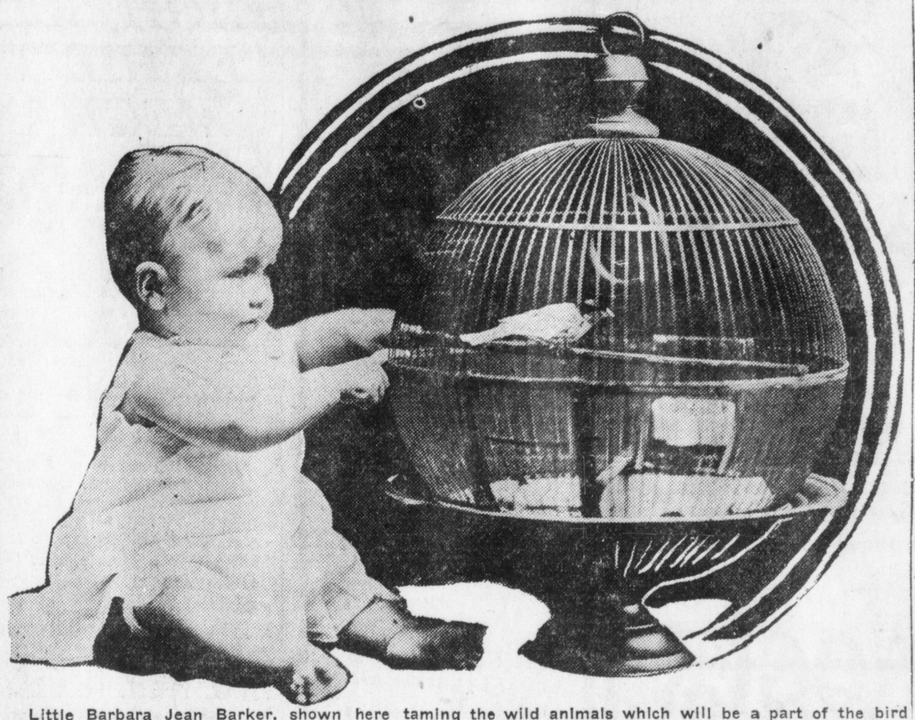

In addition, Mrs. Beisel pointed out, there will be "eats" in abundance for all who care to purchase in the welfare tent.

And there is nothing selfish in the management of this concession. All the net proceeds will go to defray the expenses of the Julia Lathrop Parent-Teacher association, which is doing much to improve school conditions. That's the big idea.

Everybody in Orange county will attend the fair at least once, and most of them will go two, three, four or more times.

Tired Children Are to Have a Quiet Place For Rest

Little Barbara Jean Barker, shown here taming the wild animals which will be a part of the bird exhibit at the seventh annual Orange County Fair, is said by Official Fair Photographer E. H. Boden to be one of the most tractable subjects he has ever photographed. When Barbara is asked to pose—she poses—no foolin'. Barbara will avail herself of all the luxuries supplied by Mrs. N. Beisel and other parent teacher workers in the baby welfare tent, whcih will be a feature of the big fair, opening here tomorrow.

SAYS MERIT OF FAIR IS SHOWN IN EXHIBITS

Manager of Farm Bureau Shows How Objectionable Part Eliminated

Interesting Displays Are Vouched For By Aim to Group County's Best

By A. M. STANLEY
Secretary-Manager Orange County Farm Bureau

In addition to possessing the ordinary attributes, the seventh annual Orange county fair has the distinction of being an effort of the Orange county farm bureau.

It is the first attempt of this kind of the organization and, naturally, we have been anxious to make it a success par excellence. We are honor-bound to succeed.

The idea behind the endeavor has not been to make it a success solely in a financial way, but to create a fair that is all a fair should be—to make it interesting, inspiring, educational, promoting and clean.

This ambition has met with approval and we have received the hearty support of the other civic organizations in the county, for which we are duly thankful. The aim is:

Provide Artistic Arrays

To make it interesting, by providing an artistic array of the production of Orange county along a well-arranged scheme of display. The glorious display of flowers that greet the eye on entering stimulates the pleasure of the first impression.

To make it inspiring, by the comparison of the products from different sections of the county. A study of this comparison, a notation of the principal production of the different sections, an effort to understand the cultural methods employed, couples education to inpiration, and gives one a greater knowledge of this wonderful county, and adds the ambition to make the best better.

To make it promoting, by showing the productiveness of our soil, and influence more people to come here, enjoy our blessings, and add to the community wealth. To live here is to applaud this land.

Bar Objectionable Affairs

To make it clean, by excluding all undesirable features found in the "midway." It has been the constant endeavor of the management to keep out the hurdy-gurdy, gambling, and the "girl show;" to make it a place where our loved ones may be entertained in safety.

To this end, only games of skill have been permitted to enter, and those indispensable amusements for the children, such as the ferris wheel and the merry-go-round.

Nor has the management been satisfied with this arrangement, but has cannily placed the amusement zone in a more-or-less isolated location, so that it is possible for one to visit the fair without entering the zone at all.

Danger Point Passed

A fair based on such a foundation is bound to succeed in every way. If not this year—then eventually. It stands on the right premises, and the only point where a weakness might appear is in the financial end.

The elimination of the objectionable features is supposed to injure the financial receipts, but this injury can, and has been overcome by the additional backing and attendance of a clean show.

The danger point seems to have been passed in the present undertaking by the acumen of the management, so the show has the credit of opening with money to its credit.

The only thing that remains to make the fair a grand success is participation and enjoyment of the people themselves. Here is a fair created for your amusement, inspiration and education.

We bid you welcome.

Greetings, Invitation By Santa Ana Realtors

F. C. Pope, above, president of Santa Ana Realty board, with the secretary, J. C. Wallace, welcomes visitors to the fair.

Comment on Rapid Growth of County and Its Communities

It is with peculiar pleasure and a keen sense of the significance of the occasion that the Santa Ana Realty Board sends greeting to the people of Orange and neighboring counties, with invitation to attend the Great Orange County Fair which opens in this city tomorrow, Tuesday, September 25th.

Orange County is a veritable agricultural empire, producing in great quantities and of superior quality an infinite variety of fruits, nuts, vegetables, oranges, grains and oil—a total annual output of the value of more than a hundred million dollars.

With a population of nearly a hundred thousand condensed into small area, increasing at a ratio that doubles it every four or five years, and made up of the cream of the whole country—think what a Fair we can produce. Think in terms of great quantity, endless variety, and finest quality, also in terms of the greatest skill in display, and then your conception will fall short of the true greatness of the Orange County Fair to which we invite you.

We especially invite our brethren of the real estate profession, for no class of men and women is more keenly alive to the social and economic value of a great county fair, none more intelligently and generously appreciative of the prodigious amount of work involved in such an undertaking, none that can derive more benefit from such an exposition.

We congratulate Orange County and the Fair management, and especially the farmers of Orange County, whose work it is, on the assured success of The Seventh Annual Orange County Fair.

Santa Ana Realty Board,
F. C. Pope, president,
J. C. Wallace, Secretary.

President of Ebell Extends Welcome To Visiting Women

The Ebell club of Santa Ana valley takes pleasure in availing itself of this opportunity to extend a cordial welcome to all citizens of the county who may be in Santa Ana during Fair week's festivities.

Especially do members of this club desire to greet visiting club-women who may be strangers to our county. In that section of the booth so kindly given us by our Rotarian friends, a guest book will await their signatures. By this means perhaps the courtesies of club life may later be extended to some who are far from their own friendly gatherings.

Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank,
President of Ebell Club of Santa Ana Valley.

LAGUNA BEACH HAS POWERFUL APPEAL

Its pretty bungalows dot the flowered hillside and overhang the jutting cliffs above the purple sea.

Scores of artists from all over the states have made this their home, and in its rugged coast line have found a veritable wonderland of inspiration.

$2,500,000 YEARLY BEAN RETURNS HERE

Bean growing in Orange county brings to its farmers nearly $2,500,000 a year, and is one of the major industries of the county.

There are but two kinds of beans grown extensively—the lima and the blackeye. The lima bean may be classed somewhat as a finicky vegetable. It will not do well unless climatic conditions are just suited to its tastes.

The only places in the United States where lima beans can be grown commercially are the five Southern California coast counties.

A. M. Stanley

A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the Orange County Farm Bureau, predicts great success for the fair.

Greetings Extended By By Miss Robbins To Fair Directors

To the Board of Directors of the Seventh Annual Orange County Fair:

The Business and Professional Woman's Club of Santa Ana sends this greeting to the Fair—That this be the best and most successful of all the Fairs.

Every effort to bring the citizens together to work for the common benefit of the community will add more laurels to California's fairest county.

Yours truly,
DORIS ROBBINS,
President Business and Professional Woman's Club.

Fine Points Taught Young Poultrymen

While only eight or nine boys and girls could win in the poultry judging cotest which was a part of the Texas Agricultural College's short course held at College Station in July, 4000 Texas boys and girls were trained by extension workers to judge the desirable and undesirable points of standard-bred and utility breeds of poultry while club members were preparing for the contest. Every club member in some counties received training. Local and county contests between club members to determine the champion judges increased their skill and enthusiasm. Fifty counties were represented in the State contest, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, and these will have the lasting benefit of young poultrymen skilled in the selection of profitable stock.

White Coal, Black Gold Big Factors

The mountain waters run constantly and the oil flows steadily, furnishing power and fuel for the ever increasing industries that are coming daily to reinforce Southern California's many other appeals as a desirable place in which to live.

Huge Porkers Grunt for Victory

HIGH SCHOOL HAS EXHIBIT SHOWING MECHANICAL ARTS

Full of interest for everyone who visits the fair will be the booth containing the display of the mechanical arts department of the Santa Ana high school.

Probably no department of any school holds the appeal to young and old alike as does the department in which are the woodshops, machine shops, automobile repair shops and the mechanical drawing departments. All of these will be represented in the local high school's attractive exhibit.

Under the direction of E. E. Oliver, head of the mechanic arts department, the boys of the department have built an elevated floor space in the booth and a framework for decorations. These have been arranged by members of the Girls' league, under the direction of Miss Isabel Anderson.

Red bunting and crepe paper, combined with boughs of California's most artistic tree, the eucalyptus, make coverings for the frame work of the booth. A solid background of green has been arranged, walling in the entire back and sides of the exhibit. Against the back of the booth is a huge red banner, bearing shining white initials "S.A.H.S."

Floor and table lamps, made by the boys in the woodshop, will be lighted to add to the booth's attractiveness.

Radio projects, machines, cabinets, chairs, cedar chests, tabarets and other useful and beautiful products of the shops have been artistically arranged in the exhibit, the pride of the school and of the people of Orange county.

TAKE TIME TO SEE THE FAIR RIGHTLY

"Don't crowd!"

This advice might as well be given now as later, said one of the fair leaders today, speaking of the fact that a large attendance will undoubtedly mark this year's fair.

"The tent space is much greater than last year," it was pointed out, "and we are sure that there will be no need of jambling together. If people take their time about seeing the fair, they will enjoy it more than they will of they try to rush through everything.

"Everything that could be done to make people comfortable at the fair has been done. Resting places, restrooms, have been provided. Some of those who have taken spaces in the commercial tent have provided restrooms."

ROTARY CLUB SEES SERICE IN FAIR

in making this fair what it is bound to be deserves the highest kind of commendation. They have rendered a real public service of a kind that cannot be measured in dollars or cents or words.

The Rotary club feels that a county fair is distinctively worth while. It is an inspiration. It enables residents of the county to get better acquainted with each other and with each other's activities and achievements. It leads to better things.

Believing that the fair is to be of tremendous service to Orange county and to its people, I am happy to have this opportunity to join in this welcome.

Rotarily,
EARL C. MORROW,
President of Santa Ana Rotary Club.

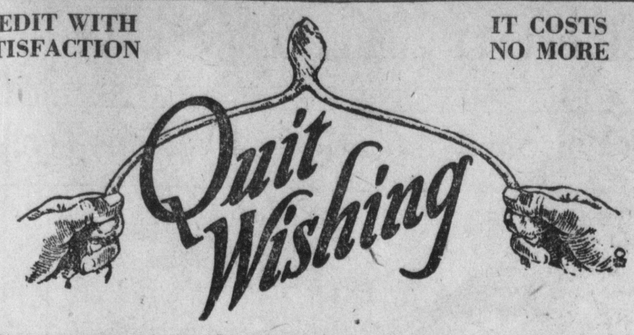

Diversity of Soil Output Is Available

Soil, climate and industry render full measure of devotion to the cities and towns of Orange county. Several of the larger cities have recently doubled in population, and are experiencing greater than normal advancement. Surrounded by a marvelously fertile country that is literally covered with groves of oranges, lemons, walnuts, olives, apples, loquats, persimmons, apricots, avocados, and acres and acres of sugar beets, beans, celery, peppers, alfalfa, barley and vegetables of all kinds, their financial condition surpasses most cities. Diversity of soil production combines with enormous volume of petroleum products.

Topographical Extreme Represented In County

Stretching along the Pacific ocean forty miles, and penetrating inland an average of twenty-two miles, to an extreme altitude of 5,680 feet, Orange county presents a diversity of topography and climate infinite in variety and satisfaction. Its central position and consequent nearness to practically all the cities, beach and mountain resorts of Southern California is an advantage of real consequence. The county is bounded on the north by Los Angeles county, on the east by Riverside and San Bernardino counties, on the south by San Diego county and on the west by the Pacific ocean.

8700 CARLOADS OF VALENCIAS RAISED

The valencia is the recognized "King of Oranges." Ideal climatic conditions, a rich soil and an abundance of water for irrigation purposes have all conspired to make it possible for Orange county to be known as the "Home of the Valencia," the finest of all oranges.

Quality and quantity in the raising of valencias is dependant upon just such equable climatic conditions as found here, where the cooling sea breezes are always in evidence during the summer and the temperature of the winter months is softened by nearness to the ocean.

Orange county growers produce about 8700 carloads of valencias each year, eighty per cent of which are marketed under the "Sunkist" brand.

Every Feature For Happiness Extended

Attractive as a playground, a wonderland in agricultural productivity, a veritable treasure-house in mineral resources, Orange county proudly asserts its claim to unusual advantages to prospective residents. Mountain, valley and sea not only enticingly beckon and charmingly welcome, but practically strengthen the visitor's resolve to profit as a permanent resident. Climate and soil combine to capitalize effort. Carload and train load shipments of Orange county products daily prove the abundance of the reward. Year after year the tenderest vegetation is unharmed by frost and crop failures are practically an unknown quantity.

Fair opens at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

32 PER CENT OF NUT CROP GROWN HERE

The Persian (or English) walnut of California is grown exclusively in Orange county.

From a humble beginning forty-five years ago the industry has grown by leaps and bounds until today Orange county produces 32 per cent of the entire walnut production of the state of California, and has the largest walnut shipping house in the world. We have over 15,000 acres in full bearing which produced last year about 7000 tons, bringing the growers nearly four million dollars.

Orange county walnuts are marketed largely under the "Diamond" brand, which is a guarantee to the consumer that they are the best grade that is possible to grow and will test ninety per cent perfect as to quality and appearance.

CITY BEDECKED IN GALA ATTIRE FOR HOLIDAY CROWDS

Of course, you have been watching with lively interest the work of rigging the city in gala attire for the great annual Orange county fair, which opens here tomorrow. But have you wondered what presiding genius is behind it all?

When the Orange county farm bureau decided to sponsor the 1923 air, one of the first things that came up for discussion was the matter of decorations. No city can play host to thousands without putting on its best dress.

San Bernardino, with its monster citrus festival, Anaheim, with its great Valencia orange show, New Orleans with its alluring Mardi Gras, and scores of other cities, whose leading citizens have learned to do things well, have done much to place the decorative scheme in the foreground. So, Santa Ana, it was agreed, as the county seat of the richest little county in the world, could not afford to lag behind in this respect.

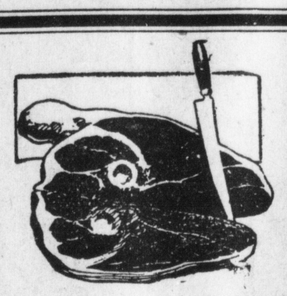

Therefore, it was decided to use flags and bunting and all the other colorful regalia in profusion, and two active workers were told to "pitch in" and "dress up the town."

These workers—Fred Parsons and John Ragan—have done their work well. This is proved by an inspection of the great tents, the entrances and exits, and the various thoroughfares leading to the fair grounds, on the Union Pacific right of way on East Fifth street.

"It was our aim," said Chairman Parsons, discussing the decorations, "to give our visitors a view of the prettiest city in Southern California in full dress, so that glowing accounts would be spread broadcast.

"Undoubtedly photographs and newspapers will be sent to all sections of the country, and many will see them and want to come and see us. That helps Santa Ana and Orange county."

TUSTIN CENTER OF BEAUTIFUL SECTION

Located on the state highway three miles from Santa Ana, and in the heart of nature's wonderland is beautiful Tustin, with its well kept paved boulevards leading past famous ranches of walnut, orange, apricot, olive, lemon and avocado, over fruitful hills, through picturesque canyons to the mountains or the glorious Pacific.

Wide paved streets, homelike residences, a wealth of lovely flowers, and unexcelled schools give a decided air of refinement. The resources and attractiveness of Tustin are a matter of comment everywhere.

800 OIL WELLS IN HUGE COUNTY FIELD

The growth of the petroleum industry in Orange county has been phenomenal. The proven oil acreage of the county is now more than 8000 acres with 800 wells producing at the rate of about fifty-five million barrels a year. New fields are being continually opened up and the increase in production is steady and substantial. At present fifty-three million gallons of casing head gasoline is produced each year, the excess gas being supplied to the cities, towns and rural districts for fuel and light.

BRIGHT LIGHT EFFECTS MADE WITH SUCCESS

Names of Assistants to Mrs. Neal Beisel Are Announced

At night it will be like day at the county fair.

Brilliancy and completeness of lighting have been sought by the fair management, and, as shown by tests already given, have been attained.

Every portion of every tent will be lighted perfectly, and the grounds, by the use of arc lights, will be like noon.

The management expects to have the tents filled every night, and for that reason the lighting was looked upon as a point essential to making the fair a real success.

The bringing in of the electric lines, the wiring and the placing of arcs and lights called for as much electrical work, as might be required in the ordinary village.

The lights have been distributed with a view to setting off the exhibits. It has been realized that a lighting effect has a good deal to do with making an exhibit stand out for its full worth.

ADVANTAGES AS TO RECRETION MANY

Because of the proximity of seashore and mountains, a wide range of recreational opportunities lie within the daily command of the resident of Orange county.

Attractions along the county's wonderful coastline are so numerous that one would doubtless fail were he to attempt to list them all. Name the kind of beach you like and you will find it within easy reach of your home or stopping place.

While the beaches offer to most people an irresistible appeal, many people are lured more persistently by the nearby mountains with their many resorts, secluded retreats and scenic environment.

Infinite in variety and satisfaction are the delights that this great playground holds in store for motoring, mountain climbing, bathing, golf, fishing, hunting and camping; furnishing a never-ending source of joy for those people who are fortunate enough to live within their reach.

The fair will be better this year than ever before, and that is saying a lot, but a lot that's true.

SEAL BEACH BOASTS COAST'S BEST SURF

Located near the border line of Los Angeles county, Seal Beach occupies a position unique and attractive. Mother Nature, in her erratic moods has forgotten to place an "under-tow" at Seal Beach, and women and children can roll in the sand and romp in the surf with perfect safety.

Anaheim bay, with its smooth waters meandering in and out among the numerous miniature islands, gives added attraction to this popular resort.

County Entering On Giant Activity Era

The eyes of the world are centered upon California as a place to live, to build industries, to transact business —commercially, industrially and financially. Orange county is entering upon a period of intensive development, which if intelligently directed, will make a world's record both in population acuired and wealth accumulated. Full and reliable information can be had by writing to the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that particular locality in which you may be interested.

Orange County Fair, Sept. 25-29.

Orange County Has Big Greeting for All

The people of Orange county extend to you a hearty welcome and invite you to enjoy California's "Biggest Little County." We want you to know for yourself the joys of living in this great land of "outdoors." Know for yourself the balmy winters and cool summer days with their ever-present breezes loaded with ozone of the sea and the aroma of the mountains. The delights and satisfaction Orange county holds in store for you are yours to enjoy whenever you will. Luxurious steamships, the world's finest railroads and enticing highways invite you.

County Is Proud of Its School System

California has attained nation-wide distinction for the excellence of its educational system, and in this important work Orange County takes particular pride. Go where you will, you will find large commodious buildings, the best of equipment and of teaching forces.

Electrical Costs and a Qualified Contractor

Electricity is constantly making life easier, more convenient and comfortable. But in electrifying your home nothing should be left to chance. Nowhere is technical competence more important than in the electrical field, and the best way to save electrical costs is to go to a qualified electrical contractor.

Cut-rate electrical contracting service is usually expensive and frequently disastrous. Furthermore, you are likely to spend several times that amount in replacing faulty workmanship and materials, and in adding the convenience "outlets" and other essentials the omission of which made the low bid possible.

Estimates gladly furnished on all electrical installations.

Many Business Firms to Help in Making Fair a Success

Barr Lumber Firm's Unique Car Is Shown

Which is the dearest to the herats of nearly everyone of today—a home or an automobile The ideal combination would no doubt be a home and an auto. The Barr Lumber Co. has attempted to solve the problem by mounting a home on an automobile according to the accompanying picture which shows the new Home Service car of the company.

This house coupe, a clever advertising car, is a perfect reproduction of a two-story Colonial-brick and "Kellastone" stucco house. Every detail is perfect even to the actual miniature Johns-Manville Asbestos shingles on the roof and a porch light over the entrance doors.

This house coupe body is manufactured by a lumber company in Kentucky and was mounted on a Ford chassis from Geo. Dunton's local Ford agency. The tires are Miller cords from Lyons Tire Shop.

During the Orange county fair it will be on exhibition, so that everyone can become acquainted with it.

NEWPORT-BALBOA'S ATTRACTIONS LURE

These two progressive beach cities, famous for their bathing, boating and fishing activities, are located upon the peninsula separating Newport bay and the ocean, which combines the advantages of a still water harbor and a clean ocean beach. Balboa is the yachting headquarters for Southern California, and the home of the "Tournament of Lights," the illuminated water carnival held each year. The peninsula and islands in the bay are dotted with attractive cottages, the homes of devotees of aquatic sports and lovers of the great out-of-doors.

"Don't Be Afraid to Smile"

Do you realize how much depends upon the condition of your teeth—appearance, health, happiness, comfort, etc., all of which means success and prosperity.

Do you know that people judge you by the looks of your teeth? Well kept teeth indicate good breeding, good character, right thinking and right living.

It is not possible for us all to preserve the original beauty of our teeth, but no one need neglect them and let them go from bad to worse. Like the proverbial "stitch in time saves nine"—dental work done in time will save much needless expense later on.

After post-graduate work and nine years tical experience in dentistry I have located Santa Ana with the most modern equipment known to dental science, and am prepared to render prompt service and guaranteed quality work in all branches at most reasonable prices.

Consultation, examination and estimates are given free of charge. I will let you know the exact cost of putting your teeth in first-class condition before starting the work.

For the benefit of those who cannot spare the time to have dental work done during the daytime my office will remain open evenings until 8 o'clock.

City is Ready to Receive County Fair Visitors

Miss Ruth Renick

MISS RUTH RENICK

Film star, who will be honorary mascot of the rodeo, to be held in connection with the Seventh Annual Orange County fair, opening here tomorrow and continuing until Saturday.

FLOWERS ARE TO GREET VISITORS

What is the first thing that will greet the eye of the visitor when he enters the main agricultural tent at the seventh annual Orange county fair?

This question—on the lips of many here today—was answered for The Register by Mrs. D. Eyman Huff, chairman of the amateur floriculture department.

"It's flowers," said Mrs. Huff, who, with Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Earl Morrow, Morris, the florist, and others, has had an important part in arranging the intricate details of this display.

"Flowers in profusion will greet the eye of the spectator the moment he mounts the raised platform leading to the main agricultural tent," said Mrs. Huff.

"This platform, modeled along the lines of the dias erected at the orange shows held in Anaheim and San Bernardino, will be of the greatest possible advantage to the spectator. Coming in from the Fifth street entrance, the visitor will naturally pause a moment as his or her eye sweeps the huge tent, containing the automobiles and many colorful exhibits entered by the fifteen farm centers of the county.

"This laughing greenery, arranged by Morris and all those who have so cheerfully assisted us, will be placed in such a manner that the throng, massed near the entrance, will pass down the aisles and behold the very finest flowers Orange county has to offer.

"The amateur exhibits will include zinnais, potted plants, beautiful roses, chrysanthemums, begonias, cannas and scores of other flowers. The professional exhibits by Morris, Amling and other florists will contain some of the most beautiful roses ever shown here."

The whole family and a lot of the chickens and live stock will be present.

Women Factors in Fair's Success

One of the most gratifying features of the preparatory work for the 1923 Orange county fair was the splendid co-operation given by the women of the county, according to A. J. Smiley, president of the farm bureau. In the accompanying illustration two women members of the board of directors of the fair are shown. To left, Mrs. S. W. Stanley of Tustin; to right, Mrs. E. M. Bradley of Costa Mesa. Both have worked tirelessly to make the annual fair a success.

FOOD PRICES TO REMAIN SAME DURING FAIR

Restaurants, However, to Add Help; Windows of Stores Decorated

Merchants of Santa Ana are prepared to do their share in looking after the welfare of the great crowds that will be here this week.

One may pass along the street and find many of the store windows appropriately decorated for the occasion. Some of the windows carry out the fair week idea cleverly and attractively. In the decorations on the buildings, the Stars and Stripes play an important part.

Realization of that fact has caused restaurants and luncheon places of Santa Ana to get ready for the five big days ahead of them. There will be no change in prices. Santa Ana eating places will give just as much for the money this week as they did last week. With extra help, first class service is assured in these places.

At the fair grounds there will be the usual number of hot dog, sandwich and soft drink booths.

Hotels, Apartments Suit Every Taste

During the past few years the larger cities and towns of Orange County have made great strides along the line of accommodations for the traveling public. From the pretentious metropolitan hotels, to the tent cities and modest beach and mountain camps, every taste may be suited. For those who plan an extended trip and do not wish to remain all the time at hotels furnished apartments or bungalows are available.

ANAHEIM CITY OF 12,000 POPULATION

Anaheim a city of 12,000 population, the metropolis of northern Orange county, is one of the most beautiful and enterprising cities of its size in Southern California. It lies nearly in the center of population of Orange county, in a rich level valley, conceded to be one of the best citrus sections of the state. The city has doubled in population since 1919. Its business district causes the visitor to comment on the number and size of its buildings and the cleanliness of its streets. Anaheim is the home of the California Valencia Orange show which attracts more than 100,000 visitors each year to view the wonder exhibits.

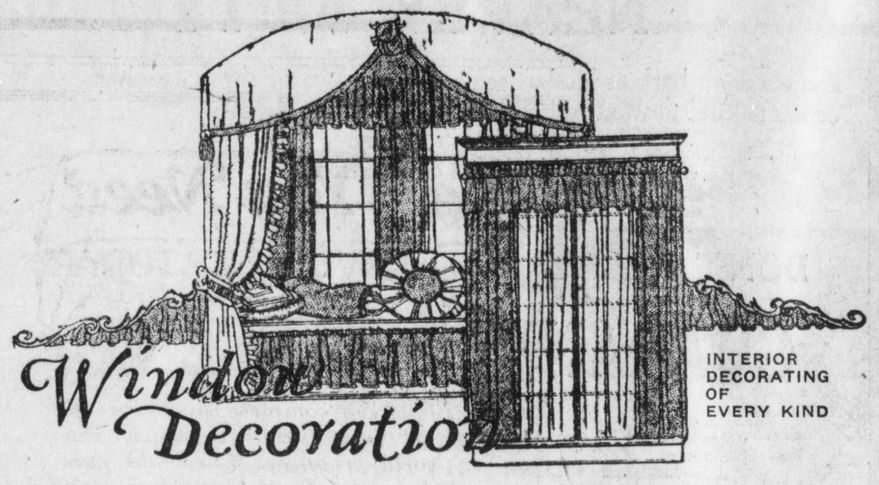

Anaheim has a large beet sugar mill, seven citrus packeries, a walnut packing house, is run on the city commission plan and its merchants cater to a buying clientele of 25,000.

ARTS FLOURISH IN ALL ORANGE COUNTY

The advancement along cultured lines has been commensurate with the county's growth commercially. Many are the purposeful and efficient organizations which are ministering in an increasingly large way to our people.

The intellectual, artistic and social life of Orange county safely admits of comparison with that of any place, of its size. Unquestionably its steady progress upward towards those ideal conditions of environment and life which attract the desirable home-seeker will insure the continued influx of that "salt of the earth" type of citizen which has characterized our population from the earliest days.

FULLERTON ONE OF FINE HOME CITIES

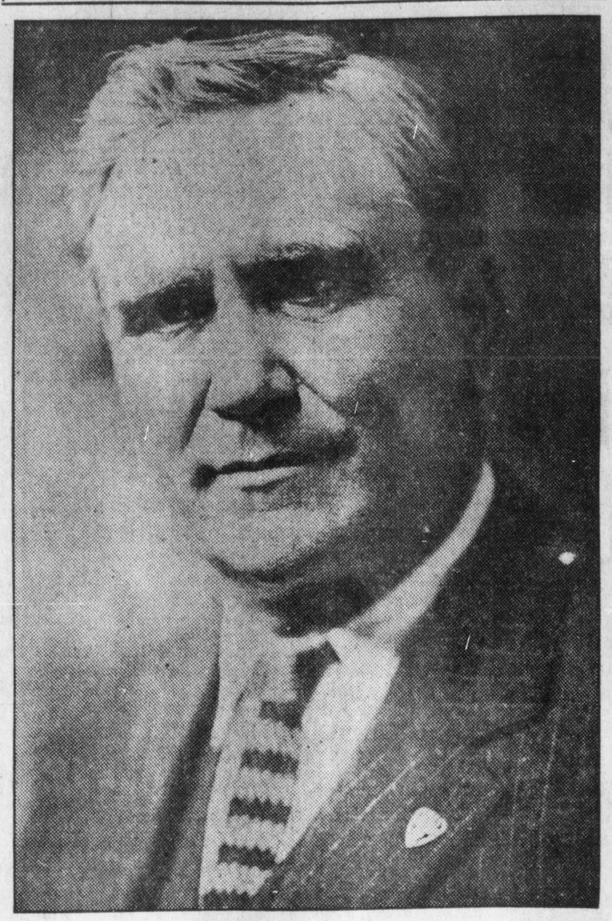

Fullerton, one of the excellent home sites of Orange county, is located on the state highway, twenty-four miles from Los Angeles and nine miles from Santa Ana, in one of the richest valencia orange and walnut districts in the world, and in a semi-circle of one of the most productive oil districts of California.

The population of Fullerton is 10,000, and at present is enjoying an exceptional growth in substantial business building and homes.

Fullerton's most excellent high school equipment with its seventeen impressive buildings, set in a twenty acre campus, is one of the show places of Orange county.

Buena Park Man Strong for Fair

Dr. J. R. Schofield, former president of the Orange county farm bureau, is one of those vitally interested in the success of the great seventh annual Orange County Fair, which opens here tomorrow and continues until next Saturday night. Dr. Schofield, who has always take a keen interest in agriculture, never loses an opportunity to boost for his home county. He will head a large Buena Park delegation to the fair in this city.

D. Eyman Huff

D. EYMAN HUFF IN BOOST FOR 1923 FAIR

D. Eyman Huff of El Modena, president of the 1922 fair board of directors, today issued the following statement:

"As the time draws near for the opening day of another Orange county fair where all of the people of this wonderful commonwealth may meet and learn anew what their neighbors are doing—as will be demonstrated by the many and varied exhibits of superior quality and kind for which Orange county is famous—we have but one thought in mind, 'We will be there'.

"The fair is truly a great exposition, where the natural wealth of the unexcelled products of the soil is on exhibition in countless numbers; where the finest of live stock of the various kinds and popular breeds is on exhibition, demonstrating the splendid qualities of the animal industry of our county; where domestic art, needle work, floriculture, fine arts and many other things are presented.

Here, these accomplishments are presented for the education of the visitor.

"It is through true co-operation that all this has been accomplished, for the benefit of all who may visit this exposition, a most worthy and commendable undertaking.

"As President of the County Fair held last year I urge each and everyone to show his appreciation of the untiring efforts made by the board of directors and management by attending this year's fair."

It's Fair Week this week.

ORANGE COUNTY HAS CENTRAL LOCATION

Orange county occupies a central position among the counties of Southern California. Its nearness to practically all the cities, beach and mountain resorts of the Southland is an advantage of real consequence in every day life.

The county is bounded on the north by Los Angeles county, east by Riverside and San Bernardino counties, south by San Diego county and on the west by the Pacific ocean, with Newport bay penetrating inland to within five miles of Santa Ana.

It's Fair Week this week.

HUNTINGTON BEACH GROWTH ASTOUNDS

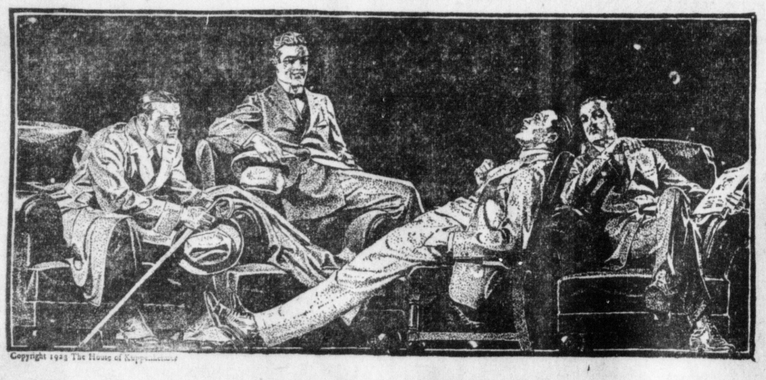

Huntington Beach, the largest coast city in Orange county has grown in two years from a city of 2000, to its present population of 6000, a percentage of increase that has not been duplicated during that time by any city in the state.

The reasons for this tremendous increase are obvious. At the front door of Huntington Beach is one of the finest stretches of seashore to be found, while at its back door lies a fertile, level mesa dotted with hundreds of oil derricks, from which the "black gold" is flowing at the rate of 130,000 barrels a day.
